NIXON ACCEPTS ANTI-WAR TEST

WASHINGTON (Reuter) — President Nixon holds a televised news conference tonight apparently aimed at meeting the challenge of anti-war demonstrators and their attempts to bring the U.S. government to a halt.

Although much of the questioning undoubtedly will take in the Sino-American thaw and the Middle East, the session beginning at 6 p.m. PDT is likely to focus on the president's feelings about militant opponents of the war who are trying to disrupt the capital.

The news conference was arranged suddenly two days ago, signalling a change in Nixon's original strategy of totally ignoring the demonstrators.

The president, who secluded himself in his Maryland mountain-top retreat last weekend during one of the largest anti-war rallies ever staged in Washington, had planned a trip which would have kept him in California next week, when the militants intend to block bridges and main commuter routes.

QUEEN MAY BE FORCED TO LIGHTEN TOUR LOAD

The Queen's 4,500-mile tour of B.C. could be lightened if her lingering cold and cough persist, a spokesman for Canada House said in London this morning.

The spokesman did not specify what changes might be made if the 45-year-old monarch's health forces cutbacks in her tour commitments.

Queen Elizabeth flew to her country estate at Sandringham, about 100 miles northeast of London in Norfolk, Tuesday. Doctors had advised a change of air and cancelling her engagements in hopes of shaking the heavy cold that has plagued her for the past month.

The spokesman said the Queen, however, would travel to Canada whether the cold is gone or not.

"We hope she will be 100 per cent fit, but she intends to go in any case," he said.

Kierans Resigns Over Economy

Challenges Policies

OTTAWA (UPI) — Communications Minister Eric Kierans resigned from the cabinet today after a dispute over economic policy, Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau announced.

Trudeau made the surprise announcement in the House of Commons following the regular Thursday morning cabinet meeting.

Jean-Pierre Cote, postmaster general, was named to take over Kierans' portfolio on a temporary basis until a successor is chosen.

In a letter to Trudeau, submitted to Parliament by the prime minister, Kierans said that the main objective of government should be "the attainment of full employment."

"To challenge openly long-established policies and practices would be embarrassing to my colleagues and to you, and unfair, if I were to remain in the cabinet. Therefore, I ask you to accept my resignation as minister of communications, effective immediately," Kierans said.

Recently at the National Press Club ball in Ottawa the communications minister openly joked about his reduced position in the cabinet and made a number of disparaging remarks about the way the prime minister directs his government.

His resignation was immediately accepted by Trudeau.

"I appreciate very much our lengthy discussion yesterday in which I expressed my concern about the economic problems, particularly employment facing Canada in the seventies.

"Challenges which did not exist 10 years ago now present themselves and demand a total re-examination of all elements of our economic policy."

"The rise of the international corporation for example is leading some economists and businessmen to talk in terms of gross world production as a better

CAMOSUN MERGER

Camosun College and Victoria Vocational School will be amalgamated on a three-year trial basis, Education Minister Donald Brothers announced today.

The regional college will be one of five such B.C. colleges to be melded with vocational schools in the province.

Brothers said the financial share of school districts involved will not be increased as a result of the move. Vocational school costs are carried by the province while regional colleges are a shared responsibility.

NEW ASIAN BALANCE

Thais Look to Hanoi

By MARILYN BERGER

LONDON (WP) — In an effort to establish a new balance in Asia as the United States lowers its profile, Thailand has stepped up efforts to develop contacts with Hanoi and Peking.

Bangkok's diplomatic probes include hints of tangible gain for them both — hydro-electric power for North Vietnam, for example, and a hard look after the Vietnam war has ended at U.S. bases in Thailand that might be interesting to China.

These attempts to create new patterns in the shifting Asian scene were discolosed Wednesday by Thailand's foreign minister, Thanat Khoman, who is here to attend the annual meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, in an interview.

Although Thanat said he had been trying for years to develop what he called a "supplementary policy of regionalism" to complement western ties, the rationale behind current Thai diplomacy clearly has a more recent origin.

"We recognize a malaise, a psychological fatigue (in the U.S.) about being overextended in many parts of the world," Thanat said. "I think this is a feeling on the part of many Americans — the press, academic circles, the mass media, certain political circles . . . we do not know how that wave of malaise will exert an influence on the government."

Thanat said, in reply to a question, that he did not believe the Nixon doctrine meant that Thailand would be abandoned.

"We believe that President Nixon and the United States government feel it is necessary for the United States, as a world power, to maintain its presence not only in Asia but all over."

But in describing the "psychological fatigue" in the United States, Thanat recalled his years in Europe prior to the Second World War, "Countries receiving treaty guarantees from others, countries like Czechoslovakia and Austria, failed to get it (help)," he said.

Ever since he took office, Thanat said, he has pursued a dual policy of involving close relations with countires outside the area as well as regional acitvities. The emphasis, however, has now begun to shift toward greater attention to Thailand's neighbors.

"Now," he said, "the idea is to convince other regimes to participate — Hanoi, Pek-

N. Viets Offer Pull-Out Talks

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnam offered today to open immediate negotiations with the United States on a date for an unconditional withdrawal of all American forces from South Vietnam.

The proposal, made by Hanoi negotiator Xuan Thuy at the 111th weekly session of the Vietnam peace talks, was the first offer to "negotiate" a withdrawal date. Previously, North Vietnam and the Viet Cong guerrillas of South Vietnam have invariably demanded that the United States unilaterally set a date for its total withdrawal before negotiations can begin.

At the same time, Viet Cong "foreign minister," Mrs. Nguyen Thuy Binh, put forward what appeared to be a trial-balloon offer of an unconditional ceasefire with American forces.

"At the very moment when the Nixon administration refuses to put an end to the war," she said, "the South Vietnamese population and its armed forces are prepared to cease firing on American soldiers who do not undertake any hostile action against them."

U.S. SCEPTICAL

At the end of the closed session, a correspondent asked Thuy whether Mrs. Binh's offer applied to North Vietnamese forces.

Thuy replied that North Vietnamese forces are responsible for defending North Vietnam, but added: "Mrs. Minh's proposal concerns the

Cambodia Changes Premiers

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Cambodian Prime Minister Lon Nol resigned today and the chief of state, Cheng Heng, named deputy premier Sisowath Sirik Matak to succeed him.

Lon Nol, who suffered a stroke last February, had been unable to resume his full duties since returning earlier this month from medical treatment in Hawaii.

RETAINS POST

In making the announcement of the resignation and Sirik Matak's appointment, Cheng Heng said Lon Nol would be commander-in-chief of Cambodian armed forces. The move retained Lon Nol's stabilizing influence in this nation where Communist forces have been increasingly active.

It was possible, some sources said, that the final departure of Lon Nol from the prime ministership would throw the country into political turmoil.

Kent Enrolment Down Sharply

KENT, Ohio, (UPI) — Almost one year after four students were killed by National Guardsmen at Kent State University, the university has had a 40 per cent decline in applications and admissions.

Joe Durbin, public relations director for KSU, said the school had admitted 2,957 students for next fall, as of April 27. At this time last year, the school had admitted 5,336.

Another official said the university has had a 41 per cent decline in admissions.

Anti-Terrorist Act Won't Be Extended

OTTAWA (UPI) — Justice Minister John Turner announced today that the government would not extend last fall's anti-terrorist legislation beyond its expiration Friday night and would refer the question of future legislation to a joint Senate-Commons committee.

Turner announced the government's decision in answer to a question from Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield in the House.

"The government has decided not to seek the extension of the Public Order (Temporary Measures) Act.

"I have instructed the president of the Privy Council to appoint a special joint committee of the Senate and the House of Commons to study the nature of the kind of legislation required to deal with lawlessness . . . in order to maintain peace and public order."

Pipeline Decision Seen by September

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton said today he expects to reach a final decision on construction of the Alaska oil pipeline by mid-September.

But Morton warned oil companies trying to pressure him into granting a permit for the pipeline that the project may be bogged down in the courts.

"Whatever we come up with is going to go right into the courts," he said.

A permit for construction of the 780-mile hot oil pipeline across public lands is being sought by the Alyeska Pipeline Co., which was formed by oil companies to build the pipeline.

The secretary, testifying before the senate interior committee, said a key problem in reaching a decision on a permit was an environmental impact report required by the national environmental policy act.

Morton said the interior department had not studied an alternative proposal for a pipeline through Canada. However, he said, he had urged the oil industry "to sit down with Canadian officials" to discuss the problem.

Preliminary studies, he said, showed a trans-Canadian pipeline would present some "very rugged problems" comparable to those of the North Slope-Valdez route through the heart of Alaska.

3 Charged In Holdup

VANCOUVER (CP) — Three former Quebec men were charged Wednesday night with the $327,550 armed robbery at the Bank of Montreal branch in Vancouver General Hospital.

Norman Kenneth MacDonald, 31, and Kenneth John Harber, 27, both of Haney, and Robert Yvon Belec, 34, of Burnaby, will appear in provincial court today charged with committing the biggest bank heist in Vancouver's history.

Police are still searching for $326,050 in bills.

Holland 'Moves Left,' Conservatives Lose

By ANATOLE SHUB

With 98.3 per cent of the vote counted, the four government parties appeared to have lost nine of their former 83 seats in the 150-seat national assembly. The coalition is composed of the Catholic Party, two Protestant parties and the Conservative Liberals. Losses were more severe among the religious parties.

LABOR GAINS

The opposition Labor Party and two smaller allied parties gained eight seats, for a total of 52. Labor, with some 26 per cent of the total vote, emerged as the Netherlands strongest single party for the first time since 1956.

Eight seats were won by a new party called Democratic Socialism 70, which split off from the Labor Party last year. The new party is strongly committed to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization while Labor's current leaders have urged such steps as recognition of Communist East Germany.

ECM ISSUE

All the major and most of the minor parties strongly favor British entry into the Common Market. Among the minor parties, the Communists appear to have gained one seat, for a total of six, winning 15 per cent of the vote in the city of Amsterdam.

McGeer Calls Hike Irrational

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia Liberal leader Pat McGeer Wednesday said Prime Minister Trudeau's proposed method of raising salaries of members of Parliament and senators by lump sum increases every few years was "irrational and competely cynical."

Commenting on the proposed boost for MPs to $26,000 from $18,000—including an $8,000 tax-free expense allowance, Dr. McGeer said he accepted the need for pay increases, but they should be regulated by a formula system with provision for regular review and limited increases based on such factors as the cost of living.

B.C.'s WASTAGE 19% OF CANADA TOTAL

Labor Strife Doubles Lost Days

VANCOUVER (CP) — The number of work days lost in British Columbia due to strikes and lockouts during the first three months of this year are almost twice as high as last year's totals for the same period, preliminary federal government statistics released Wednesday indicated.

B.C. lost 118,160 work days in January, February and March this year, compared with 63,770 for the same three months last year — one of the worst years for labor strife in the province's history.

The province's labor dispute wastage this year represents 19 per cent of Canada's total. B.C. has just over 10 per cent of the national work force of about 8.3 million workers.

The worst months for strikes and lockouts last year were April, May, June and July. More than 85 per cent of the work stoppage occurred during this period.

Contract expiry dates this year indicate the worst period should be over in the next month unless negotiations are unsuccessful.

If negotiations fail and arbitration is used in the public interest, the 151,000-member B.C. Federation of Labor has threatened to take mass action.

They're not extendin' th' Public Order Act — an' that restores some public order.

Police Take Drugged Man From Chinese

PARIS (AP) — French police held a drugged Chinese under guard today, waiting to hear his story, after taking him away from officials of the Chinese embassy who were trying to put him on a plane for Shanghai.

Chinese diplomats, who fought with airport police Wednesday in a vain attempt to get the man back, accused the French of kidnapping him and said they would pursue the matter through diplomatic channels.

The drugged man, Chung Shi-jung, was under guard in the maximum security ward of a hospital near the Paris police headquarters.

"When he's back to normal, he'll be free to decide if he wants to stay in France, to return home or to go to any other place of his choice," an officer said.

WAS IN ALGIERS

The incident posed a delicate problem for the French government, which had good relations with Peking long before this month's ping-pong thaw.

An influenza virus persisting in London in recent weeks and the Queen's insistence on staying outdoors in cold and rainy weather to watch Princess Anne ride could have impeded her recovery, doctors said.

The Queen will not receive a full check-up until she returns to Windsor Castle Friday, doctors said.

The 10-day royal tour of British Columbia will go ahead as scheduled, deputy provincial secretary Laurie Wallace said today.

"We were informed by Buckingham Palace that the Queen was resting up and that the tour would go ahead as planned," Wallace said.

He said tour officials were told there was no reason to be concerned over the news that the Queen flew to her country estate at Sandringham.

Today the Queen looked over her stable of horses at Sandringham, and generally spent a quiet day in the sun.

"She looks well," a stable boy said. "She has been laughing and joking at the stud."

ing, Pyongyang . . . if they agree to coexist we will achieve a certain measure of success."

Thanat said that through third countries Thailand had let China know it was interested in developing contacts. "We want to discuss ways and means to live peacefully together," he said.

He now only awaited a sign of interest from Peking. There had been no discussion as yet on the kind of relationships that could be formed, he said, but he indicated that opportunities for trade existed.

As to the continuation of American use of air bases in Thailand, Thanat said the current arrangement was valid only for the duration of the war in Vietnam under a bilateral agreement unconnected with SEATO.

NOT FOR DEFENCE

Bangkok has always said that U.S. forces would not be required for the defence of Thailand, and Thanat indicated that after Vietnam the entire issue of an American presence would have to be re-examined.

With Hanoi, Thanat said, discussions had been held under the auspices of the International Red Cross concerning Vietnamese nationals living in Thailand. The Thais want to repatriate the more than 40,000 persons now living in border areas.

Thanat said that a lower echelon North Vietnamese representative had recently returned to Thailand and that he was awaiting some reply. The existence of this channel for discussion has been used to broach other matters.

"On our side," Thanat said, "we've told them we have no ill intentions against them . . . that we are willing and prepared not only to look upon them as a sovereign entity but to see them parties in regional activities, especially in the Mekong project."

Thanat said that Thailand was ready to have North Vietnam share in the sizable output of hydroelectric power emanating from the Mekong River development.

So far, Thanat said, Hanoi has not responded but he said he had the "feeling they are about ready to communicate with us."

Thanat said that all Thai troops would be withdrawn from South Vietnam by next year, half in July and the remainder in February, 1972. Thailand currently has 11,700 troops there.

"One can detect the assumption that Canada is to be assigned the role of supplier of resources presumably because we have them and also because we do not have a sufficient domestic market to justify their conversion into finished or semi-finished products here at home.

"Economic policy is put together from a variety of elements but the overriding objectives of all nations in the seventies must be the attainment of full employment however defined as the best guarantee of political, social and economic stability.

"To this end, all elements of policy, monetary, fiscal, commercial, energy and resources, agricultural, regional development, must be inter-connected to ensure that they do not work at cross purposes and at the expense of overall objectives," he said.

Kierans went on that Canada is fortunate in its resource base and can insist on exports with a higher labor content than is currently used.

"Tax concessions," he said, "that force the pace of our raw material export or favor the over-employment of capital which we have to import at the expense of labor which is in surplus, would not be consistent with long-run Canadian growth and employ-

Full Economic Recovery This Year 'Unlikely'

Any hopes for full economic recovery this year are unlikely to be fulfilled, says Conrad F. Harrington, chairman and chief executive officer of the Royal Trust Co., whose top echelon met in Victoria for the first time today.

Harrington, of Montreal, said in an interview before the company's executive committee meeting in the Provincial Museum, that nothing significant can happen until Canada's taxation policy is made clear.

Uncertainty about white paper tax reforms is evident not only in the Canadian business environment, but abroad, where much investment capital originates, he noted.

At the same time, Harrington expressed concern that with recovery come the hazards of inflationary trends, from which the wage spiral was singled out.

ILL-TIMED

The proposed salary increase for members of Parliament — about 40 per cent — whether or not it is deserved, is ill-timed for public acceptance, Harrington said.

"How can they possibly justify this when they (Prices and Incomes Commission) are urging no more than six per cent wage increases?" he asked. If the MP raises go through, it will be "extremely difficult to control the inflationary wage spiral."

Royal Trust, said president and chief operating officer Kenneth A. White, had managed to bring its average wage increase down from 13 per cent to eight per cent in a matter of 10 months, and reviews a sector of wage structure monthly.

'PLAY-ACTING'

White said that with government measures now effective in applying stimulation and with corporate capital spending arranged, it is up to consumer demand and confidence to restore bouyancy to the economy.

"The basis is there, they have set the scene. It is up to someone else to begin the play-acting."

He noted there have been large consumer-oriented advertising expenditures, which fortify the Royal Trust outlook. Harrington added there is plentiful mortgage money available.

The chairman Wednesday attended a meeting of the Trust Companies Association before coming to the west coast. He said it seemed there was agreement on the importance of settling tax policy.

Civil servants have been called in to be familiarized with new legislation, but the investor and general public still do not know what to expect, Harrington said.

ACT TOGETHER

The longer the matter is left unsettled, the harder it will be to put the investment industry in perspective and to keep it attractive, he said.

White suggested there was some government arrogance involved, and wondered how government can be so confident in itself to fly in the face of business. Harrington felt that Quebec and Ontario acting together can do much to influence government on the degree of reform introduced.

"There is a terrible hiatus between government and business, and we've got to get around this," Harrington said. He noted steps being taken in Quebec to bring the two closer by Premier Bourassa's appointment of business leaders to some government responsibilities, and his own role along with other top executives on the Quebec Council for Industry.

It is wondered by some executives whether the present federal government has any goals, he said.

U.S. chief negotiator David K. E. Bruce, asked to comment on Mrs. Binh's statement told correspondents: "She did not truly propose a ceasefire or anything else that was new."

Bruce and South Vietnamese delegate Pham Dang Lam called on North Vietnam to name a neutral country or international organization to act as "protecting power" for prisoners held by both sides. Lam also asked Thuy to name a neutral country to which Saigon could transfer 1,200 prisoners held for more than four years for "temporary internment."

Treasure Hunt Draw

The winning ticket holders will be eligible to dig for treasure at the Town and Country Shopping Centre Saturday at 11:30 a.m.

Tickets bought for Saturday's dig are good for future 'digs' and the Queen's Chest and are available at the 800 Wing of the R.C.A.F. Association.

Long Beach Shelters Banned

The cabinet has passed an order banning temporary or permanent shelters on the crown foreshore in the Long Beach area.

The order covers beaches to the north and south of the Pacific Rim National Park in the Ucluelet and Tofino areas.

The move was expected following earlier use of the same powers to ban squatters on a beach at Hornby Island.

At the same time provincial park supervisors have been given the power to evict people from parks for 48 hours for causing disturbances.

ROAD WORK LOPPED OFF

Oak Bay Trims Estimates

More than two mills were slashed from the estimates when Oak Bay council held its second budget-paring session Wednesday.

The tax increase, at the close of Tuesday's session, stood at 2.56 mills compared with 4.99 mills when estimates were first considered Monday.

The final rate will be set Tuesday after bids have been opened for the construction of the municipality's branch library and senior citizens' centre.

INFLUENCED

The first big item to be lopped off the estimates, reducing the increase by just over one mill, was $54,000 earmarked for work on Gordon Head Road.

This decision was influenced by Saanich council's move not to do its share of the roadwork this year.

Another two large items taken from the budget were $15,000 for landscaping and blacktopping of Oak Bay Marina's parking lot and $20,000 for storage and activity room at Carnarvon Park.

Also deleted was $9,250 for mercury lighting on Central Avenue.

Council approved $3,400 for publicity but noted that Oak Bay itself is a tourist attraction and money spent on Beach Drive and at the marina is legitimate tourist expenditure.

Ald. Douglas Watts said he agreed with Victoria council's stand that it should not pay the lion's share while the prime beneficiaries gave less to the Victoria Visitors' Bureau.

"The prime beneficiaries of the tourist dollar," he said, "should be prepared to chip in more than they do."

CHAMBER GRANT

Mayor Frances Elford said tourism had become a "self-generating business" and that it's impossible to keep tourists away.

Council also voted a grant of $350 to the Chamber of Commerce. Watts said the chamber provided a service to all the municipalities in replying to inquiries about the area.

Mayor Elford said that further adjustment to the budget may have to be made after the bids for the library and centre are opened at 4 p.m. Friday.

She said that no shelving had been included in the specifications.

Ald. Norman Pimlott suggested the Library Development Commission might be approached for financial help. The LDC had contributed $5,000 to both the Esquimalt and Town and Country Libraries.

In spite of the many crowded council meetings in recent months, council decided to delete $1,620 from the budget, earmarked for a public address system for the council chamber.

In the interest of economy they decided they would rather learn to speak louder.

The Professor And The Ping-Pong Player

Between Them Yawns Every Kind Of Gap

By NORMAN WEBSTER
Special to The Times

PEKING — Between 60-year-old Professor Chien Wei-chang of Tsinghua University and 19-year-old hippie ping-ponger Glenn Cowan of Santa Monica College, there yawns almost every conceivable kind of gap—from generation and ideological to cultural and sartorial. Sartorial most certainly.

Chien, in standard Mao issue blue, exhibits nothing of the campus styles of the Toronto and California universities he attended for eight years a quarter century and more ago. Cowan favors bellbottom pants and brightly decorated shirts to go with his shoulder-length hair.

They have something in common, however — that California education. During the U.S. table tennis team's visit to Peking they got together briefly to discuss developments in American and Chinese higher learning.

Their meeting on the Tsinghua campus in Peking must have been a memorable encounter for both. Cowan, doing most of the talking, told Chien about a new casual, questioning style in American universities today.

Chien, a sometime rocketry expert, had said his piece earlier. He told of the remolding of intellectuals which is an integral part of the current reform of university education along the Maoist line.

He said he had been a highfalutin professor until he did manual labor in a factory during the cultural revolution and received badly needed re-education in practical matters from the workers.

"Now my old ideas, my old path, are gone forever. I have been reborn. I feel younger spiritually. I feel I have great prospects in working for the people."

Chien is back at work at Tsinghua, the institution which has become a national model for China's new higher education. All universities were closed in 1966. Some remain shut, while others are feeling their way back to partial operation.

Tsinghua is probably China's leading engineering and technical school. During the cultural revolution it was torn by factional strife that led eventually to violence between rival red guard groups.

Soldiers and workers from Peking factories finally occupied the campus on July 27, 1968, to put an end to the punchup. Reconstruction began, some previously enrolled students continued their studies and experimental courses were tried out.

Last summer Tsinghua accepted its first batch of new students. Others have come since, and 2,800 are enrolled currently.

Entry procedures have been drastically revised. Exams no longer decide things, nor do students enter university direct from senior middle school.

All must have three years of actual work in factory, farm or the armed forces before becoming eligible for higher education. Of the current Tsinghua student body, 45 per cent are of worker origin, 40 per cent of peasant origin and 15 per cent are from the armed forces.

Applicants must have a junior middle school education or the equivalent. This allows veteran workers to apply too.

Applications must be okayed and passed up the line from local leaderships. An important thing looked for is political reliability — "the ability to apply Marxism-Leninism - Mao Tse-tung thought creatively."

A second major area of change is the curriculum. Studies have been shortened, and the emphasis laid on the practical.

The new standard course at Tsinghua has been cut to three years, and there are courses of only a year and a half for a minority of students. Theory and practice, study and working application are closely linked.

The entire faculty of water conservation is at a dam site on the Yellow River. The faculty of civil engineering is at a construction site. On campus the university's automotive, electronics, machine tools and other workshops last year are said to have produced goods worth more than $1 million, besides carrying out their teaching function. Professors dirty their hands too.

Chien roundly endorses the new system and the students it has sent him. "Their whole attitude to work and study is better. Those students who come direct from middle school — they didn't know anything."

He said he teaches mechanics, dynamics, hydrodynamics, aerodynamics and statistics. He has an interesting background, one hinted at by his excellent English.

Chein says he studied applied mathematics for two years at the University of Toronto before going to the California Institute of Technology in 1940. He worked and studies at the university's famous jet propolsion laboratory before returning to China in 1946.

Back home he became a member of various scientific bodies, was a deputy to the National People's Congress in 1954 and rose to become vice-president at Tsinghua. During the "hundred flowers" period of free criticism, however, he criticized the Communist party for controlling science.

He was branded a rightist and dismissed from his posts in 1958. The rightest label was removed in 1960, but during the cultural revolution he again faced attack for being "bourgeois."

A former colleague of Chien's is the man generally credited with being the guiding brain behind China's rocket program — Chien Hsueh-shen.

This Chien, another brilliant veteran of Caltech's jet propulsion lab, returned to China in 1955. Chien Wei-chang refuses to say whether he himself has had anything to with rocketry in China. Nor will he say whether any rocket research or work is carried on at Tsinghua. And why did he return to China? The answer is stated forcefully with raised eyebrows which wonder anyone should have to ask:

"I am Chinese."

The New China Impresses Ronning After Long Absence

PEKING — Chester Ronning hopes to meet his old friend Chou En-lai as well as visit his birthplace during a month-long trip in a China he has not seen for 20 years.

The retired Canadian diplomat also hopes to meet Tung Pi-wu, vice-chairman of the People's Republic and another old friend. Both are natives of Hipeh province.

★ ★ ★

The tall, white-haired Ronning arrived in Peking last night on the plane from Canton, where he had spent two days after entering China. He was accompanied by two of his four daughters, Audrey Topping of New York and Sylvia Cassadyn of Camrose, Alberta. Ronning was first off the plane, which also carried returning members of China's world-champion ping-pong team, and was greeted by Wang Kuo-chuan, leading member of the Chinese People's Association for Friendship with Foreign Countries. Ronning chatted easily in Mandarin, his first language.

He was born in Fancheng, Hupeh province, in 1896 and has spent altogether nearly a quarter of a century in China. His mother is buried in his native city.

Ronning's last stay was as a member of the Canadian embassy to Nationalist China from 1945 to 1954, first in Chungking, then in Nanking. He was the charge d'affaires who closed the embassy in 1951 after the takeover by the Chinese Communists.

In succeeding years, Ronning was known for his strong advocacy of Canadian recognition of Peking, something which did not come until last October. He served in various diplomatic posts, and in 1966 was a special representative to Hanoi and Saigon offering Canada's good offices in an attempt to get peace talks started.

He will likely get back to Nanking during his current visit. He wants to see how the trees he planted there are coming along.

He is eager to see as much as he can. Sitting in an airport lounge under a portrait of Chairman Mao in an after-swim bathrobe, Ronning said he wanted to visit factories, people's communes, universities and other educational institutions.

He has been impressed by what he has seen so far — especially by the crops. The quality of the rice along the rail line to Canton had been very striking.

Ronning's two daughters have both previously lived in China. Mrs. Topping also returned in 1966 as a tourist.

Ronning is the son of American missionary parents of Norwegian extraction. Except for a period during and after the Boxer Uprising against foreigners in 1900, he said, he spent his first 11 years in China. He returned, a Canadian citizen, in 1922 to study in Peking and then return to his birthplace and teach in the school founded by his father. He said last night he was the only foreigner among the teachers, most of whom were revolutionaries.

One hundred per cent of the students were too — "so I have first-hand experience with Chinese revolutionaries."

The arrival of a Canadian television network in China would have been a sensation in itself three weeks ago, but things have changed remarkably. The CTV team will join an international brigade of print, radio and television men who came with or followed the visits of the foreign table tennis players.

Included are men from Canada, the U.S., Britain, France, Switzerland, Norway, Yugoslavia, Australia and Japan — and more are said to be on the way. They are being given excellent treatment — far better than that accorded Peking's resident correspondents.

Their daily diet includes a savory round of factories, communes, educational institutions and historical sites. tutions and historical sites. At a banquet given by Prince Norodom Sihanouk Sunday night in the Great Hall of the People, they hopped around at will filming head table guests.

★ ★ ★

Tuesday night they were given a dinner by the New China News Agency. All these are just not on for the residents.

A major reason for the discrimination is that the Chinese authorities have no geat desire to make reporting fruitful for the Russian and other East European correspondents stationed here. This can at times make life a grumble for western and Japanese premanent correspondents.

Drastic Regulation Needed

IT COULD BE PLAUSIBLY ARgued that it would be almost impossible for oil transport workers to lose nearly a quarter of a million gallons of oil through leaving a barge valve open. Yet this has apparently happened at Anacortes, threatening other points on the Strait with a slick lethal to bird and sea life.

The question that arises in the public mind, therefore, is: can any system be devised that is proof against human, mechanical and natural failure? And if the likelihood of this guarantee is slim, then how can oil experts who urge the transport of Alaska oil down the British Columbia coast and through the Strait give any assurance that a catastrophic accident could not occur with one of the super-tankers that are proposed for the route?

If an absolute guarantee is impossible there is little virtue in saying that an accident would not happen often. A spill of the magnitude possible from a supertanker would have to happen only once to cause hazards and destruction that might take generations to remedy. Even a little chance of vast destruction is too much.

The hazards of sea or overland transport have, of course, always been with us. But it is only recently that the use of super-ships carrying enormous tonnages has greatly increased the possible effects of mishap. And the much more crowded shipping traffic on the seas of the world has brought a correspondingly greater frequency of accident as well as of deliberate discharge of waste at sea.

Hardly a week goes by without a news report of a tanker leaking, or an oil spill near a coastline. Each time, an aroused public demands that adequate means be provided to mop up the pollution and keep damage to a minimum. The seas of the world are becoming too small, under modern conditions, to stand continual contamination from man's operations afloat and ashore.

It is clear that much more stringent laws will have to be applied internationally — and Canada is taking a lead in this — to ensure that large tankers shall be adequately safeguarded from mishap; that their cargoes will be protected by fool-proof devices during loading, carriage and unloading; that voluntary dumping of waste shall cease, and that no shipping will be permitted to carry harmful cargoes without first passing rigorous — and enforced — tests for safety and seaworthiness.

We do not permit dilapidated, unsafe trucks, for instance, to carry explosives through the streets. Nor should we permit ships with pollutant cargoes to put to sea unless they are as safe as man can make them. Even then, there will always be the danger of unavoidable accident, as we see so frequently today. The surest means of obtaining the maximum security will be to make the penalty for pollution as great as, or greater than, the damage done — with a very realistic assessment of infringement on our environment even if it occurs in mid-ocean.

Bored by Opposition

The Gazette (Montreal)

The opposition is earning itself an enviable reputation for over-reaction in and out of the House of Commons. The result is that not only are the voters unimpressed but are becoming bored with the repeated cries of alarm and outrage which usually turn out to be much ado about nothing. All this futile uproar accomplishes is an erosion of the opposition's credibility.

The spectacle of an aroused group of parliamentarians declaiming their wrath over Secretary of State Pelletier's book on the October crisis in this province made some individual members look and sound ridiculous. It was obvious that the outcry was led by members who had not yet seen a copy of the book, and if they had, could not have read it in its present French version.

As long as the opposition continues to over-react, Canadians will continue to be denied the kind of parliamentary performance they voted for. What is wanted is more constructive debate and less of the sort of performance commonly associated with Henny Penney.

FROM OTTAWA

By MAURICE WESTERN

Presiding Over a Divided Party and a Civil War

THE New Democrats have engaged in the tribal rites which are honored by all political parties at the close of leadership conventions. James Laxer moved that the election be made unanimous and praised David Lewis as a great leader. The other candidates added their tributes and spoke movingly of the inner unity of the party. Mr. Lewis was duly acclaimed and in response gave voice to the thoughts which long tradition has made mandatory on these occasions.

Western

It had been a hard fight. Strong words had been used. But socialists, being men of conviction, were accustomed to desperate battles even over points of order. There were honest disagreements but no difference of purpose. Mr. Lewis mentioned injustice and poverty, which all are against. He would work with every member of the party and together in unity they would smite Trudeauism.

And so on.

There is truth in all of this but it falls short of comprehensive truth. For that very reason the convention was wise to choose Mr. Lewis. His brilliant talents are obvious. The first lawyer to lead the party, he is one of the finest (and most caustic) debaters in Parliament. But he has another and, in the circumstances, more important asset. As one of the elder statesmen of the party, he has vastly more experience than any of his convention rivals. Far more than the others, he is a political man and there was never greater need for political experience to overcome the crisis in the party.

One aspect of the problem was best summed up by John Harney in his rueful remark about the Waffle. We have to live with them. For the trade unionist, cohabitation with the Waffle is indeed a problem. A discotheque may be acceptable in its place but the average homeowner would not care to live with one established permanently in his front room.

What's past is past and what's ahead is unity. Such is the official interpretation of every convention. It would be more persuasive in the present case if the Waffle shared the values and outlook of the trade unionists and other party moderates. Their attitudes deny it. From their intellectual Mount Olympus, they tend to look down on the unionists with a mixture of condescension and contempt, fulminatng against them much as early Marxists berated the proletarian lump.

It is abundantly clear that the Wafflers have not gone home in the spirit of contenders philosophically accepting a majority decision. On the contrary they feel themselves the moral victors. After winning a third of the convention to support of their Quebec resolution, they went on to capture 612 votes (37 per cent of the total) for their leadership candidate, forcing Mr. Lewis to a fourth ballot.

With the help of television, they provided their own running commentary. They have driven the party to the left; their goal is to impose on it "hard line socialism." For them, what's past is prelude, whether the unions like it or not. Within the party they are the official, continuing opposition and in the minds of many, long service people, a thoroughly irresponsible one.

Verbal Violence

Mr. Lewis was right, of course, in referring to the traditions of verbal violence in socialist parties. There is little doubt that many voters discount this at the polls. When Tommy Douglas became premier of Saskatchewan and for long afterwards, the party was committed to the eradication of capitalism. People apparently took more seriously the definition of socialism which he used when opponents interpreted this objective literally. This was that the strong should help the weak, the young should help the aged and the rich should help the poor; an admirable sentiment although not one of such revolutionary portent as to drive capitalists to the brink of despair.

The Wafflers, however, are puritan zealots. They are dedicated to hard line socialism and they want no misunderstanding about it. If they are "extremists" to some unionists in their own party, how else can they be taken by the country?

Even so, left wing fundamentalism is only the beginning of Mr. Lewis's problem. More serious is the NDP rift on the issue of national unity. This is the issue above all issues which troubles voters and it is the one which produced the most impassioned debate at the Ottawa convention.

As over-simplified by some TV reporters, the convention voted two to one for the "strong" federalist resolution. But several points deserve notice here.

Any resolution would be "strong" in comparison with the Waffle sell-out. This looked back to 1864 — or to the situation which would then have prevailed, had the colonies been sovereign and Quebec not a part of the province of united Canada. It would have conceded half the separatist case. Treating an entire century as if it had never been, it would have conceded to Quebec an absolute right of self-determination without preconditions; without, that is to say, a commitment to renewed and reformed federalism.

Thus one province would have the exclusive right to determine the future of the country. No voice would be conceded to any citizen outside Quebec; none to the French of Ontario, New Brunswick, Manitoba or to any other second-class Canadians.

By any reasonable standards, however, the convention resolution is weak; by those of Frank Howard, who courageously opposed any truck or trade with the separatists, pathetically so. In the circumstances it was bound to be weak since it was drafted and re-drafted in desperate attempts to keep the Quebec matter off the floor. This meant conceding as much as possible to Mr. Laliberte, the Quebec leader, without actually using words that seemed blasphemous to the federalists. But Mr. Laliberte could not be appeased.

Most of it is a blandly worded, highly moralist essay. The climax comes with three paragraphs which identify "issue areas" for the attention of the federal council. These are left open; the socialists, in a sharp reversal of old-time form, present themselves as the party without the answer.

In some fields, this might be wisdom. But how can federalism be defended by open-mindedness on the fundamental questions? Should Quebecers decide alone or should others have a voice? From the NDP, no answer. Should the goal be a renewed federal constitution? From the NDP, no answer. Should negotiations be on a bilateral basis — Quebec versus the rest of Canada — or would this prejudge the issue and deny our regional and ethnic diversity? From the NDP, no answer.

The Stanfield Conservatives suffered heavily in 1968 because of their ambiguous "deux nations" stance. But, semantics aside, their argument was that federalism could tolerate more decentralization than Mr. Trudeau would concede. Never did they raise such questions as those thrown open by the NDP. Moreover, they have in fact moved back since the election to firmer federalist ground.

Quebec Wing Dissatisfied

Even so, the Quebec wing, which has already abandoned the provincial field to the Parti Quebecois, is not satisfied. Mr. Laliberte is elated with his support but accepts the verdict only in the sense that there will be no immediate split. His stand, as party leader in Quebec, is still "self-determination." This is possible, he explains, because by the NDP constitution autonomy permitted by the NDP constitution. The post convention situation will be evaluated at a Quebec meeting in June.

Mr. Lewis, after his long quest, now presides over a party and a civil war. He is heavily handicapped, for he must somehow reverse the present trends in order to re-establish the credibility of his party. Manifestly time is against him. Such is the nature of politics that the troubles of one party are opportunities for the others. In a deeper sense, however, the outcome is disturbing since it cannot do other than encourage the Parti Quebecois and this is no service to national unity.

A Basic Ingredient

THE DEAN OF UNITED STATES television news commentators, Walter Cronkite, is a man who prides himself on his objective on-camera reporting. But when the camera's eye is closed Mr. Cronkite resumes his pipe-smoking and comes forth with strong personal opinions which are causing a stir.

Some of these opinions were expressed before an audience in Toronto April 17 and if true, they should be cause for concern in the U.S. and, by implication, in any other country boasting of the free exchange of news and ideas. Mr. Cronkite said that broadcasters are experiencing "the first glimmering suspicions now that a grand plot may be unfolding actually to destroy network news." He said that politicians are trying to divide the networks and their affiliates, "the assumption apparently being that local stations would be politically more pliable than the networks." Mr. Cronkite laid considerable blame for the pressure on the U.S. radio-television licensing agency, the Federal Communications Commission.

His forebodings are not unique. Some days previously an editorial in The New Yorker magazine had stated, in part: "The threat to the rights of the people has been building up for several years. Freedom of speech has been imperilled by a bullying campaign against the press on the part of the Administration — a campaign that has had a severely damaging effect on the news. A heavy fog has moved in over the news."

According to a report presented to the Federation of Quebec Journalists, Canada has no cause for complacency in the field of media-government relations. The report claims that in last October's FLQ crisis there were about 50 cases of police interference with newsmen on the job — charges of unjustified arrests of reporters and attempts at news censorship by the Quebec Justice Department, as well as other alleged abuses.

Free access to news of public events, and freedom to publish news reports are a prime requirement of democratic freedom.

Correspondence From Our Readers

Disgusted

The article in the Times by Mr. Mitchell on our local Birth-Control Clinic must have disgusted many teachers and parents besides myself.

Nowhere in this article was the moral aspect brought in or the dangers that go hand in hand with this sort of "sick" approach to a very important issue.

There is no doubt that abortion is big business, prostitution is big business, the Pill is big business and VD is out of control. We only need to look to England and see where 12 and 13-year-olds are being encouraged into prostitution.

This article used the magic age line of "Sweet Sixteen" — who is fooling whom? In no time, that Pill will be in the hands of any girl that is menstruating and today that is anywhere from age 10 and up.

I would suggest that Drs. Borsman and Fisher along with their associated Mrs. Murrison tread very carefully — "There is nothing more vicious than a mother protecting her young" ...—"A Disgusted Mother."

Camp Fee Protest

I read with some concern the Parks Department decision to raise our camp site rates from $1 to $2 per night. As a long-time resident and taxpayer, who has at last reached an age where I can now take advantage of the parks in our beautiful B.C. I will find them out of my budget range.

As a taxpayer for many years, I feel I have helped to pay for these in the past.

We travel south in the winter and meet many who appreciate the Canadians and their $1 per night camp sites. It is nice to feel that our camps, with only the bare necessities, are so well spoken of by so many travellers. I am sure that our province can come up with better ways to supplement park funds than to charge campers $2 for a near-primitive site, nice as it may be.

If people want more than this then I say let them use the private camps. — H. R. Grabler, Saanichton.

Missed the Point

I must comment on your recent editorial with regard to the ideas put forward by Mr. Justice Thorson in his address here. You missed the main point to me anyway, and that was or is the fact that bi-lingualism or dual Canada is a luxury no nation can afford no matter how ideal it may sound on paper. The cost of two official languages is staggering to me and I think to most people.

The idea of preserving the two nation concept, even if it were in fact true, is ridiculous in this day. This is 1971 and we are now a multi-racial nation and must therefore grow up and have a language that all can understand and communicate with one another and with more of the world.

Do you suppose Great Britain could have risen to the place she did if the Scots had insisted on Gaelic, and Celts on their tongue and for that matter the Normans and the Saxons and God knows who else? Of course not; one language evolved. Could America have become the nation it is with several official languages?

You imply or said our trouble will come from without our country. We must be on guard against that arch enemy to the south. What in heavens name was that FLQ thing? Some little kindergarden play put on by a bunch of fun-loving little darlings? — G.E.D.

Mayors and Tourists

As at least 50 per cent of the population of Greater Victoria benefits in no way whatsoever from the annual influx of tourists. It is surely up to those who do benefit to put up the money to attract tourists, namely the business fraternity, and not the overtaxed taxpayers as a whole. — E. F. Whittingdale, 4957 Lockside.

Trade Rather than Aid

SPEAKING AT THE ANNUAL meeting of the General Assembly of the Organization of American States in Costa Rica, U.S. Secretary of State William Rogers referred to proposed U.S. legislation which would give tariff preferences to about $660 millions of additional Latin American exports to the United States. If the proposed legislation passes Congress it would be a reassuring move to Latin American countries fearful of the growing protectionist sentiment in their northern neighbor.

The former Brazilian president, Juscelino Kubitschek, reviewing American policy, has said that President Kennedy's "Alliance for Progress" should have been created in consultation with Latin American countries, that President Johnson forgot about Latin America (except the Dominican Republic) and that President Nixon is equally blind. Mr. Kubitschek concludes: "No popular feeling exists (in South America) that the U.S. really wants to help this continent."

If Mr. Rogers can make good his promises to open trade opportunities for Latin America in his country the feeling of desperation south of the United States border may subside. But a developing protectionism in the north could result in mounting discontent in Latin America and contribute to intensified economic problems, unrest and even revolution.

DENNIS THE MENACE

"HER MOTHER KEPT SAYIN' 'POOR MRS. MITCHELL. ARE WE POOR?"

Looking Back

From the Times of April 29, 1911:

The monotony of council in session was rudely shocked last night when the aldermanic body of Victoria was treated to a series of verbal pyrotechnics by two of its number, to wit, Ald. Moresby and Humber. The heat engendered was so intense that both combatants were speedily reduced to simmering ashes and the mayor, with a friendly word, had the temerity to approach the combustible factionists and succeeded in silencing, if not appeasing them.

A Place to Visit Between Planes

THE GLOBE AND MAIL
An Editorial

An official guide pamphlet for the House of Commons shows a color picture of the chamber with an accompanying note depicting it as a "typical sitting of the House." It goes on to explain to the wide-eyed tourist that all members are not present since many other essential demands are made on their time.

It behooves us all to bear those essential demands in mind as we cast an eye over our newly reassembled Parliament — or, more precisely, over the empty seats which some members will occupy just as soon as they have met essential demands elsewhere.

To be sure, there are important functions right there in the Commons. Sooner or later they will have to face the formidable legislature program they abandoned in their schoolboy scamper for the Easter recess. But how can one seriously compare, say, the matter of government reorganization with those off-stage obligations? How can a member be expected to fret over the imminent demise of the Public Order (Temporary Measures) Act, when there are extra-parliamentary matters of the utmost gravity to be attended to?

But just wait until our free-loading friends are back in their places. With impetus picked up on the slopes of the French Alps, our six missing members will come zooming in, yodelling a merry alpine song as they go. Apple-cheeked and eager, having been borne along in turn by a Canadian Armed Forces Boeing 707 and the largesse of their hosts, they should be in sparkling form.

Regarding Parliament as a short of apres-ski affair is, of course, the kind of attitude that few can carry off with quite the flair of Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau. (He's the one with the Barbados tan, the flower in his buttonhole, and a travel folder in his inside pocket.)

A leader of the Jet Star set, having logged about 100,000 miles on them since assuming office, Mr. Trudeau will pause long enough on home base to pack a couple of cases for Moscow. He will chafe no doubt at having to wait until May 17 before beginning his trip to Russia, with nothing but the dullards of the Commons to divert him in the meantime.

Will he be consoled by the fact that this is just a brief interlude — a temporary measure, so to speak?

THE INDEPENDENT FILM JOURNAL

The ultimate challenge to present methods of motion picture presentation in the next decade has been crystallized with the filing of applications by RCA for Federal Communications Commission authority to establish and operate a domestic communications satellite system calling for an investment of up to $198 million by the end of 1977.

Indicative of the innovative services that could evolve from the satellite system, according to RCA, "would be a new method for distributing motion pictures." Instead of using film, individual theatres could project closed circuit telecasts received by an earth station and distributed to individual theatres within the immediate area by conventional means..

Reduced to simplest terms, a domestic communications satellite system such as the one envisioned by RCA has the technological capacity to beam one print from a central location onto hundreds of thousands of motion picture theatre screens simultaneously through closed circuit from its network of receiving stations.

Long range implications in economy of prints, automation, effect on laboratories, projectionists, film deliveries and existing equipment will stir considerable thought. The technology is no longer in the Buck Rogers' stage and engineering progress again, spurred by the recent closed circuit success of the Ali-Frazier fight, has been most satisfactory.

Begin In 1974

Prompt approval of the application could result in the system beginning operation in 1974, according to Howard R. Hawkins, President of RCA Globcom and RCA Alascom. He said the application points out that the system's impact on national communications policies and operations would also be felt in:

- Reductions of approximately 50 per cent in the cost of distributing commercial television and radio network programming.
- The encouragement of educational television and special services to stimulate the growth of instructional TV and public radio.
- The expansion of rapidly developing private line, digital and analog data transmission, video, voice and other services through reduced rates.
- Major improvements in service for Alaska, particularly in bush areas, and other remote locations where a large area and sparse population pose severe problems to economical and effective communications.
- The creation of new opportunities to serve the community antenna television industry, and other public or private enterprises which, because of cost and technical considerations, cannot now fully utilize current means of nationwide, instantaneous communications.

The system would consist of three satellites in geostationary orbits positioned so the spacecraft provides coverage to all 50 states and Puerto Rico. The satellites would work in conjunction with 13 major earth stations.

The system would be implemented in two basic stages, according to Mr. Hawkins. Two satellites, one for operations and the other as a spare in orbit, would be launched in 1974, with a third held in reserve on the ground. There would also be 11 major earth stations initially.

Three In Orbit

"However, our expectation is that increases in traffic and demand for new and additional services would exceed the initial capacity and require the launching of the third satellite and the construction of two additional earth stations by 1976," Hawkins said.

With three satellites in orbit, two for operation and the other for backup, a fourth spacecraft would be built to be held in reserve on the ground.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration would launch the spacecraft as it now does international communications satellites.

In addition to the 13 major earth stations, which would handle all types of communications services, the system provides for 9 future earth stations in Alaska, and approximately 23 television transmit-receive and 370 receive-only earth stations to meet requirements specified by commercial and public broadcasters, primarily television.

A primary use predicted for the system is to carry network programs to individual broadcast stations throughout the country. This would result in major cost savings over present methods since satellites minimize distance as a factor in the expense of communications services.

Tommy Douglas: A Double-Vision Look Back

By DOUGLAS FISHER

OTTAWA — The delegates at the NDP convention were emotional and sentimental last Thursday as they honored their retiring leader, Tommy Douglas. Often, these honorific occasions are phony, merely rituals of courtesy, while behind the platitudes the common thought is: "Let's get this over and get on with picking somebody fresher."

★ ★ ★

There were few New Democrats with this split between their public and private thoughts on Tommy Douglas. Both their respect and their sadness at his retirement as leader were genuine.

The retrospective assessment which social and political historians will make 20 and 30 years from now is likely to be very favorable to Mr. Douglas. He will be seen, in my opinion, as one of the most influential politicians of the period. But not, I think, for his decade as leader of the New Democratic Party.

His achievements for posterity were the breakthroughs in social policy — medicare, hospital insurance, car insurance, etc. — which he made as the premier of Saskatchewan for 17 years.

This is a stylized and very stuffy way to get into a retrospective look at Mr. Douglas. I didn't know him personally before he became national leader of the new party in 1961. I had campaigned for his rival Hazen Argue. Subsequently, I had roughly three years as a follower of Mr. Douglas in the parliammentary caucus of the NDP. I've always had a double-vision problem with Mr. Douglas: On the one hand plus, on the other hand, minus.

He was a pleasant colleague, but he was also aloof. He was always optimistic and cheery in the same chipper way that distinguished Donald MacDonald, the former Ontario leader. He was never morbid or testy in caucus, or during the long hours around the Commons chamber.

On the other hand, he was never the man to "chew the fat" about party or parliamentary strategy. He never showed any jealousy or the kind of intense self-regard which makes a leader touchy toward his colleagues. But then, he never took a keen personal interest in the talents and potential of his caucus. In short, he was not a coach, not a persuader or cultivator of those around him.

Mr. Douglas had a predilection (he still has) for both external affairs and popular economics. He approaches these subjects with a rather simplified, general ideology. Consequently, he often is not as subtle as he should be, nor as informed in detail as he might be on many legislative items.

It's been my observation that every politician tends to find time and opportunity for what he does best. He ignores or makes personal excuses for what he doesn't do well. Mr. Douglas is supreme at hustings meetings of the traditional kind — that is, he enjoys and does superbly the political speech to a set audience.

Therefore, he spent an unbelievable amount of time stumping the country month in, month out. Thus he always kept an exhausting schedule, repeatedly carrying a personal message to all kinds of audiences across Canada.

He was always willing to take the onerous chore of speaking to riding associations. Consequently, he had an unusually deep rapport with the party members. He seemed happiest when he was doing the speech-making and capturing the laughter and roar of the crowd.

On the other hand, Mr. Douglas would never take long thought about the the modern means of communication, especially television. The result was that almost every party planner wound up having film shots taken of Tommy mesmerizing a meeting. These would then be edited and put into a clip for TV.

This was the real Douglas — handling a public meeting. He refused (and Lord knows he was prodded) to learn the intimacy and candor which TV could project. He slid away from the reality of its influence on thousands of voters who were never going to get to a public meeting. And because he is very quick, he repeatedly came through in many TV interviews as a fast-tongued medicine man, rather than as a thoughtful, deeply-concerened politician.

Another anachronistic feature of the Douglas style, as many have pointed out, has been his vocabulary. Perhaps because he mixed too much with old friends and the party faithful, perhaps because he eased off in topical reading, the emotive words and phrases he used too often were those in vogue in the '30s and the '40s.

Of course, it was the legend of his public-speaking triumphs and his legislative achievements in Saskatchewan which made the small core of party regulars who ran the CCF insist that he must come to take the leadership of the new party. They were so sure that all of Canada would take to him and love him as they did.

They didn't reckon on his inadequacy on television or the sheer wearing difficulty of making a mark week after week in the Commons as leader of a small group. Of course, they had anticipated a much greater success in the first election campaign of the NDP and their choice got away so badly by failing to get a seat in Regina in his first campaign.

Just recently, I heard some Hansard reporters and stenographers chatting about Mr. Douglas and his retirements. One said, and the others agreed quickly that: "I'm happy he is going to stay in the House. He is still one of the few in the place who knows how a speech should be made."

Mr. Douglas will continue to give a texture to debate in the Commons as has another retired leader, John Diefenbaker. He should continue as a great asset in inspiring the party members throughout the country. Unlike Mr. Diefenbaker, he doesn't carry any bitterness in his heart. His party isn't divided on him.

The Pleasure Seekers

By H. J. CAMPBELL

(Dr. Campbell is senior lecturer at the Institute of Psychiatry, De Crespigny Park, London.)

Every morning at the Institute of Psychiatry in London my rabbits excitedly push their heads forward as I fit small plugs to them. The plugs come in contact with thin platinum wires that sit permanently in their brains.

When I let go, the animals rush to a lever and start pressing it down with their noses, about 500 times in 15 minutes. Each time a minuscule amount of electricity flows to the platinum wires and causes activity in the brain cells there.

The wires are in the so-called pleasure areas and the rabbits press the lever because the electricity gives them pleasure.

Humans with a similar setup reported that they "felt good" or "had a happy feeling" when they pressed the lever.

With many animals the lever-pressing is compulsive; they do not want to do anything else such as eating, drinking, mating.

My experiments have shown that when the female sex hormone is administered, pleasure-seeking drops to very low values. But treatment with the male sex hormone shoots the lever pressing up 200-300 per cent.

These and other results suggest that changes in mood may be due to fluctuations in hormone levels, especially in women.

But though intracranial self-stimulation is a valuable method, it always seemed unnatural to me. Animals feel pleasure, surely, without electrodes in their pleasure areas. You and I do, too.

I decided that in normal life the pleasure areas of the brain are activated by nerve impulses reaching them from the sense organs — eyes, ears, tastebuds, skin and so on.

If I were right, then animals ought to press a lever — or do something to get activation of the sense organs out of the periphery of the body. No electrodes. Instead — peripheral self-stimulation.

So I tried amphibia and reptiles. Most impressive is my little crocodile's wearying search for joy. Left alone he sits motionless for hours, but when the goal-post is put into his tank he lumbers through it 50 or more times in 15 minutes. I next tried squirrel monkeys. Successfully.

Experiments with hormones show just the same results as with intracranial self-stimulation. Altogether, there can be little doubt now that the pleasure areas of the brain are normally activated by the senses. Just a look around at the fairgrounds, candies, pop scene, psychedelic light displays, sporting activities tells one that much human behavior is along the same lines as that of monkeys and the crocodile.

From all this a new theory of behavior has arisen. It is postulated that an essential requirement of the animal nervous system is that the pleasure areas of the brain must be kept activated. To do this, animals engage in one piece of behavior after another, as each one ceases, on repetition, to bombard the pleasure areas with nerve impulses.

The ramifications of the theory are enormous, explaining the rise of religion, the cause of extinction and survival, most social institutions, the importance of sex — and the division of all people into human and subhuman. Only when the pleasure areas are activated by thinking-behavior are we distinct from the lower animals.

MURDER AT SEA

By LESTER POWELL

As it is spring again, mother seals are whelping cuddly, sad-eyed whitecoats on the huge Arctic icefields that flow with the cold nutritious Labrador Current, past Newfoundland and Labrador. It is this current, rich in plankton, that brings the fish, the fishermen and the fog, to the Grand Banks.

As it is spring again, various emotional people across the country are shedding their 10-cent anthropomorphic tears over the "cruelty" of a seal hunt that "slaughters" these "babies" in numbers, controlled to maintain the homeostasis of the herd, by bashing their heads off with 6-foot birch bats.

The pelts make souvenirs, footwear and coats for those still brave or insensitive enough to buy or wear them.

Don't shed tears for the seals. I'd much rather go that way than the way of the sports fish. Tuna, muskie, trout and salmon, they all get it the same horrifying way.

Picture yourself swimming lazily along through an orchard on a nice summer afternoon. Hands at your side, out of the way, you take a bite from a juicy apple hanging from a tree.

Pow! A flash of excruciating pain and fear snaps your brain. Like a whiplash. "A strike!" you hear from above. A steel hook yanks your mouth, tearing and bleeding, skyward. You fight madly to get away, frantic and crazy from the pain, but you choke on your own blood as you gasp for air. Slowly, the strength drains from your body and your determination to survive lapses into a numbing exhaustion as you're jerked into the clouds.

Brian Davies, are you there?

Partridge Should Resign

By TREVOR LAUTENS
The Sun

There's been so much wolf-crying on campus in recent years — so many unnegotiable demands, staged riots, manifestos merely requiring the surrender of publicly-supported schools to self-elected cliques of middle-class kids palely imitating Che Guevera — that along comes an eminently reasonable campus cause and the hardened public greets it with a fish eye.

In November, 1968, the University of Victoria announced the appointment of a new president, Bruce J. Partridge, then vice-president of administration at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore.

Chancellor R. B. Wilson, chairman of Uvic's board of governors, said in a news release:

"We were pleased that so many distinguished academics let their names come forward for the presidency.

●

"All of (the presidential selection advisory committee's) interviews led to an overwhelming recommendation that Dr. Partridge be apointed.

"His qualifications are so outstanding that the final choice was relatively easy."

The news release, listing Partridge's considerable experience, also stated that he had a bachelor of arts degree from Oberlin College and "added the degrees of bachelor of laws and doctor of jurisprudence at Blackstone College, often commuting to Chicago while performing duties at other universities."

(Blackstone College is in Chicago).

Partridge subsequently assumed the presidency at Uvic and proceeded to deal with the usual university problems, including issues involving the tenure of some faculty members deemed unqualified.

Then last January the university undergraduate paper, The Martlet, reported that Blackstone College — from which Partridge received his bachelor of laws and doctor of jurisprudence degrees — was a mail order college.

As The Sun reported, Blackstone operates out of a one-room office. It has no faculty or classes. And its vice-president stated that he had never seen Partridge at any time, nor was there any reason to do so, since all student work is done by mail.

The school has no state or federal accreditation, and has stopped awarding degrees because of a U.S. federal trade commission restraining order.

Mr. Partridge described the disclosure by The Martlet as "a smear campaign."

The student body and the University of Victoria Faculty Association separately voted non-confidence in the president.

A couple of weeks ago Thomas Newell, president of the 1971 graduating class, told the senate that 89.9 per cent of the class had voted in favor of a motion requesting that Partridge not sign their diplomas. Mr. Partridge has granted their request.

●

In such an issue, inevitably there are many factors invoked that are not relevant.

It isn't relevant, for example, to note that there are factions on campus — any campus — that try to embarrass or destroy presidents as a matter of mere routine.

Nor is it relevant to note that the university — again, any university — is an institution obsessed with academic tickets, qualifications, papers, and other proofs, and that none of these, as is well recognized both on and off campus, can guarantee a good garden-variety teacher let alone a truly innovative mind; and that therefore it's performance in the job that counts.

Mr. Partridge might be a superb administrator if he had a Grade 10 education, and he might be equally superb if he had received degrees from universities whose credentials are impeccable. That isn't relevant either.

He may be an excellent administrator; he may be a fine citizen; he may be a splendid good fellow. But in the end he must preside over a community of scholars, both journeymen and apprentices, and he must in a large (not simply numerical) sense enjoy their respect and confidence.

It's unimaginable that Mr. Partridge can do so as things are. He should resign. And the committee that chose him, and the board of governors, should have a long, deep think about their part in the whole affair.

Horner's Campaign Slammed by Olson

By JOHN HAY

OTTAWA (CP) — Newspaper advertisements criticizing the government's farm products marketing bill "have done the farming communities a very great disservice," Agriculture Minister H. A. Olson told the Commons Wednesday.

The ads, which have appeared recently in several newspapers, attack the legislation and ask readers to send a coupon to Jack Horner (PC—Crowfoot), a leading critic of the measure which has been before the Commons and in committee for more than a year.

"I am not in any way responsible," Mr. Horner said.

But he had been swamped with the coupons, and was always glad to help the farmers, he said grinning.

Mr. Olson said statements in the ad were erroneous.

The bill is aimed at quelling the anarchy in interprovincial and foreign agricultural trade which recently has sparked disputes among Ontario, Quebec and Manitoba in chicken and egg marketing.

The Commons today begins debate on the government's proposal to raise the salaries and tax-free expenses of MPs to $26,000 from $18,000 a year.

Senators would get raises to $22,000 from $15,000, and salaries of judges and senior public servants would also be increased.

RAISE MINIMUM WAGE

Earlier, the Commons passed through second reading and sent to the labor committee a bill raising the minimum wage in industries under federal jurisdiction to $1.75 an hour from $1.65.

Labor Minister Bryce Mackasey said the increase could force firms to streamline their methods and automate production.

"They must decide whether they will continue paying the minimum wage and remain inefficient, or reduce the work staff, introduce a greater degree of automation, and . . . put their industry in a competitive position."

In debate on the marketing bill, Mr. Olson denied Mr. Horner's charges that it would balkanize Canada by allowing regions to bar the goods of other regions.

Instead, it would permit provinces to work out co-operative arrangements to market agricultural goods.

The bill authorizes the government to set up marketing agencies to buy, package, process, store, ship, export, sell or insure all farm goods except grain and dairy products, which are already in existing legislation.

Under federal-provincial agreement, an agency could act on behalf of a province in the field of interprovincial trade.

As well, a national farm products marketing council would be set up, with nine government-appointed members, to recommend the establishment of the agencies. It now is in report-stage, the stage before debate on third and final reading.

Mr. Horner said the bill should not be debated until the Supreme Court rules on a marketing dispute brought by the Manitoba government.

APPEAL DECISION

The Manitoba government has appealed a decision of the Manitoba Appeal Court labelling as unconstitutional a provincial regulation on marketing out-of-province eggs.

Manitoba had imposed the regulations following a similar move by Quebec last fall restricting the flow of Manitoba eggs into Quebec.

Mr. Olson said that dispute, which has spread to Ontario, and others show the need for the federal marketing bill.

It would not give agencies the power to control farmers' production. Farmers would have the right to vote whether to set up an agency.

Alf Gleave (NDP—Saskatoon-Biggar) agreed the provision for farmers' approval offered plenty of safeguards against government power. Farm organizations had long requested a national marketing law.

But he said the bill does not include adequate provisions to insure farmers' incomes.

Cliff Downey (PC—Battle River) said the bill was inspired not by a farmer but by Prime Minister Trudeau—"a playboy from Westmount."

Harold Danforth (PC—Kent-Essex) said separate bills should have been introduced for each commodity.

He and Mr. Downey said the agencies should be given power to regulate imports into Canada.

Jean-Claude To Forgive?

PORT-AU-PRINCE (UPI) — Palace sources said Tuesday Haiti's new president, Jean-Claude Duvalier, may proclaim a general amnesty for Haitian exiles Thursday.

The 19-year-old son of former dictator Francois (Papa Doc) Duvalier, who died last Wednesday, is to deliver a speech to the national assembly Thursday.

An estimated 50,000 Haitian exiles live abroad, many of them in the United States, forced out of their homeland in the 14-year iron-hand rule of the elder Duvalier.

Taxes Climb

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver city council Tuesday approved a mill rate boost that will cost the average single family homeowner an extra $27 this year. Coupled with an $8 hike in the school tax and $1 for the Greater Vancouver Regional Hospital District, the average homeowner will pay a total of $36 more in 1971.

BUSINESS and FINANCE

Editor: G. S. Kent

Southam

Southam Press Ltd. reports net income of $1.7 million for the first quarter of 1971, up 8.7 per cent from $1.58 million in the January-March period of 1970.

Earnings per share were 55 cents for the first quarter this year, compared with 51 cents in the comparable period of 1970.

Newspapers as a whole held their ground but results for the quarter reflect a decline in earnings of commercial printing and trade publications.

Revenue from operations totalled $26.78 million and was up 1.4 per cent from $26.4 million first quarter of 1970.

Colcel

Columbia Cellulose Co. Ltd. reports a loss of $1.6 million in the first quarter of 1971, after inclusion of a charge of $219,000 for preferred dividends of a subsidiary company. Results for the corresponding period of 1970 showed a profit of $1.5 million.

Sales for the quarter were $16.78 million, 32 per cent lower than last year.

Villacentres

Villacentres Ltd. reports net income of $111,473 (11 cents a share) for the first quarter of 1971, a 40 per cent increase from $79,465 (eight cents) for the corresponding period.

Cash flow for the first three months this year was $201,232 or 20 cents a share compared with $143,850 (14 cents) in 1970.

Bell

Bell Canada intends to issue about $100 million in convertible shares in early June, subject to regulatory approval.

Final amount and specific terms of conditions of the issue will not be determined until immediately prior to offering the shares to the public.

Walston

Walston and Co., major U.S. brokerage house, has called off a deal by which Dallas financier H. Ross Perot would have made a long-term investment in Walston.

Perot recently acquired an 80 per cent interest in another Wall Street firm, F. I. DuPont Glore Forgan and Co., and the proposed investment in Walston could have presented a conflict of interest.

Grosvenor

Vancouver-based Grosvenor International Ltd., through its subsidiary Grosvenor International (Hawaii) Ltd. and Theo H. Davies and Co., of Honolulu, is building a $24 million office and commercial complex in the downtown Hawaiian capital.

Sites for additional development in Honolulu have been acquired, Grosvenor said.

Imperial

Improved first-quarter earnings of Imperial Oil Ltd. should not be taken as an indication of better performance the rest of the year, shareholders are cautioned by president J. A. Armstrong.

The Toronto-based integrated oil company earned $32 million (25 cents a share) in the period ended with March, compared with $24.1 million (19 cents) a year earlier.

Chairman W. O. Twaits noted the cost of crude oil at eastern refineries was recently raised nearly 25 per cent due to Venezuelan tax increases.

Brewer

More than 30 per cent improvement is shown for first quarter earnings of C. Brewer and Co. Ltd., major Hawaiian subsidiary of International Utilities Corp.

Based on revenue of $36.6 million, net income rose to $1.7 million (61 cents a share), compared with revenue of $35.9 million and profit of $1.3 million (46 cents) a year ago.

Land development projects, including a 300-room hotel and shopping centre, proceed on schedule, the company said.

Corby

Corby Distilleries Ltd. had reduced sales, operating income and net earnings in the six months ended Feb. 28, although working capital went up more than $500,000 more than the increase during the same period last year.

The company reports before-tax income of just over $2 million vs. $2.29 million, and net income of $1.13 million ($1.02 a share) compared with $1.14 million ($1.03), based on sales of $12 million ($13.39 million) and operating income of $1.7 million ($1.86 million).

Working capital increased $780,349 against $221,827 last year, for a total $16.3 million at the end of the period compared with $15.96 million in 1970.

Crownex

Crownex International Ltd., operator of the former Cowichan Copper mine at Jordan River, is encouraged by a recent report on proven, probable and possible ore reserves.

Made by J. S. Vincent, a former senior geologist with International Nickel, the report gives proven and possible tonnage of 1.75 million, allowing for 20 per cent dilution, and 1.9 million undiluted. He noted a lack of operating capital to keep the concentrator mill fully charged was a former obstacle to success.

Crownex has a agreement with Hemsworth, Turton and Co. Ltd. to underwrite 150,000 shares at 50 cents each to net $75,000 and options to take an additional 100,000 at 60 cents and 100,000 at 75 cents for an additional $130,000 total.

CDC Ltd.

The Canadian subsidiary of a Minnesopolis-based firm has been given a three-year contract to provide computer services to the federal energy, mines and resources department.

Control Data Canada Ltd., owned by Control Data Corp., bid on leasing a computer installation for the department's work, which exceeds the capacity of a computer leased from CDC five years ago.

The department noted all computers in use in Canada "whether by Canadian utility companies or in full-time operation by scientific organizations are foreign-manufactured."

Great Lakes

Great Lakes Paper Co. had a 65 per cent decline in earnings to $323,000 during the first quarter of this year, primarily due to losses from foreign exchange.

Earnings per share for the quarter were nine cents while earnings for the first quarter of 1970 were $820,000 (26 cents).

C. J. W. Fox, president, estimates earnings for the quarter would have been $600,000 or 17 cents a share greater had the Canadian dollar not been revalued. Sales increased by 14 per cent to a record $20 million.

'Keep Price Of Oil Down'

HALIFAX (CP) — The Canadian director of the International Union of Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers said Wednesday the price of crude oil in Canada should not be increased when prices are raised in other countries.

Neil Reimer, of Edmonton, told the union's annual conference here that the price of crude oil is "artificial."

"The wells are already drilled . . . the pumps are already pumping so there is no reason for the oil companies to raise their prices.

He said Canada is selling cheap crude oil to the United States where it is processed. The finished product is then returned to Canada at higher prices than if petroleum products were manufactured in Canada.

CLYNE WANTS GROWTH RATE STABILIZED

Forest Industry Tax Cut Urged

VANCOUVER (CP)—A cut in taxes for Canadians generally and for the forest industry specifically was urged Wednesday by J. V. Clyne, chairman and chief executive officer of MacMillan Bloedel Ltd. in his address to the company annual meeting.

In a 45-minute speech, Mr. Clyne called for a stabilization in Canada's growth rate and for an end to the extremes of overheated and overcooled economies.

He said rapid economic growth in Canada in recent years had led to inflation, the attempts at control through fiscal and monetary restraint and resultant unemployment and economic stagnation.

Attempts to turn the economy around in the U.S. and Canada have met with only limited success and both governments now are contemplating various pump priming programs, said Mr. Clyne.

He hoped these would not be the principal effort because they represented a "palliative rather than a cure."

"The fiscal stimulus which would most likely trigger a release of savings and encourage private investment would be selective cuts in income taxes," said the chairman of Canada's largest forestry firm.

BRITISH EXAMPLE

"The United States government is already contemplating such action and it has already been taken in U.S. I would earnestly hope that the Canadian government is entertaining similar ideas.

"As far as the B.C. forest industry itself is concerned, a continuation of the present tax burden would be most inhibiting and will be intolerable if tax cuts are made available to U.S. competitors who already pay income taxes far below our 52 per cent level."

MacMillan Bloedel reported its lowest quarterly profit in the merged company's history and decided to omit the normal 25-cent dividend payable for the second quarter.

The company's earnings for the first three months of this year were $1.4 million or seven cents per share, a sharp drop from the $7.2 million for the same period of 1970 and a continuing decline from the $3.2 million of the fourth quarter last year.

The company is the second major one in the business to pass its dividend. B.C. Forest Products suspended its regular dividend at the annual meeting April 15.

MacMillan Bloedel profits, as reported earlier, were $17.4 million or 83 cents per share in 1970 as compared with $42.5 million or $2.04 in 1969.

It is the first time the company has omitted a dividend. Mr. Clyne said decision about dividends for the rest of the year will be made after results are known.

Food Price Battle Hurting Processors

VANCOUVER (CP) — Many Canadian food processors will not survive the current chain store price war which is beginning to hurt the food processing industry, Elmer T. Banting, vice-president of the Canadian Food Processors Association, said Monday.

Banting told the association's annual convention it was an economic fact of life that no firm can make a profit if it sells produce at less than cost price.

"I hope both the government and consumers will recognize where the responsibilities lie and not blame only the processors for the price increases which are inevitable," he said.

"I am most concerned for our industry. The buying power for our products continues to be concentrated in fewer hands."

But the consumer organizations and the department of consumer and corporate affairs might consider what alternatives really exist to the current competitive free-enterprise food processing industry, he said.

"No one can convince me that the consumer would have cheaper food if the retail distributors owned or controlled the processing industry. Nor would the consumer be better off if government controlled our industry."

Banting said few companies could afford to take independent action.

"But working together I believe we can reverse the present trends so that processors will once again make a fair profit and return on investment," he said.

"Nnless we have a healthy industry, we will not be able to grow and continue to supply Canadian consumers with quality products."

Men Have Won The Battle of the Midi!

by Wyn Sinclair

There never has been a fashion change where men have been so concerned! None of them were infatuated with the midi . . . all the leg-watchers felt cheated . . . but they'll rejoice now that the young girls and some not quite so young are buying short clothes for spring and summer.

Call them smarty pants, city pants, short shorts or hot pants . . . there are many variations to suit all figures and ages.

It promises to be an exciting year, where girls will be girls again and the leg watchers will view more than they ever dreamed of . . . yet the short shorts give the degree of cover-up which makes sitting, bending or holding onto your hair or hat, provocative but comfortable!

This is a fashion that fathers can admire on someone else's daughter and also approve on their own.

Here at Miss Frith we have an exciting selection to choose from and a separate store for our Junior fashions. Please remember, that Junior is a size, not an age!

So sum it up, men, you've won a battle against the midi, and we believe the fair ladies are delighted, too!

Sea Cadets To Compete In Sport Meet

About 250 members of nine Vancouver Island sea cadet corps will take part in a sports weekend at CFB, Esquimalt from Friday to Sunday.

The biggest contingent, 50 cadets, will be from the Victoria Rainbow Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps, whose band has been chosen as the official one for the weekend activities.

The official guard will be provided by the Admiral Mainguy Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps of Duncan.

Also taking part will be cadets from Brentwood, Nanaimo, Port Alberni, Tofino, Campbell River, Courtenay and Kelsey Bay.

During the weekend crews will compete in 420 dinghies to decide which corps will represent the Island in the national sailing regatta, to be held at Dartmouth, N.S., this summer.

The program will also include a swim meet, a whaler race, recreational training games, rifle shooting, tug-o-war and a sports tabloid.

An entertainment program will be provided by the Vancouver Island Division of the Navy League of Canada Saturday evening.

Chamber Activity Urged

DUNCAN — Duncan-Cowichan Chamber of Commerce members were told Wednesday to involve themselves in national and provincial problems by becoming more active in the British Columbia and Canadian Chambers of Commerce.

Ted Stroyan, vice-president for B.C. in the Canadian chamber and manager of community relations for MacMillan Bloedel Ltd. for Vancouver Island, urged members to attend the provincial conference in June at Kelowna.

"You can have no ruddy influence if you sit in Duncan."

He said the B.C. and Canadian organizations are "your tools if you want to exert local influence on the provincial and federal governments. They cannot exist without you — nor you without them."

"There is a great temptation in every chamber to become totally involved with local problems."

HIGHEST totem pole in the world is being carved by Indians at Alert Bay. It will stand 156 feet about 28 feet higher than Victoria's in Beacon Hill Park. The pole, donated by Canadian Forest Products Ltd. at Beaver Cove and being carved by the Kwakala Arts and Crafts Society of Alert Bay, will have totems representing all tribes in the area. (James H. LAKE COWICHAN TOLD Sewage Plant 'Will Aid Progress'

LAKE COWICHAN — Residents were told here Wednesday the village needs a secondary sewage treatment plant to protect health and spark property development.

"I'm sorry that it's so expensive, but you need it, and there is no other way," Cowichan Valley public health inspector Douglas Roe told a public meeting.

Nearly 100 residents attended the meeting sponsored by SPEC, Cowichan Lake Chamber of Commerce and the village council.

$970,000 PROJECT

Ratepayers vote May 15 on a $970,000 sewer referendum.

Of nearly 600 houses in the village, only 100 are sewered. If the referendum passes, 716 commercial and residential premises will be connected to a "wastewater stabilization lagoon," a system now used by Duncan and North Cowichan.

Cost to the average resident on a 60-foot lot for the first year would be $494, including connection fee, private line, frontage tax and user charge. In subsequent years the cost would drop to $114.

SPEC president John Clark said existing septic tank facilities are unsuitable for the village because of poor soil conditions. He said the soil is tight and does not permit adequate water permeation. Heavy rainfall adds to the problem.

Although SPEC is mainly interested in the sewer system to upgrade the quality of the local water, Clark said many other benefits will be reaped.

"At the present time there are a number of properties here that cannot be developed because they are unsuitable for septic tanks. These properties could be developed when served by a community sewerage system," he said.

Chamber president Al Kotscherofski said construction of sewers would mean housing loans could be obtained through Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

FACE THE FACTS, FORGET RHETORIC

Bourassa Wants 'Own Identity' for Quebec

TORONTO (CP) — After a critical year as head of the Quebec government, Premier Bourassa told a gathering of Canadian newspaper and communications executives Wednesday night, he tries to deal with Quebec's difficult problems on the basis of fact and not rhetoric.

He said Quebec faces the double-edged issue of trying to protect the French way of life while dealing with the complicated social and economic problems that all governments have to work their way through.

To explain his government's approach to such questions as Quebec's place in Canada, its need for economic revival and the removal of unequal standards among citizens, he said he prefers to examine the "very substance of things."

He indicated that "rhetorical disputes or prestige battles" have little interest for him.

The 37-year-old government leader addressed the annual dinner of The Canadian Press, Canada's news co-operative. Newspaper executives from all parts of the country were among his audience. Premier William Davis of Ontario, with whom Mr. Bourassa conferred earlier Wednesday, was among guests.

Mr. Bourassa was guest speaker at the dinner which each year is addressed by a leading public figure. His speech was on the eve of the first anniversary of his Quebec election victory in April, 1970.

QUEBEC NEEDS LEEWAY

The premier said Quebec should be given enough leeway under the constitution of Canada to develop a "true identity of its own."

"Obviously, a re-arrangement of the constitutional powers in such matters as culture, social affairs and communications must be undertaken," he said.

He felt that Canadians should not consider Quebec to be a problem but, because of its distinctness, a factor that would contribute to Canadian identity.

The liveliness of the French culture in Quebec was demonstrated by such things as the success artists and performers from Quebec enjoy elsewhere in Canada.

This was part of exchanges that involved students, technicians, workers and professional people. Press, radio and television also contributed to the better knowledge of each other by the English and French cultural communities in the country.

"Notwithstanding the present difficulties, there are good reasons to believe we are on the road to an increased understanding among the country's different cultural groups, thus consolidating Canada's unity and strengthening . . . an original and dynamic Canadian identity," Mr. Bourassa said.

REFERS TO TRIP

Mr. Bourassa, who used English and French alternately, said that during his visit to Europe, ended last week, he heard talk of the possibility of a common currency. Use of a common currency would also involve use of taxation powers and this would lead to a form of federalism.

When such a tendency toward federalism existed in other parts of the world it would be dangerous to destroy the federal system in Canada, he said.

He described Quebec as representing a "live French culture" that was not only use of a particular language but was also "a way of being, a way of living and thinking which goes to the very core of the Quebec environment and represents an obvious advantage for Canada."

"More and more, English-speaking Canada seeks to protect itself against American encroachment. In this quest for true Canadian identity, Quebec is a precious ally, an exceptional asset."

He asked that the country at large recognize the contribution Quebec's distinctness represents. For its part, his government had the responsibility of promoting development of the "French personality" in the province's public institutions, in education and in the labor field.

HAS MUCH TO OFFER

Quebec's belief was that it had much to offer Canada by pursuing such a course and Mr. Bourassa said Quebec must be able to "depend on the rest of the country."

Quebecers were aware of the fact their birth-rate is declining and that immigrants either go to other provinces or merge into the English-language community in Quebec.

He said that if the population of Quebec became a progressively smaller proportion of the Canadian population, a problem of concern to all Canadians would result.

The influence of members of Parliament from Quebec would decrease and policies of bilingualism and biculturalism would become more and more difficult to justify.

"Pressures and tensions would become so heavy they would end by jamming the country's political and administrative mechanisms," Mr. Bourassa said.

Should the people of Quebec then try to solve the problem of their cultural identity outside of Confederation, Canada would lose the "French presence"—one of its most solid cultural elements, he added.

For Quebec as for other provinces, the federal system would have to continue to be an instrument able to speed up recovery from present difficulties caused by unemployment and expansion of available manpower due to thousands of young people joining the labor force.

The Quebec premier said his government's approach to Canadian constitutional problems was based on the "substance and essence of things."

"Quebec wants to make an original contribution to reinforce a truly Canadian identity, and it will be able to achieve this so long as the Canadian constitution will allow it to participate fully in the solution of the problems of the country as a whole."

VIET CONG TEMPT GIs

HONG KONG (AP) — The Viet Cong made a new attempt Monday to whip up anti-war rebellion among U.S. forces in Vietnam. It ordered its own forces not to attack American soldiers who oppose the war and do not take part in hostile action.

The Viet Cong radio, in a Vietnamese-language broadcast to Viet Cong forces, promised to "welcome and reward U.S. individuals or groups of U.S. soldiers who support the National Liberation Front and the provisional revolutionary government of South Vietnam." But it did not say what this reward would be.

Nigeria Takes Oil

LAGOS (Reuter) — Nigeria has set up a national oil corporation with wide powers to acquire or take over all assets and liabilities of any other international company prospecting for oil in the country.

The decree establishing the new company was published here Monday night, four days after the federal government announced its decision to acquire immediately a 35-per-cent interest in Safrap, a French firm barred from producing since the Biafran war.

BIG SQUAWK CREATED

MOSCOW (UPI) — Vladimir Dakukov of Murmansk has created a big squawk at his local friends of nature club, the Tass news agency said.

Kadukov, an amateur ornithologist, donated 260 species of live parrots to the club. "Some of them speak foreign languages," Tass said.

Here are some of the questions which concern all Canadians that are probed in the upcoming London Life TV Special "The Human Journey—Lifestyle".

QUESTION	YES	NO
1. Do you think society is properly responsive to the needs of its citizens?	☐	☐
2. Can you tell the character of a person by the way they dress and speak?	☐	☐
3. Is it true to say that most of us yearn to own a little piece of land in the country with a stream running through it?	☐	☐
4. Do you believe that there is too much interference by public authorities in the way we live?	☐	☐
5. Does success in business mean that a person has to be solely motivated by making money?	☐	☐
6. Can rapid change cause physical and mental illness?	☐	☐
7. Do you think that machines are becoming more important than people these days?	☐	☐
8. Are you optimistic that ultimately we will be able to control the manner in which we live?	☐	☐
9. Has the rapid growth of highrise apartments altered the lifestyles of Canadians for the better?	☐	☐
10. Do you believe there is little the average man can do to alter the way in which he lives in today's technological society?	☐	☐
11. Everyone appreciates that pollution spoils the ecology, but does it also seriously affect our lifestyle?	☐	☐
12. Are people who live in our beautiful countryside happier than people who are confined to skyscraper cities?	☐	☐

Happy with your lifestyle?

Today, there are many different and sometimes conflicting lifestyles. Few of us are completely happy with the way we live. "The Human Journey: Lifestyle" will attempt to define some of the problems that face us. This revealing TV Special was commissioned by London Life and can be seen this Sunday, May 2nd, on the CTV network.

Today, over 70% of all Canadians live in metropolitan areas. How has this affected our lives?

LIFESTYLE is the third program in The Human Journey series sponsored by London Life, and produced by CTV News, especially for Canadians. The program offers a reflection of ourselves and a frank appraisal of how we live today—for better and for worse.

The production crew has travelled all over Canada and as far afield as California and Ireland following the lifestyles of various people.

One of the major points that the program makes is that we all too often judge other people by stereotypes—but do people really fall into neat little categories?

Program highlights

1. The clash of ideologies and the generation gap.
2. A close look at a successful businessman and a so-called young "hippy" woman.
3. How two young politicians are working to make society more responsive to the needs of people.
4. Dr. Thomas H. Holmes discusses the illness that can be caused by too much change, occurring too quickly, in our way of life.

Millions of city dwellers long for a cottage in the country—yet there are thousands of people living in rural areas who long to live in the big, bustling city.

5. A look at the effects that the car, pollution, the city and other things have on our individual lifestyles.

The automobile, radio, television, air travel and packaging are some of the things that have changed our lifestyles.

6. A sequence showing how important inventions in recent years have changed our lives in a thousand ways.
7. An examination of the contrasting lives and dreams of city dwellers and people who live in the country.

London Life believes that it is only by examining ourselves, and our various lifestyles, that we can begin to understand some of the problems that face us in the Seventies.

In a business-sense, it is only by continual examination of people's financial lives that London Life is able to offer individual and group life, health and dental insurance, as well as retirement savings programs, to suit the needs of Canadians from coast-to-coast.

Free offer

London Life has prepared two interesting booklets especially for viewers of this program.

One of the booklets is based on the material gathered for "Lifestyle" and offers some revealing insights into the lives of Canadians. The other booklet deals with the financial side of our lives, and offers some advice on how to handle everyday money matters.

You will find both these booklets helpful. Send for them today.

For your free copies write to: London Life Insurance Company, Box 5560, London 12, Ontario.

No Clash Seen

REGINA (CP) — Allan Blakeney, former national president of the New Democratic Party, said Wednesday he doesn't see a confrontation developing between the party's moderates and waffiers as a result of the national leadership convention.

Blakeney, Saskatchewan NDP leader who retired as president at last weekend's NDP convention, said there are some waffle group members who "believe in confrontation politics, but the great bulk ... will support the policies adopted by the majority."

'Things Not Clear'

EDMONTON (CP) — Real Caouette, leader of Ralliement des Creditistes, said Wednesday he would favor an extension of the federal Public Order Act which expires Friday.

Caouette said "things are not too clear yet" in Montreal and it was impossible to tell whether the trouble might break out again there or elsewhere in the country.

★ ★ ★

Code Forecast

EDMONTON (CP) — A uniform, nationwide building code appears likely to be accepted by the end of 1972, the president of the Association of Canadian Building Officials said Wednesday night.

E. F. Osborne of Dartmouth, N.S., said in an interview that four provinces now have adopted regulations which follow a code passed by the federal government in 1970. Another five provinces have either proposed similar legislation for this year or are studying possible action.

Dief on Mend

SASKATOON (CP) — Elmer Diefenbaker was "responding adequately to treatment" after developing pneumonia during the weekend at University Hospital, doctors said today.

The 73-year-old brother of former prime minister John Diefenbaker entered hospital Feb. 8 after suffering a heart attack.

Applications Opposed

WINNIPEG (CP) — Two applications by Transair Ltd. of Winnipeg to the Canadian Transport Commission for changes and additions to its Northern Manitoba routes have met with opposition from two smaller northern airlines — Ilford-Riverton Airways Ltd. and Lambair Ltd. The airlines objected during Tuesday's hearing of the commission's air transport committee here that Transair's application, if approved, would result in a duplication of service and a threat to existing lower-class carrier operations.

★ ★ ★

Session Ends

EDMONTON (CP) — The Alberta legislature was prorogued Tuesday after a 52-day session during which a reorganized Social Credit government took a new approach to resource development and social reform.

With an overwhelming majority, the government was able to introduce a 115-bill legislative package.

Premier Harry Strom left the future in doubt on one point: the date for the next provincial general election, which many political observers expected to be set immediately after the session was prorogued by Lt.-Gov. Grant MacEwan.

Trials Promising

SASKATOON (CP) — A bacteriology professor at the University of Saskatchewan said Wednesday there are indications of progress in using microwaves to slow the growth of some kinds of cancer cells.

Dr. S. J. Webb said experiments have shown that high frequency microwaves can stop the growth of tumor cells in tissue cultures in the laboratory.

He first became interested in the project when he happened to notice that bacteria was affected by microwaves.

Programs Essential

EDMONTON (CP) — Canadian industry must have rehabilitation programs for drug and alcohol addicts if the nation is to survive, the co-ordinator of industrial programs with the Alberta Alcoholism and Drug Abuse Commission said.

Stuart H. Lindop, interviewed at a government-industry seminar on drug and alcohol problems, said "we either motivate people to rehabilitation or we help them kill themselves."

"With operating programs, I'd say that we could possibly achieve 50 to 75 per cent rehabilitation."

Lindop told the government, union, business and industry representatives at the seminar that the average alcoholic is between 35 and 55, married with two children, owns or rents a house, a skilled worker and a driver of two cars."

VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, APRIL 29, 1971 —PAGE 15

ROADWAY COLLAPSED Wednesday afternoon under weight of this 25-ton mobile crane as it backed up to Farmer Construction site on Fort at Bank. Excavation alongside had apparently weakened road edge. Problem getting the machine out is that it will require a 65-ton crane to do the job and that machine is tied up elsewhere. But recovery was scheduled for later today.

Gaglardi Boosts Welfare Rate To Rest Homes

Rehabilitation Minister Phil Gaglardi today announced an increase in the rate paid to rest home operators for care of welfare guests from $150 a month to a maximum of $174.

The move came just a few hours after the B.C. Rest Home Association at a Victoria meeting decided on a policy of evicting welfare guests in two weeks because of the government's failure to increase the rate.

John Hanrahan, vice-president of the association, said today the government announcement would have to be submitted to the membership but he regards the increase as "chickenfeed." Early indications are the operators are "quite unhappy."

He said the rest home operators require from $8 to $10 a day to care for welfare cases and discharged mental patients.

He also attacked the government for its handling of the matter, saying its policy of dealing with the operators on a "pressure" basis must be causing distress to old persons in the homes who wonder "what is going to happen to them next week, next month, next year."

Hanrahan said he is sorry that Gaglardi didn't make the announcement earlier before Wednesday night's meeting.

Gaglardi's announcement came at a hastily-called press conference following today's cabinet meeting which he said gave approval to the new rate.

The rate is the one recommended by an inter-departmental committee which studied the costs of 10 representative rest homes following pressure for an increase last year.

The government increased the rate on an interim basis last fall from $135 a month to $150 a month.

'Chickenfeed' Reaction

Earlier today Gaglardi said he was "sure" that the rest home operators wouldn't go through with their threat of evicting welfare guests.

He said they are "good citizens" and "you don't do business that way."

He also revealed that the cabinet had given approval some time ago to a reduction in the percentage of welfare guests that rest homes must take from 33 to 15.

But he said later that the government neither intends to force those homes which have less than 15 per cent to reach that level nor necessarily to allow those that exceed it to evict guests or come down to the level.

Hanrahan said the 15 per cent figure, which hasn't been make known to his association, would have little effect in any case because it would still impose burdens too heavy for operators to carry if rates are inadequate.

Health Minister Ralph Loffmark said today he feels the "problem" of the operators will dissipate when the government opens its newly-announced institutions for care of elderly welfare and low-income persons.

Hanrahan said he doesn't like the idea of segregating the poor into large institutions. There should be smaller homes in which the income groups are mixed but an adequate rate is paid by or for all persons, he said.

The new 15 per cent welfare case level is government policy, Gaglardi said, but a cabinet order which last year set the level at one-third of beds hasn't been rescinded, he added.

Hanrahan said the government can't force a private industry to take any percentage of welfare recipients and said he regretted that his own rest home couldn't afford to take any at the government rate.

Queen to Skip Tricky Pass

The royal yacht Britannia will bypass the heavily-used Active Pass when she brings the royal visitors from Vancouver to Victoria Monday.

Avoiding the area where the B.C. ferry Queen of Victoria and the Russian freighter Sergey Yesenin collided Aug. 2, 1970, the yacht's course will take her through Boundary Pass, between Saturna and Waldron Island, and up Haro Strait.

She is expected to be in the vicinity of the Ogden Point breakwater shortly after 6 p.m. and will be docking in the Inner Harbor at 7 p.m.

★ ★ ★

Aboard the Britannia with the Queen, Prince Philip and Princess Anne will be Governor-General and Mrs. Roland Michener, Prime Minister and Mrs. Pierre Trudeau, Premier and Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett.

The Britannia leaves Esquimalt Friday at 9 a.m. en route to Vancouver.

Two Canadian armed forces Voyageur helicopters will be flown from Edmonton this weekend to take part in the royal tour of B.C.

'Checkpoint Doctor' All the Way

Competitors in the 4,800-mile B.C. Centennial car rally from Ottawa to Victoria will be doing their bit for science as well as competing for a share of the $25,000 in prizes, trophies and prize money.

Jim Bowie of Vancouver, co-ordinator and B.C. director for car rallies of the Canadian Automobile Sports Club, said today teams of doctors will be be examining the competitors along the route.

"The federal department that researches causes of automobile accidents have arranged to have doctors all along the way, testing for auto fatigue.

●

"This will be a pretty strenuous rally. Each car has two drivers who spell each other. Uusually, they will be driving for 24 hours then having a 12-hour rest."

Prime Miniister Trudeau is the rally's honorary chief steward and is expected to start the race at 8 p.m. June 23 in Ottawa.

Although the entries will be limited to 125, organizers feel that a good 30 per cent will fall by the wayside.

●

Tom Burgess and Garry Wikjord of Vancouver, who are helping Bowie, said the route will be no picnic. It will use a high percentage of back roads, some of them in pretty treacherous condition.

Burgess warns: "The cars will have to be pretty reliable. There are some very tough roads that will be hard on suspensions, tires, brakes and major components."

There will be both individual and team entries and Wikjord says that spectators will probably see backup crews of team entries changing whole engine units along the way.

More than 1,000 volunteers will man the 100-odd checkpoints, some of them driving as much as 400 miles to do their stint.

Although the bulk of the competitors will be Canadians, enquiries have come in from South Africa and Australia and entries are expected from all parts of Europe.

The last stretch of the rally will be from Nanaimo to Beacon Hill Park.

$5,000 Damage In Saanich Blaze

Saanich firemen battled a $5,000 house fire for three hours Wednesday night at 308 Obed.

A fire department spokesman said two trucks responded to the call at 9:35 p.m. and found the house of Neil Driedger in flames.

They confined the blaze to the rear of the house where a bedroom, closet and the roof received $4,000 damage. Another $1,000 damage was done to contents of the house.

Fire officials said the cause of the fire was still unknown this morning.

GUESS WHO'S producing this happy grin. Here's a hint: it's someone who knows a lot about smiles. That means it has to be Jerry Gosley, after Greater Victoria school trustees decided to rent Oak Bay Junior High auditorium for his Smile Show this summer. After a history of 18 years the revue was in danger of ending this year for lack of a suitable site to perform.

MEDIATOR KEEPS SIDES TALKING

Union and city hall negotiators remained closeted at noon today in an effort to avoid a strike by 270 outside civic workers.

Local 50 of the Canadian Union of Public Employees turned down a two-year 15 per cent wage hike offer by the city last week. A 72-hour countdown to a strike will begin if provincially-appointed mediator Clark Gilmour reports to the B.C. Mediation Commission that he is unable to bring the two sides together.

Gilmour called the meeting of the two sides today despite the fact talks broke down last week after council adamantly rejected the idea of an improved offer and union members showed no signs of budging on their threat to strike.

The workers are city employees involved in maintenance, streets, parks and public works. The city's negotiating team, lawyer Ed Pearlman, city manager Bill Hooson and personnel director Terry Fitzpatrick, met earlier this morning before entering negotiation rooms along with union negotiators and Gilmour at 10 a.m.

It was not known what part of the contract offer may provide room for further negotiation.

Building Equipment Damages Beach

Ted Hart, municipal administrator, said the beach is coated with mud.

"The construction of the sea wall was under contract," he said. "We are investigating the matter. We are anxious to protect our few remaining small beaches from being damaged."

Hart said a building permit was issued by the municipality to G. S. Reeson for the construction of a home, plus a sea wall to prevent erosion.

He said the matter of mud on the beach is being taken up with federal and provincial authorities.

No Hole in One This Time

Saanich council played a couple of holes Wednesday night — and ended up at the same place they started.

It was all over an Item 5679-2, improvements to Cedar Hill golf course.

The provisional budget set aside $10,000 for this expense.

First up was a motion to cut it to $5,000. The motion failed.

Then they tried $10,000 — it too failed.

Enter the compromise — $7,500. It also failed.

Back to square one — a motion to cut the $10,000 to $5,000 passed.

"We certainly went around the course," said Ald. Frank Waring.

ESQUIMALT SURVEY SHOWS

Parents Favor Corporal Punishment

A survey of 101 Esquimalt parents shows they are strongly in favor of retaining corporal punishment and dress regulations in schools.

Parents who answered a questionnaire sent out by Macaulay Elementary principal Hector Sutherland were 93 per cent in favor of compulsory education.

They also thought the most serious problems in education are a lack of discipline and large classes.

About 380 of the questionnaires were distributed to parents in March, and 101 were returned.

Asked about discipline, 73 per cent felt it was not strict enough, 21 were satisfied and three per cent thought it was too strict.

The parents were almost unanimous in agreeing with the statement that the pupil-teacher ratio should not exceed 35-1, and a few amended it to read 30-1 or 25-1.

About 24 per cent expressed agreement with the statement that school is a "waste of time," but 74 per cent disagreed.

Fifty-seven per cent could recall criticizing schools for some reason or another, but only 12 per cent said they had heard good things.

Opinion was divided on the question of teachers' right to strike. 52 per cent against strikes, 38 per cent for, and 10 per cent had no opinion.

Eighty-three per cent said there should be dress and grooming regulations, and 85 per cent favored retaining corporal punishment.

There was a strong demand for courses in sex education (88), drug education (92) and French (75). Only 22 per cent supported religious instruction.

EARLIER THIS WEEK, I expressed a hope held by many Victorians that the late Queenie of Beacon Hill park will be replaced by a horse worthy to fill her oversize hoofprints. I'm also aware that some thought has been given to a farm-type zoo at Beacon Hill.

Today I can announce that if Victoria through her good parksmen decides to set up a childrens' farm, two interested citizens are willing to supply the livestock.

To wit: one big black mare of working breed; one pony; each spring, several ewes with their lambs, also a cow and her calf.

The offer comes from John Olson, co-owner with his brother, Keith, of the Strathcona hotel and that familiar though sometimes disputed tourist attraction—the horse-drawn Tally-Ho service.

But not to look a proffered gift horse in the teeth, here's the story.

"If they want a replacement for Queenie," John Olson told me, "we'll be glad to contribute a marvellous old mare. Her name is Babe. She's about 22 years old, a magnificent beast, and she spent 12 years on the Tally-Ho."

Last year, Olson went on, Babe retired from active service. So did veteran Tally-Ho man Roy Lidstone, now 80, but still the outfit's barn boss. He and Babe are old friends, and Lidstone was concerned about what the future might hold for her.

"I'll tell you what we did," said Olson. "We got two bottles of champagne, then we tied Babe to a center post of the barn, and the crew gathered round. We held a retirement ceremony for that mare, and at the end, we toasted her in champagne.

"Then I promised Roy Lidstone that Babe would spend the rest of her life at pasture. That's where she is now, out at the 5,000-acre ranch we lease from the Department of National Defence on Rocky Point."

We talked about wise old Babe a while longer. How well she conducted herself in traffic. How she would halt at a stop sign without command.

"So if Victoria would like her for Beacon Hill park," John Olson said, "we'll turn her over."

He thought for a moment, then said, "They ought to have a pony, too. We'll give them a pony. Children like lambs. Every spring, we'll bring in some ewes and their lambs."

By this time, we could both see the children's farm pretty clearly. A happy place: kids would love it.

"And a cow," Olson said, filling out the list, "with her calf."

So there it is, an offer with no strings attached, for Victoria to consider in this Centennial year.

For myself, I like the sound of it!

A well-matured lady of this town writes to reveal that she was called upon a few days ago by a young man who introduced himself as a university student. He explained that he was taking a "public relations course" which required him to find people who would lend an ear while he spoke on any topic for 10 minutes.

If you've heard this familiar pitch, you know what's coming. The discourse somehow swung around to magazines. Our subject can now look forward to $16 of Maclean's, which really shouldn't countenance such oblique tactics by its representatives.

She signed with her eyes open. As she explains it, she didn't mind helping the boy make a buck in a year when jobs are scarce. But she feels that others less able to pay stand to be hurt by this dubious practice.

She cites the case of an old man who was persuaded to part with double the amount, which he can't by any means afford.

This sort of hanky-panky blooms regularly as the flowers of spring.

Player Group Forces Hockey Investigation

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Complaints from a players' association have brought about a U.S. justice department investigation of the National Hockey League, the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle reported in this morning's editions.

In a copyright story by Hans Tanner, the paper said the Professional Hockey Players Association had submitted 27 pages of individual player complaints to federal investigators.

"The justice department was astounded at the amount and contents of the information we provided," said Curt Leichner, the association's general counsel.

The association represents players in the American and Western hockey leagues. Leichner said the association has charged that National Hockey League rules have unfairly forced many players out of the game.

He said the players also complained of inadequate medical payments and of the reserve clause which binds a player to his team.

"We feel the hockey players, especially those on the minor league level, are being exploited," Leichner said.

INQUIRY CONFIRMED

The Democrat and Chronicle said a justice department spokesman had confirmed the investigation, saying:

"We'll be contacting the various National League teams in the near future. We have been obtaining statements and information from other sources now."

The spokesman said the league was under United States jurisdiction because it does business in this country.

Leichner said the player's main complaint concerned rules for so-called "development clubs." Under NHL rules, he said, 10 of the 16 players on development clubs must be under 26, with goaltenders exempted.

Leichner said that when the NHL expanded, each club was required to have a development club, forcing many older players out of the game.

He said the players have charged that they were discriminated against because of their age.

Leichner said he and his law partner had been gathering evidence since November and have met with justice department officials several times.

All but eight of the 280 players in the American and Western Leagues belong to the association, he said.

BILL WALKER

There was this informal commentary on golf the other day, and it included the Masters. This is a tournament of some stature and, for those who don't know, is sponsored annually by the directors of the Augusta National Golf Club. Naturally, questions were raised, as they always are.

Such as: What about the unofficial color bar? Will a Negro ever get to play in the Masters? For entry is by invitation only, and is limited.

Al Balding, one of Canada's two ranking professionals of the moment (George Knudson is the other) thinks so. It has to come about eventually, he suggests, because one day a negro golfer will likely win the U.S. Open or place high enough on the USPGA money-winners' list that he can't conveniently be ignored.

But such has not been the case up to now. For, among other things, Augusta is noted for the fact that membership is white, wealthy, male, mostly Protestant, and low in number.

Which may or may not have resulted in the coincidence that so far only whites have played there, and blacks have caddied.

There was a fuss a few years ago, Balding explained of the charge that Augusta galleries are strangely void of blacks as well. The blacks were picketing the course, he said, when suddenly tournament directors invited them all in. It was at the regular fee of $5 a head, of course. None accepted. Either, they didn't have the $5, or they didn't have the nerve.

At any rate, Balding feels the Negro player does have a chance to make it to the course. Some of the tournament directors are concerned over the racial criticisms, he pointed out, even if the tournament's high pooh-bah Cliff Roberts isn't. Roberts, a retired investment banker, co-founded the event in 1934 with Bobby Jones and still believes it has a special prominence, which apparently doesn't yet include invitations to Negros.

Balding was in town last week on a two-fold purpose. He was appearing primarily at the invitation of The Bay to promote a new line of golf clubs for Mr. Average golfer ("they're lighter," he explained); and he also was feeling good about his association with Peter Jackson cigarettes, and their sponsorship of the Canadian golf tour.

For Al has been hired as a consultant with P-J to help co-ordinate the Canadian and provincial championships into a smooth-functioning national operation.

The object of the partnership is to put some semblance of reason into the tour, to eventually transform it into a top-line secondary circuit which the lesser-known U.S. pros, and Canadians, could participate in, and to generally make the tournaments more attractive to fans as well as the players.

"I played in a few tournaments in Canada last year," Balding revealed. "But I didn't enjoy some of them." He cited the B.C. Open at Richmond as "terrible."

"We took six hours to play one round," he charged.

This is ridiculous, Balding suggested. He explained that on the U.S. tour, the early starters could get around in about 3¼ hours, and the latter ones would take up to 4½ hours at the most.

It is Balding's contention that too many players are allowed entry into provincial tournaments. "They don't even have to earn their position." And they really don't bother to practice once they are in," he said. "If they had to qualify for the tournament, there would be much more incentive. They'd practice, and they'd do better."

"This alone would make for better golf, and by cutting down the fields, the golf would improve and the game could be concluded more quickly. Everybody, the golfer and the fan, would be happy."

And if the cluttering up of the courses by nobodies is Balding's pet peeve, he intends to do something about it. "In my position, I have to work with the provincial organizations. True they have their own rules for determining tournament entries. This is fine. But if I can suggest improvement I will, and I already have."

Balding plans to play in all the major provincial tournaments and the Canadian Open this year as part of his consultant's position.

Regarding the future, he feels that with some long-range planning, golf could be made more lucrative to the Canadian pro than it is now.

"Fellows like J. C. Snead, Sam's nephew," he pointed out, "have been playing on the tour for five years. But it was only this year Snead hit the big money. Before that, he wasn't exempted from qualifying for many of the tournaments. And if he didn't make it on Monday's qualifying round for the few places open in the tournament on Thursday, then he was out of work for that week. And there are many like him."

Balding also envisaged the Canadian tour eventually hooking up with one in Japan, and perhaps throughout the Orient. This seemingly is the ultimate in his opinion as a companion event for the richer U.S. gold trail, and would open the door for many golfers who can't afford the luxury of travelling the U.S. circuit.

And if he thinks this is feasible in the predictable future, would he be interested in a role such as commissioner of Canadian golf?

"Could be," he said. "That's part of my job now — advising people."

IMPETUOSITY . . . poor outsider

Bold and Able Gets Post Spot

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — A field of 21 horses, the second largest in the history of the event, was entered today for Saturday's running of the Kentucky Derby.

In the draw for post position, Calumet Farms' Bold and Able drew the coveted No. 1 spot, but Eastern Fleet, his stablemate, drew far to the outside in No. 18.

There was a strong possibility that a starting gate with only 20 stalls would be used, unless Churchill Downs officials change their minds. That means Impetuosity would start outside the gate.

"I'll try to live with it. What else can I do?" said trainer George Poole.

Poole had no luck at all. Twist the Axe, his second horse, drew No. 12.

Jim French, the Santa Anita Derby winner, drew number 11.

Going out from the rail, the post positions were: Bold and Able in No. 1, followed by Going Straight, Sole Mio, Saigon Warrior, Jrs. Arrowhead, Royal Leverage, Barbizon Streak, Vegas Vic, Unconscious, On the Money, Jim French, Twist the Axe, Canonero II, Knight Counter, Bold Reason, Tribal Line, Helio Rise, Eastern Fleet, List, Fourulla and the unfortunate Impetuosity.

Emile Undecided About His Lineup

NEW YORK (CP) — Emile Francis hopes his New York Rangers play as well against Chicago Black Hawks tonight as they did Tuesday night in Chicago.

That may sound surprising since the Rangers lost that game 3-2, but the Ranger coach-general manager thinks his team played a great game despite the loss.

"All I know," Francis said Wednesday, "is that if we get the same great effort from everyone and again in Chicago Sunday afternoon, we're going to get into the finals against either Montreal or the North Stars."

If Francis doesn't get a great effort from the Rangers tonight there will be no Sunday afternoon in Chicago for the Blueshirts. Chicago leads the best-of-seven National Hockey League Stanley Cup semi-finals 3-2 and could wrap it up tonight.

Francis revised his lineup for Tuesday's game, benching Ted Irvine, Bruce MacGregor and Dave Balon and playing Glen Sather, Ron Stewart and Rod Seiling in order to get more checking into the game.

"I'm still undecided just what form our team will take" for tonight's game, Francis said. "The situation changes from game to game.

"It can also change within the game. I could start the same Tuesday lineup and make changes before the game is over."

Tuesday's 3-2 overtime loss came on a 35-foot slap shot from Bobby Hull after a faceoff won deep in Ranger territory by Pit Martin in overtime.

Martin won the faceoff from Walt Tkaczuk.

"He was beating me all night," Martin said. "But finally in the third period, I seemed to be getting my timing back."

CAT OWNERS TURN DOWN PURCHASE BID

Managing director Eric Bishop of the Victoria Cougars of the B.C. Junior Hockey League confirmed today that the club is not for sale.

Bishop revealed that an offer of $50,000 had been made recently to the Calgary group which owns the Cougars by a Victoria group, but that the offer had been rejected.

This was basically the same price which was paid for the Cougars when the club changed hands a year ago.

Columbus One Point Behind United Squad

VANCOUVER — Columbus again moved to within one point of leading Victoria United in the Pacific Coast Soccer League by defeating cellar-dwelling UBC Thunderbirds 4-0 Tuesday at Empire Stadium.

United has only one match remaining in the regular season while Columbus has two.

Columbus turned the match Tuesday into a rout in the second half as Vanni Lenarduzzi, Sergio Zanatta, George Zambrano and Victor Kodelja broke through the student defence to score.

Wirtanen Surprises As Irish Topple A's

Goalie Sharp; Bryant, Dhillon Top Scorers

By STEW LANG

Victoria Shamrocks mixed a strong team effort with the spectacular goaltending of young Dave Wirtanen on Wednesday night to defeat Coquitlam Adanacs 12-7 in their third and final game of the preseason Sid Greenwood Memorial Trophy tournament for Western Lacrosse Association clubs.

Playing before a sparse crowd in Memorial Arena, the Irish outscored Adanacs 3-2 in the first period, 5-2 in the second and faltered a little in the third before dominating that frame, 4-3.

Wirtanen, who made 45 saves for Rocks compared to a combined total of 34 for Coquitlam's Dave Wedlock and Terry Garrett, seemed to do little wrong in the net.

He was seldom out of position and handled shots in a calm and efficient manner.

STOPPED BREAKS

In each of the first two periods, Wirtanen provided the fans with some flashy saves on breakaways by John Allan and Mike Mitzel, respectively. And in the final minute, he again cheated Allan and Mike Gates on breakaway attempts.

Allan was second and Gates fourth in league scoring last season.

Victoria's offence was led by young Muzz Bryant, who along with Wirtanen saw only limited action with Shamrocks last season, and veteran Charn Dhillon, each with three goals and an assist.

Other Irish players enjoying four-point nights were Tom Somner, with two goals and two assists, Ray Beech (1-3) and Nirmal Dillon, with four "helpers."

All in all, it was a quiet game. Only 18 minutes in penalties were handed out by referees Wally Henderson and Paul Morneau — including 10 to Shamrocks.

START SLOWLY

Coquitlam had the edge in play during the first period and forced the home club to make several turnovers. The rest of the game belonged to the Shamrocks.

Coquitlam scored three goals in the start of the third period to cut the margin to 10-7, but Rocks bounced right back to collect two quick tallies, and sew up the victory.

Instead of giving up when the pace got hot in the third period they forged ahead to "widen the margin."

Bert Bertoia, the other half of the coaching duo, added the observation:

"We were making them come to us, they were getting the calls and we were getting the ball."

SEASON OPENS

Shamrocks, who lost their first two games in the round-robin tourney, open the WLA season on Tuesday against Burrards in Vancouver and return to Memorial Arena on Wednesday for an 8 p.m. encounter with the same club.

In the remaining Greenwood Tournament games, Vancouver plays at New Westminster tonight in a match between unbeaten squads and New Westminster visits Coquitlam on Saturday.

Fergie to Miss Tonight's Game

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (CP) — The loss of Ted Harris to Minnesota North Stars last June left a gaping hole in the left side of the Montreal Canadiens defence.

MacNeil, here for tonight's sixth game of the Stanley Cup semi-final against the Stars, said young Guy Lapointe has proved he can handle the spot vacated by Harris.

The Canadiens lead the best-of-seven series 3-2, and the 23-year-old Lapointe has played a solid role in helping the Canadiens in their search for an unprecedented 18th Stanley Cup.

COACHED HIM BEFORE

MacNeil coached Lapointe with Montreal Voyageurs of the American Hockey League last season and with Houston Apollos of the Central League the previous year.

This season, Lapointe blossomed as a National Hockey League regular although his exploits have been overshadowed by publicity accorded the scoring feats of several other first-year players.

Lapointe played a full 78-game schedule and scored 15 goals and assisted on 29 others while spending 107 minutes in the penalty box.

FERGUSON OUT

Ferguson did not make the trip here with the team because of an injury to his left hip picked up in Montreal's 6-1 victory at home Tuesday night.

The veteran hardrock said after visiting doctors in Montreal Wednesday "some fibre has been torn away from the muscle and at the moment there is no way of telling how long it will take to come around."

Ferguson's injury had earlier been diagnosed as a bad bruise.

The North Stars, facing elimination, will still be without veteran defenceman Doug Mohns and goalie Lorne (Gump) Worsley tonight.

Mohns tried to skate on his injured left leg at Minnesota's Wednesday workout but was forced to leave the ice while Worsley remained on the limp because of a groin injury.

Cesare Maniago will be the North Stars starting goaltender but once again MacNeil declined to name his starting netminder. He has used rookie Ken Dryden in all playoff games this year.

The game is scheduled for 6:05 p.m. PDT and will be carried nationally by CBC television network.

McDOWELL FAILS AGAIN . . . . . GIANT OUTFIELD SPARKLES

Sam Sadder Since Fastball Not Smoking

By The Associated Press

Sam McDowell wanted more wampum and Cleveland Indians told their ace southpaw that he could take his fastball and go and whistle in the dark.

So all of a sudden, Sam settled for $72,000 and unhappily reported to spring training camp this year, vowing to have a great season despite bitter feelings against manager Alvin Dark.

"I intend to have another good year for the Indians, but that doesn't mean I have to like working for them," said the strikeout master.

The best-laid plans of pitchers often go astray, however, and McDowell is off to one of his worst starts. He hasn't won a game, and Wednesday night departed suddenly before Cleveland took a 3-2 decision over California Angels.

Prior to Wednesday night's no-decision, McDowell lost 3-0 to Baltimore Orioles, 4-0 to Washington Senators and 5-2 to Kansas City Royals.

In the other American League games, Boston Red Sox battered Milwaukee Brewers 10-3, Washington tripped Minnesota Twins 4-3, Detroit Tigers edged Kansas City 2-1 in 10 innings and Oakland Athletics took Baltimore 5-4. Rain postponed Chicago at New York.

McDowell waited a long time before deciding to report to spring training. Dark said the contract made McDowell the second highest paid pitcher in the American League. Baltimore's Dave McNally was first with a reported $85,000.

McDowell, however, was seeking $100,000.

While McDowell has been having trouble earning his pay in Cleveland, the San Francisco outfield has been paying off handsomely for the Giants in the National League.

Willie Mays singled home the winning run Tuesday and Bobby Bonds and George Foster got into the act Wednesday as the Giants defeated Atlanta Braves 5-3.

Foster ripped two singles, a double and his third homer, driving in three runs, and Bonds slammed home run No. 6 as the game's first hitter.

Elsewhere in the National, New York Mets battered St. Louis Cardinals 9-1, Pittsburgh Pirates held off Los Angeles Dodgers 7-5, Chicago Cubs nipped Montreal Expos 3-2, Cincinnati Reds edged San Diego Padres 6-5 and Houston Astros downed Philadelphia Phillies 4-3 in 10 innings.

Mays and Bonds are old hands at hammering National League hurlers. Now Foster is coming on strong after a slow start.

"He's starting to feel like he knows he can do it," said manager Charlie Fox, whose club leads the West by 4½ games.

Foster rapped a run-scoring single in the first inning, an RBI double in the fourth, a solo homer in the sixth and another single in the eighth. Hank Aaron, who got his 600th home run a night earlier, drove in two of the Braves' runs, moving into a sixth-place tie on the all-time list with Mel Ott at 1,860.

The Mets, who whipped St. Louis 12 times in 18 games last year, made it three in a row over the Cards behind Ed Kranepool's continued hot hitting and Gary Gentry's seven-hit pitching. Kranepool drove in three runs with as many hits.

Ron Santo's infield hit with the bases loaded in the ninth inning gave the Cubs their winning run and foiled Montreal manager Gene Mauch's strategy of a five-man infield to protect against a ground ball finding a hole. Santo's roller struck third base. Jim Hickman homered for the Cubs' first two runs.

OUTDOOR SCENE

By Barry M. Thornton

During May most winter steelhead anglers either put their tackle away for another season or begin to explore the west coast streams for the early runs of summer steelhead. The winter season appears at an end for most Island steelheaders. However, unique to Vancouver Island and to B.C. is a very late run of true winter steelhead migrating in the Browns River, a small tributary of the Puntledge, during May.

This very late season run of true winter steelhead is a result of the peculiar characteristics of the Browns River watershed. The lowland section of the river at the most is only three miles to its confluence with the Puntledge. Upstream the river cascades down a steep and relatively inaccessible gorge at the head of which is an impassable falls. Further upstream the multiple watershed tributaries feed from the high Forbidden Plateau.

During the winter months lowland rainstorms have little or no effect on the very low flows of the Browns as its feeding watershed is usually encased in fresh snow. It is only in late spring when the snow of the plateau begins to melt that the river's flow increases. This usually occurs late in April when a few early fish will descend the stream. However, the main run of winter steelhead arrives shortly after the first of May providing excellent winter shirtsleeve steelheading through to the first week in June.

* * *

Access to the Browns River is from four points. The major access is from the Forbidden Plateau road where it crosses the stream. A short side road on the south side of the stream at this point leads to an angler's trail following the south bank of the river to the falls. These falls are a series of pools which are without a doubt the major holding pools for the steelhead until higher water conditions persuade them to continue upstream.

Upstream from the bridge "bushwhacking" access is available also on the south side of the stream to the Crown Zellerback-Wolf Lake access road which crosses the stream almost a mile above the Plateau road.

Access to these upper fishable reaches above the Wolf Lake logging road is from the junction of the plateau road and the Wolf Lake access road. Anglers can park their cars near this junction and walk the few hundred yards along the Wolf Lake road to the river.

Access to the mouth of the river where it flows into the Puntledge River and hence to fishing pools on the Puntledge also fishable for this late season run are from the following power line points.

On reaching the power line on the Forbidden Plateau Road turn left on the small dirt road and drive the few hundred yards to the top of the hill overlooking the Browns River. The confluence of the Browns and the Puntledge is only a few hundred yards downstream and is reached by following the road on foot down the hill and fishing downstream.

* * *

Visible on the far hill is the second power line access which is reached by following the Power House Road off Lake Trail Road from Courtenay. Just prior to reaching the power line turn right on the dirt road and follow this to the top of the hill. Visible below is the Puntledge River. To fish the pools downstream from the confluence of the Browns walk downstream on the south side of the Puntledge River. However, to reach the Browns, wade the Puntledge and then cross the short hill between the two rivers.

Pools and specific holding water on the Browns are very limited. This is due primarily to the sandstone and lava bottom of the stream bed being almost devoid of gravel. To be successful anglers must fish every stretch of deeper water regardless of its depth. When water conditions are ideal, that is when the stream appears high and slightly colored, virtually every sizeable rock is a holt for these steelhead.

Often in May very clear water appears to make success almost impossible. Under these conditions many anglers will follow the higher banks looking for holding steelhead. When found these fish can be taken with lighter tackle and often will startle winter steelhead anglers with their visual strikes.

Shirtsleeve weather, clusters of trilliums, and flowering dogwoods are all synonymous with May steelheading on the Browns.

School Relays Deadline Tonight

Midnight tonight is the new deadline for entries in the all-school relays scheduled to run next week at Centennial Stadium.

Meet director Ron Bowker announced Wednesday that the deadline would be moved ahead a day.

Approximately 2,000 student competitors from southern Vancouver Island elementary, junior high and high schools are expected to enter the 42 regular and five invitational events.

Former Champions Bid For Honors in Rolloffs

Six former champions are scheduled to be on the starting line at Mayfair Lanes Sunday when tenpinners bid for cash, trophies and titles in Bowler-of-the Year rolloffs.

Beginning on Oct. 3, pin-busters on southern Vancouver Island lanes competed for 26 weeks in the eighth annual Bowler-of-the-Week contest sponsored by the Daily Times, chasing weekly awards in four divisions — tenpin and fivepin sections for both men and women.

Each winner of a weekly award qualified for the rolloffs, which means that 26 bowlers are eligible for title competition in each division. Fivepinners will be the first to swing into action in Sunday's rolloffs, hitting the boards at Town and Country at 1 p.m. Tenpinners start shooting for strikes and spares at Mayfair at 2:30 p.m.

TROPHIES FOR WINNERS

Each of the four winners of Bowler-of-the-Year titles will receive a Times Trophy and any rolloff champion who is a daily subscriber to the Victoria Daily Times will also receive a bonus award of $100.

Rolloff titles will be decided in three-game, scratch series under tournament rules set by the lanes involved. In the event of a tie for first place, the contestant rolling the highest single game during the rolloff will be declared the winner.

Qualifiers are requested to report at least 10 minutes prior to their starting times for assignment to lanes.

Although playoff action has a habit of wrecking hopes of favorites, you can't overlook the chances of the six former champions — three women and three men — in Sunday's tenpin scrambles.

Certainly rating as a big threat to set the pace for male keglers if Henry Loo, Bowler-of-the-Year king in the inaugural 1963-64 season and the man who rolled the second highest series (707) in the current competition.

Among other prime candidates to grab tenpin glory are former rolloff champs Bill Burke (1967) and Rick Blake (1968), and tall Roy Kerr, who fashioned the highest series (709) of the past season.

STRONG CHALLENGES

Bidding for a second crown in the women's tenpin section will be Peggy Parsons, the winner in 1966, Muriel Dodsworth (1968) and Lorna Pollock (1970), but they will be facing challenges from several other talented trundlers, including the pair who recorded the highest scores of the 1970-71 contest — Marlene Mitchell (635) and Coby Lobezoo (618).

Here are the tenpin qualifiers, listed in order of the weeks in which they qualified:

Moss Grounded For Six Months

LONDON (AP)—Stirling Moss, the former Grand Prix racing ace, was banned from driving for six months Wednesday for a traffic offence, but he was allowed to drive home pending the appeal.

Suburban Thames magistrates were told that the 41-year-old Moss gave the "V" sign to an off-duty policeman when passing him at a no passing area.

Moss was fined a total of $82 for crossing a double white centre road line and for driving without consideration.

Softball Circuit Reduced to Three

It is often said that good things come in small packages.

And this adage might apply to this season's version of the Victoria Major Men's Softball League, which has shrunk to three teams from six but has improved the calibre of talent in each club.

From last season only Bates Construction and Strathcona Hotel remain. Seaboard Construction has replaced Denford Electric and Molsons while Lake Cowichan and Langford Drywall have dropped out.

Following the season-openers this Sunday, all league games throughout the summer will take place Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

First game of the season is at 2 p.m. Sunday between Bates and Seaboards, then Bates and Strathcona clash in the second game at 6:30 p.m.

LINEUPS STRENGTHENED

League-president John Oster points out that reducing the league to three teams has enabled the remaining squads to make many improvements in their lineups.

Bates have picked up several players from other city teams and have signed Nanaimo pitchers Bob Swanson and Ken Larson to share hurling chores with coach Barry Jackson.

Seaboards have signed Glen Bullen of Molsons for pitching duties which will be shared with Barry Wilkin, a hurler last season for Denford.

Strathcona Hotel's pitching staff will be formed around Geoff Hett, a southpaw who starred with Century Inn a few seasons ago and has returned to Victoria after completing his education.

Complementing the regular league schedule are round-robin series against squads from Campbell River and Courtenay on at least three weekends.

Also on tap is the invitational round-robin tournament on May 21-24 involving the three league entries, Campbell River and two teams from Seattle.

OLDTIMERS TO TRAVEL

WINNIPEG (CP) — Manitoba Oldtimers' Hockey Club will tour Europe next February and play about five games against teams on Canadian forces bases, James Richardson, federal minister of supply and services, has announced.

GIRL-WATCHING GAME PROVES PROFITABLE!

The lucky winner, who wants to remain anonymous, found a pools coupon on a cafeteria table. He decided on a "safe" system.

This is how he made his fortune.

He put a home win on the coupon for man passing by the cafeteria window, a draw for every child and an away for every beautiful girl.

With the help of eight beautiful Stockholm girls, three children and two men passing by the window, he now will collect the top prize on the 13-result pool at a cost of only 15 cents.

Fulham Returns To 2nd Division

LONDON (CP) — Fulham clinched promotion to the Second Division of the English Football League Wednesday night when it scored a 3-2 victory over Bradford City.

With 60 points and one match still to play, Fulham leads the Third Division standings by three points over Preston North End, which has a match in hand.

Former Arsenal player George Johnston scored two of Fulham's goals and Barry Lloyd got the other one.

Wolverhampton Wanderers and Tottenham Hotspur lost chances of improving their positions near the top of the First Division when they were held to draws. Wolves were tied 0-0 by Ipswich Town and Tottenham 1-1 by Huddersfield Town.

Notts County, runaway winners of the Fourth Division, set a points scoring record for the division with a 2-1 win at Crewe. With one match to play, Notts has 68 points — two more than the previous best for the Fourth Division.

RYUN TO RUN IN VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER (CP) — Jim Ryun, the world's fastest miler, will compete in Canada for the first time Saturday at the Vancouver Relays meet.

Ryun, who holds the world mile record of 3:51.1, will not compete in the mile event at the Vancouver meet, but will contest the 5000 metres, an event he has run only once.

Ryun will be joined at the 33rd annual meet by former world pole vault record-holder Bob Seagren of Southern California.

EUROPEAN SOCCER

Yugoslavs Surprised

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Favorite Ajax Amsterdam and outsider Panathinaikos Athens qualified Wednesday night to meet in the 1971 European Cup soccer final at London's Wembley Stadium June 2.

Panathinaikos became the first Greek team to reach the final of Europe's top club soccer competition when it staged a remarkable second-leg comeback to beat Red Star Belgrade, 3-0. The Yugoslav champions the aggregate score 4-4, but won the first leg, 4-1, making Panathinaikos won as away goals count double in the event of a tie.

Ajax scored a more predictable 3-0 victory over Atletico Madrid and reached the final for the second time in three years. Two goals in the last 14 minutes earned Ajax a 3-1 aggregate triumph and gave Holland a representative in the final for the third successive year.

Real Madrid, trying to recapture the glory of its six European Cup victories, reached the Cup Winners Cup final at the first attempt by beating PSV Eindhoven, 2-1, and will play Chelsea in the final in Athens May 19.

Real, unimpressive in earlier rounds of the competition, played to a scoreless draw in the first leg in Holland.

A blunder by goalkeeper Ron Healey ended Manchester City's defence of the Cup Winners Cup. Healey dropped a free kick into his own net to give Chelsea a 1-0 win and a 2-0 aggregate triumph in this all-English semi-final.

Leeds United reached the European Fairs Cup final for the third time in five years when a goalless second-leg draw gave them a 1-0 victory over fellow English challengers Liverpool.

Leeds' opponents in the two-leg final May 26 and June 3 will be Italy's Juventus, who followed up a one-one first leg draw by beating FC Cologne, 2-0.

BUCKS RACK UP FIFTH STRAIGHT

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee Bucks, forced to beat back several Baltimore surges, defeated the Bullets 107-100 Wednesday night to take a 3-0 lead in their National Baketball Association playoff championship.

The next game is Friday night in Baltimore.

Milwaukee's Bob Dandridge paced the Bucks with 29 points while Lew Alcindor added 23 and Oscar Robertson 19. High for Baltimore were Jack Marin with 21, Wes Unseld with 20 and Kevin Kloughery with 19.

The Bucks jumped from a 54-46 halftime advantage to a 16-point lead at 68-52 before running into a five-minute stretch in which they scored just two points.

Baltimore pulled within a basket at 70-68 before Lucius Allen scored four of the next five points to send the Bucks off and winging again.

Young Recruits Signed by Esks

EDMONTON (CP) — The Eskimo Football Club has announced the signings of Canadian defensive-back Don Tallas, 21, of the University of Alberta and import offensive guard Mike Cluck, 22, of Southwest Missouri State College.

Ray Jauch, head coach of the Western Football Conference Eskimos, said that Tallas, who is six feet and weighs 175 pounds, will be used as a defensive back and backup quarterback, positions he played for two seasons with the Alberta Golden Bears.

Cluck, at six-foot-two and 250 pounds, was named last season to the Missouri intercollegiate all-conference team.

Wabash Cannon Ball: It Had Class

She's mighty tall and handsome. She's known quite well by all. She's the Wabash Cannon Ball, as familiar to railway buffs as Old No. 99 and Casey Jones. Friday the Cannon Ball rumbles and roars for the final time, on her last run.

By HUGH MORGAN

DETROIT (AP) — The stationmaster threw his hand down casually in a signal from the dimly lit, nearly empty Union Depot at 7:15 a.m. EST, and the Wabash Cannon Ball was on its way on one of its last journeys.

Engineer J. L. Miller of Detroit—44 years on the railway—sounded the bell. Looking under the peak of his Detroit Tigers' baseball cap, he eased the throttle, and on to St. Louis went the Wabash Cannon Ball, the last of the trains to carry the historic name. It is being eliminated after its run Friday, under the new government-sponsored U.S. railway system.

"Breakfast being served," chanted Wardell Price of St. Louis, a lounge car attendant for 29 years.

Price, the short-order cook, waiter, cashier, dishwasher, bartender and table cleaner, recalled the days when two cooks and three or four waiters were needed to take care of passengers.

The modern Cannon Ball has two passenger cars, a parlor car, a baggage car and an engin compared with the four or five coaches, a diner and a parlor car that used to be standard.

The Wabash Cannon Ball is a descendant of freights and passenger trains of the same name in the 1800s.

It entered the American folk culture as a hobo ballad, whose lyrics have been rewritten and revised many, many times.

Conductor Walter Kindlesparker, who started on the railway in 1929, had his wife along for a final trip on the Cannon Ball. The couple met on the train in 1964, when he chatted with her grandchildren. They started dating and were married three months later.

The Maumee River, which flows eastward into Lake Erie, was left behind. The train went over a bridge, the rails thudding with a hollow sound, and entered the Wabash River Valley.

The Cannon Ball crossed the Mississippi River and under the big archway at St. Louis.

Lightning streaked the black sky and rain fell as the train reached the yards. But it had to wait 35 minutes in the yard because a freight train was in the way.

It was 5:40 p.m. CST, an hour and 20 minutes behind schedule.

Millions Vanish From Bank

PANAMA CITY (Reuter) — A sum of $37 million, the assets of a Panamanian company supposedly deposited with a Panamanian bank, cannot be found, the National Commission of Securities reported Tuesday.

Commission Secretary Roberto Brenes said that in an investigation conducted jointly with Canadian authorities the commission discovered that the bank assets consisted of an office room, a desk, a typewriter, furniture, an automatic telephone-answering device and a Telex machine.

He named the company concerned as the Allied Fund for Capital Appreciation and the bank as the Midwest National Banking Corp.

Brenes said Canadian authorities were involved in connection with a case against two men charged at Yellowknife, Northwest Territories, with fraud involving considerable sums of money.

The securities commission said "no personnel ever worked at the bank and the only person the landlord knows is a Mr. Harry Kelly, who dropped in to the office from time to time."

He said that letters supposedly signed by the bank's chief cashier and securities trust officer were sent to the Allied Fund's auditor in West Germany confirming that Allied Fund had in deposit the so-called $37 million.

Lifejackets In Yellow Attract Sharks

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Yellow life preservers and rafts for use by persons aboard airliners in the event of a crash at sea are highly susceptible to attack by sharks, a Federal Aviation Administration scientist says.

Experiments using yellow life preservers and dummies resulted in the dummies being torn apart by sharks, Dr. Ernest McFadden, with the FAA's civil aeromedical institute, said Tuesday.

These same type preservers painted black, however, were ignored by the sharks, said the scientist. But he said he would not recommend a change in color because yellow is more easily seen from the air.

VILLAGERS MASSACRED

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former United States Army staff sergeant said Wednesday he saw the massacre of 30 Vietnamese women and children a year after the murders of civilians at My Lai.

The panel has no subpoena powers and hasn't decided whether to submit its much-publicized record to Congress.

The committee, chaired by Representative Ronald Dellums (Dem.—Calif.), has for three days listened to ex-servicemen give eyewitness accounts of indiscriminate killings of South Vietnamese and of beating, torture and murder they sometimes participated in themselves.

Notley said murders he saw were committed in the village of Truong Khanh II, Quang Ngai province, on or about April 18, 1969, 2½ months after he arrived in the country.

He said his platoon was conducting a sweep through the area, and had taken several casualties while rooting uniformed North Vietnamese from a hospital base.

Finally, he said, one of the most popular men in his unit stepped on a land mine. "He'd rather play with the Vietnamese kids and laugh and play with them, and everybody respected him for it," Notley said, "and there he was dead."

Woman Named PRO

MONTREAL (CP) — Angela Burke, public relations director with the royal commission on the status of women in Canada, has been named director of public relations for Loyola College. Miss Burke, a former newspaper reporter for the Toronto Star and Toronto Globe and Mail, also was public relations supervisor of centennial programs for the Centennial Commission in Ottawa.

MP Would Give Hike to Charity

OTTAWA (CP) — New Democrat MP Barry Mather said Wednesday he will turn whatever he would net from his government-proposed pay raise over to charity — at least until after the next election.

Mather, MP for the British Columbia riding of Surrey-White Rock, issued a personal statement describing the government move to raise parliamentary salaries as untimely and, in many cases, unwarranted.

He said he would vote against the proposal in the Commons.

The government introduced a bill Wednesday that would raise salaries of MPs to $18,000 a year from $12,000 and increase the current tax-free expense allowance to $8,000 annually from $6,000. There is no debate or voting at the introductory first-reading stage.

Emphasizing that his statement was personal, Mather said that, even though pay for MPs has been unchanged since 1963, a pay jump of 50 per cent to $18,000 is not proper with many Canadians suffering from both inflation and unemployment.

Crux Trial Adjourned

VANCOUVER (CP)—Trial of A. G. Duncan Crux, former Commonwealth Trust Company president, was adjourned Tuesday to May 6 in order to permit certain evidence to be obtained.

Crux is charged with theft and false pretences in 1968 transactions in Commonwealth companies involving an alleged $715,642. Commonwealth Trust and several related companies later declared bankruptcy.

The trial before Mr. Justice A. B. Macfarlane and a jury of 10 men and two women is in its fourth week. The Crown has completed its case.

SPEEDING MOUNTIE CASE APPEALED

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia attorney-general's department Wednesday entered an appeal against the dismissal of a speeding violation against RCMP Constable Orville Nickel. Nickel was charged following a collision Dec. 26, 1970, on the Lougheed highway in which five people were killed.

Mental Check Ordered

NANAIMO (CP) — Ian Nichol Walker, 46, of Hendrix Lake, B.C., was remanded to May 5 for further psychiatric examination when he appeared in Nanaimo court Wednesday on a charge of non-capital murder.

Hendrix is accused in the shooting of Gloria Muriel Norman, 30, of Nanaimo, killed by a single shot from a .22-calibre rifle as she sat in the lounge of a Nanaimo branch of the Royal Canadian Legion last Saturday.

Walker also is charged with attempted murder in the shooting of the woman's companion, Esko Karu, 25, of Nanaimo, who is in good condition in hospital with three bullet wounds in the face and hands.

Charge Withdrawn

VANCOUVER (CP) — A charge of rape against Brian Colin Rigby, 27, a teacher at Lord Byng secondary school, was withdrawn Wednesday in provincial court at the University of British Columbia.

Rigby was charged April 5 with raping a 21-year-old girl student on the UBC campus.

Motion to withdraw the charge was presented by legal counsel appearing before Judge M. Ferguson.

Leave Granted

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dr. Harry S. Swain, an assistant geography professor at the University of British Columbia, has been given a one-year leave of absence to conduct research for the new department of urban affairs in Ottawa. Dr. Swain will join an eight-member research team composed of economists, geographers, a planner and a lawyer under Harvey Lithwick of Carleton University.

Fish Die

LANGLEY (CP) — Several hundred fish are reported to have died along a two-and-one-half-mile stretch of Bear Creek, which runs into Boundary Bay South of Vancouver. The dead fish include steelhead, coho and cutthroat.

Water samples have been taken from the creek for analysis by the federal fisheries department.

Wanted: National Grandeur for Canada

By BILL COULTHARD

MONTREAL (CP) — Jean Chevrier, a young lawyer and author of a book on the Canadian constitution, told the parliamentary committee on the constitution Wednesday night that Canada needs a new period of national grandeur.

Mr. Chevrier, son of former federal justice minister Lionel Chevrier, said Canada at present is at odds with its past, but must reorient its outlook and look to the future.

"The political leaders must present new challenges and new frontiers for Canada."

The joint Senate-Commons committee hearing attended by an estimated 400 persons, was the first in a predominantly French-speaking district of Montreal. It produced heavy heckling at times and proceedings were interrupted several times by chants of "Le Quebec aux Quebecois" — Quebec for Quebecers.

Paul Unterberg, unsuccessful separatist Parti Quebecois candidate in the 1970 Quebec general election, spoke from the floor as an individual.

In answer to the question "What does Quebec want?" Mr. Unterberg presented the committee with about 20 books and tracts outlining separatist and near-separatist positions by Quebec spokesmen.

The first was Pierre Valleres' Negres Blancs d'Amerique—White Negros of America.

A young woman speaking from the floor said she had felt racist humiliations from English-speaking Canadians in the suburb where she grew up, but said there was a change when terrorist bombings began during the 1960s.

"The more bombs, the less the English laughed at us," she said.

One formal brief suggested a presidential regime with the president having the same functions as the Governor-General now has. It recommended five regional provinces, four of them recognized as English-speaking and one—Quebec—recognized as French-speaking, and a permanent constitutional council to keep the constitution up to date.

A formal brief presented in English said Quebec's problems are not constitutional but social and it was immoral for the committee to be wasting time and talent on anything but social problems, including poverty and unemployment.

Canada's constitutional problems could be solved by ensuring a decent standard of living to all Canadians.

A brief from the Polish-Canadian Association said a new constitution should enshrine French-language rights in schools, courts and government dealings in all provinces.

John Bradshaw — one of Canada's foremost gardening authorities. He uses CIL Turf products on his own lawn, and recommends them on his radio shows. So we asked him to tell you how to use them. Read on.

How to grow the perfect lawn

by John Bradshaw

"Even an absolute beginner can have a lush green lawn this summer. Simply follow my advice, and use the CIL products I recommend."

The Pencil Test

Poke a pencil into the turf. If you can't penetrate 4 inches, the soil must be loosened up. Rent a lawn aerator or make your own spiker: drive 6" nails through a board, and screw on a handle. Spike the entire lawn. This lets air, food and water filter down to the roots. Next, rake out the thatch of dead grass. Now you're ready to fertilize.

When to fertilize

Feed as early as you can. Ideally, as soon as the snow melts. For the average established lawn, apply CIL Golf-green at the rate shown on the bag. It will not burn. Golf-green's special grass formula quickly builds thick green turf. Trace elements add extra color and vigor. In late June, growth slows. You normally mow about once every ten days. That's the time to feed again. (If you have a fine-textured grass, like Merion Blue, give a third feeding in Mid-August).

Watering: how often?

When grass turns blue-gray or yellow, get the water going. Not a daily sprinkle — a good 4 hour soak. Soil should be wet 2-3 inches down. Repeat the soak each time grass-colour changes.

Weeds, crabgrass, dead-spots

You can control crabgrass all season with a March application of CIL Crab Grass preventer. Just apply it like regular fertilizer. Other weeds, like chickweed, dandelion, foxtail can be taken out with CIL Weed and Feed. Apply CIL Weed and Feed as soon as weeds appear. The earlier you catch them, the better. Both these lawn products also give your lawn a good feed of safe non-burning lawn fertilizer. Dead-spots — patches of dead grass can mean grubs under the turf. Lift the dead grass. If you see grubs, apply some grub and bug killer over the whole lawn. Rough up soil under dead spots and re-seed.

Mowing

Don't cut too close, or too often. Set your mower for 1½" and mow once or twice a week. But in Summer, you shouldn't have to mow more than once every ten days. Keep blades sharp, cut regularly, and leave the short clippings on the lawn. They keep the soil moist, and provide organic material your soil needs.

Toadstools, Moss

Toadstools usually mean partly-rotted organic matter under the turf. Spike the area, apply Bordeaux mixture (from your nursery) then Golf-green. Moss means a re-seeding. Spike the area, apply CIL Acid Diet to kill moss, then re-seed with a shade-loving variety of grass. Feed with Evergreen.

New lawns

Need a special new-lawn formula fertilizer like CIL Evergreen. Work it into soil before sodding. Soak the sod after laying, and keep it moist until sod anchors to soil. After you have mown 3 times, apply CIL Evergreen at the rate shown on the bag. The following year, switch to Golf-green.

How to fertilize

Start with a good spreader. I can really recommend you rent or buy the CIL Spreader from your CIL dealer. To get a good even application, cut the recommended flow rate in half (there's a dial on the CIL spreader that lets you do this easily). Then spread your lawn criss-cross like this: Walk slowly and steadily. And always remember to open and close the feed gate only when moving.

Why I'm recommending CIL Turf Fertilizers

First Because I use them on my own lawn. I never have any trouble with weeds, or grubs. And CIL fertilizers have never burned the grass. Second You really don't have to worry about which analysis to use. Just choose the correct CIL name: Crabgrass-Preventer or Weed and Feed for sick lawns, Golf-green for established lawns, Evergreen for new lawns. Third CIL Turf Fertilizers are specially balanced to feed grass. Cheap 'General Purpose' fertilizers may do a part job — but many burn, and none are specially formulated for the lawn. So remember: look for the CIL name. Happy Gardening — and enjoy your perfect lawn this year!

CUT OUT AND KEEP

1. CIL Evergreen for new lawns

Special 'new-lawn' formula soon gets grass into shape. Won't burn; feeds for months. 50 lb. bag covers 2,500 sq. ft. per application.

2. CIL Golf-green for established lawns

Used by green keepers at big Canadian golf-courses for thick strong grass. Won't burn; feeds for months. 50 lb. bag covers up to 5,000 sq. ft. per application.

3. CIL Crabgrass Preventer — also feeds lawn, kills weed grasses

One safe application in early Spring prevents crabgrass all season. Also controls weed grasses like Foxtail and Barnyard Grass. Feeds safe non-burning lawn food. 40 lb. bag covers up to 2,000 sq. ft.

4. CIL Weed and Feed

Kills all broadleaf weeds — even tough creepers. Feeds long-lasting non-burning fertilizer. 40 lb. bag covers 4,000 sq. ft. per application.

NOISE POLLUTION EXPERT WARNS:

Mounting Traffic Din City Problem

Mounting traffic noise is the main sound-level problem facing the Victoria area, and the city has the facilities built-in to cope with it, a noise pollution authority said here Tuesday.

Cyril Duerden, in Victoria on a world-circling busman's holiday, noted the absence of heavy industry and the noise that goes with it.

"For the danger of increasing traffic noise, the answer is proper planning, particularly if you are going to consider the construction of freeways," Duerden said.

Freeways and dwellings must be kept well separated, and houses near traffic noise sources should be sound insulated when they are built.

* * *

Duerden retired two years ago after more than 40 years as a public health inspector in Britain, concentrating on noise control and abatement. He is author of many books and papers on the subject, including the definitive text Noise Abatement.

Victoria's car test centre offers an ideal chance to police noise emission from autos, he said.

"You've already got the vehicle there, and it would be a simple matter to put a sound meter on it to detect excessive muffler noise or piston slap."

Duerden said he and others have been "lecturing on noise to anyone who will listen," and the efforts are beginning to have effect. Government and industry are developing an awareness of the physical and psychological dangers of noise.

"In London, for example, there used to be 10 types of one particular compressor available in industry, nine of which were noisy and one quiet.

"Of the same number of models available, now, four are still noisy but six are quiet. That's progress.

* * *

"People want peace and quiet, at least at the weekends, and once people start asking for quiet, they'll find they can get it. Industry long has had the delusion that being quiet cost more than could be afforded, but they are finding that this isn't so.

"There are such things as Rolls Royces, you know. It can be done."

Third Canadian TV Network Proposed

By BOB DOUGLAS

MONTREAL (CP) — A third Canadian television network and a tax on cable television systems were two medicines proposed Wednesday for the ills of the TV broadcasting industry.

Al Bruner of Toronto, president of Global Communications Ltd., told the Canadian Radio-Television Commission that a third network could produce more Canadian programs and swallow up U.S. shows now viewed by Canadians on American border stations.

Toronto Telegram publisher John Bassett, president of Baton Broadcasting Ltd., urged the CRTC to introduce a 50 cent monthly charge per subscriber on cable systems using the CTV Television Network Ltd. programs. The money would be given CTV to meet microwave transmission costs.

The two ideas were outlined at CRTC hearings on the future of cable television in Canadian broadcasting.

The commission said in a February document that the future of Canadian broadcasting is threatened if cable is allowed to grow as it has.

The commission said that American television stations carried on cable draw viewers away from Canadian stations, making these outlets less attractive to advertisers.

BALANCE LOSS

Earlier, R. C. Fraser, a CBC vice-president, suggested that Canadian advertising could be screened on all channels of a cable system to help balance the loss of audience to U.S. stations.

In another brief, J. R. Peters, president of British Columbia Television Broadcasting Ltd., said his company is ready to spend $1 million to delete advertising from U.S. border stations for Vancouver and Victoria cable systems.

Canadian advertising could be substituted, he said.

Mr. Bruner said that a third network would carry a lot of the American programming now watched by Canadians on U.S. stations. These shows could not be acquired by the CBC and CTV networks because they did not have enough programming time.

The new network would also produce more Canadian programs and advertising dollars now flowing from Canada to the U.S. would return to Canada.

Interviewed later, Mr. Bruner would not say whether he plans to seek CRTC permission for a third network.

Mr. Bassett said he did not think that cable operators should be allowed to "march in and get a free ride." Cable operators do not pay broadcasters for their programs picked up off the air on community antennas and fed to subscribers.

RAISE $7.7 MILLION

He said the monthly charge would bring in $7.7 million and money would go to the CTV network annually from about 1.3 million homes receiving cable TV. This work to pay for current microwave costs of $2.25 million annually and future expenses in extending the system.

Mr. Bassett said he would not exclude the CBC and private affiliates of the CBC from getting money from their own tax on the cable systems.

Mr. Fraser said advertising on regular television could be duplicated on all channels of a cable system. This would mean the advertiser's audience would be as large as it was before American stations drew viewers away from Canadian outlets.

Stuart Griffiths of Ottawa, President of Bushnell Communications Ltd., said the integration of cable with conventional television should be encouraged.

He said the CRTC could require cable operators and broadcasters to produce plans for corporate union when they come before the commission for licence renewals.

Mr. Griffiths also called for a single utility to own cable distribution systems across Canada. The utility would be owned by the federal and provincial governments and private companies.

The utility could buy out existing cable owners and extend the system across the country. Cable operators would continue to provide programming.

Bank Loot Recovered

VANCOUVER (CP) — Police said Tuesday they have recovered a portion of the proceeds of a $50,000 Oregon bank robbery.

Travellers' cheques totalling $18,310, another $416 in cash, and a recently-purchased $4,800 car were seized following the arrest Monday of four American citizens in a room at a downtown motor hotel.

Police said they have established that the travellers' cheques were part of $40,000 in cheques taken from a bank April 15 at Scappose, Ore.

Another $10,000 in cash was taken in the holdup.

BANNED FROM ASCOT

Hot Pants Are Not for Royal Eyes

Times News Service

LONDON —The Royal Ascot, the annual British horse race for high society, approved hot pants for women at this year's running, but the Duke of Norfolk, the Queen's represenative, cooled things off in a hurry.

Absolutely not, he ruled, and his is the last say.

The officials of the race, held each year in mid-June, decree what people can wear in front of Queen Elizabeth in the royal enclosure. And these officials said Tuesday that hot pants for women would be all right if they were worn as part of an ensemble. That means a skirt with a slit that can go up to the hip.

But the duke, who is the Queen's representative at Ascot and whose family motto is "Virtue alone is unconquerable," changed all that.

"I wish to make it abundantly clear," he said; "that the only form of ladies' trousers permitted will be suits with long trousers."

She said hot pants were "just a bit too much," and that she would never wear them.

The avant-garde has been waging a fashion war with His Grace, Bernard Marmaduke Fitzalan Howard, Duke of Norfolk, for years.

Last year his officials turned away a debutante wearing a two-piece midi-outfit with a bare midriff. Before that, the trouser suit was banned and previous fashion victims included Bermuda shorts.

Even the pro-hot pants faction among officials was mindful of the dictum that Ascot frowns on trend setters. They issued a warning to male racegoers to stick strictly to traditional garb — top hats and grey morning suits.

Businessmen Skirt Hot Pants Issue

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto employers are nervously contemplating the prospect of hot pants in the office. Many have decided to skirt the issue.

"We've had some of the gals wearing hot pants under miniskirts to the office and this is all right," said Ross MacKenzie, personnel manager of Consumers' Gas Co. But hot pants without skirts?

"You mean a pair of coveralls with the bottoms cut off? Opinion changes as fashion does. At the moment, that particular style of pants is not considered appropriate business attire."

"Hot pants with skirts are what we hope our ladies would wear," he said. "It's foolish to say no to the question. We were originally discouraging pant-suits but the girls wore them anyway."

At Bell Canada the battle is over.

"The girls are already wearing them in some offices," said Robert P. Erskine, the company's news supervisor. "The feeling here is that you can't legislate dress."

"Oh golly, I haven't thought of them as office wear," he said. "My wife doesn't have a pair of them. I can't answer the question out of the clear blue sky. Miniskirts were certainly accepted in the office."

Hotel keepers are divided on the issue. Hot pants are acceptable at the Royal York and the King Edward Sheraton but not at the Park Plaza.

"To us hot pants is a clever name for short shorts," said Plaza manager Edwin Shaunessy. "We don't serve ladies in shorts and we've already issued instructions to our staff about it."

Harry Copland, executive director of the Ontario civil service, indicated he has enough troubles without getting involved in dictating dress style.

"We've never made any ruling on what girls should or should not wear," he said. "I don't think hot pants are less modest than miniskirts."

Red Hot Pants Only for Slim

BERLIN (UPI) — East Germany gave its approval recently to hot pants but renamed them "shorts" and said only girls with really good figures should wear them.

Cookie Week Begins Friday

Girl Guide Cookie Week is coming up.

Guides, Brownies and Rangers all across Canada will be selling cookies from door-to-door from April 30 to May 7.

Cookie sales are a major source of operating funds for the Girl Guides, who do not receive funds from the Community Chest or other large money raising groups.

Of this, 90 cents goes to the provincial organization; 90 cents to the division to be used for training leaders and sending guides to international camps; and 90 cents to the individual companies.

Each company of Guides, Brownies or Rangers will be covering an assigned area with a mother helper in charge of each group. They are expected to do most of their selling, and order taking Friday afternoon and Saturday.

Centennial Dinner

The Association for Childhood Education and workers for the International Children's Summer Village will hold a joint centennial dinner Saturday at 6:30 p.m. The dinner will be held in the Fellowship Hall of First United Church. Tickets are available from members of either organization.

Proceeds will be used for the Children's Gallery of the Greater Victoria Art Gallery, a scholarship and the Children's Village.

Beta Sigma Phi To Hold Banquet

Victoria City Council of Beta Sigma Phi will hold its annual founders' day banquet at Holyrood House Friday.

The occasion will mark the 40th birthday of the sorority. Mrs. J. R. Kingman and Miss Elizabeth Forbes will be guests for the evening.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Family Scene

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband comes from a very large family and they are very clannish. The only social life anyone in that family knows is to get together with their relatives. They don't need any outsiders. I am not criticizing them, but I am not all that thrilled with a gathering of the clan every weekend for 16 years.

The Women's Liberation thing got me to thinking. Why should we restrict our entire social life to my husband's family? I have met several interesting, attractive women my age who have invited me and my husband over, but we've never gone because my husband chills the deal.

I have had it! I think more women could "liberate" themselves if they just told their husbands that they were through being pushed around.

That's what I intend to do. Starting Monday! — Liberated

DEAR LIBERATED: Good! And let me hear from you on Tuesday.

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with a wonderful Italian girl for the last two years. She not only has looks and personality, she is smart, thoughtful and kind. It's funny, I have no trouble writing this to you, but I can't tell her how I feel about her. That's my hang-up, Abby.

She is always after me to tell her I love her, give her a compliment, or show some affection. I am just not the type. I can't help it. I am no kid. I am 27 and she is 25.

She claims she loves me, but isn't love accepting a person the way he is? We were thinking of marriage, but she says if I am like this before marriage, what would I be like afterwards? She says she needs to know that she is loved and appreciated. Can I help it if I am not the lovey-dovey type?

Am I wrong in just being myself? Or should I try to give out with the "I love you's" and compliments like most guys do?

My friends say if I call it quits with her I'd be giving up a good thing. She doesn't smoke or drink and she's saving herself until marriage. — Not Demonstrative

DEAR NOT: Her needs are more normal than your hang-up. I suggest that you try to be more affectionate, and make a real effort to demonstrate your appreciation of her. A woman can live without hearing that she's loved and appreciated, but she'll soon grow to resent you. Right now you're a poor match. Get with it, young man!

DEAR ABBY: Am I wrong to be annoyed when a casual acquaintance asks me where I bought my dress, shoes or some other article of clothing I happen to be wearing? Some even have the gall to ask me how much I paid for it!

I pride myself on being a well-dressed woman. I shop in the best stores — not in bargain basements so it's not that I'm ashamed to tell people where my clothes came from. By the way, I always give them the information as pleasantly as possible even though I am boiling inside.

Maybe I'm too touchy, but I would like to know why so many women ask, "Where did you buy it?" — Often Asked

DEAR ASKED: They asked because they probably want to buy one like it—or similar. And possibly to get a lead on where to buy unusually good-looking clothes. I'd regard the "where" questionas a compliment. "How much" is rude.

KNIT AND CHAT — By MAY MAC LEAN

Easy Herringbone Casing

Dear May: I have made a skirt for my little girl, from an English pattern and it says to make a "herringbone" casing at the waistline for the elastic.

I don't know how to do this and I cannot find any instructions for it in any of my books. It is probably very simple, but I would appreciate your help. — Mrs. Durance, Victoria, B.C.

Yes it is very simple, as all things are when you know how. You will need a crochet hook, not a large one, but one as small as you can work your wool with.

Join the wool to the wrong side of work at the waist-line, then work about five or six chain stitches, near enough an inch in length, now insert the hook into a loop of a stitch on the wrong side of work, so that it will not show on the right side, about half an inch along, and an inch down from the edge, and work a slip-stitch.

Work five or six more chain, then work the slip-stitch at the waistline edge, about an inch from where the wool was joined on. Continue in this manner all around the waist-line, then thread one inch elastic through the casing formed. It is a very neat and sure way to have the waist-line fit snug, especially for children.

The other day, while waiting in the doctors office, I noticed the lady next to me had a very nice, plain and simple taffy coloured wool dress on, and on closer inspection, I noticed that the neat collar, that made it look so attractive, was hand-knit with black wool.

I have a pattern for two styles of collars on Leaflet No. 6743. There are also directions on the same leaflet for knitted golf club covers. If you don't have the time to knit Dad a sweater for Father's Day, perhaps you could make him a set of golf club covers. They are simple enough for young girls to make out of knitting worsted or double knitting wool and only require small amounts of wool. No doubt you have sufficient on hand in odd balls.

Today I am offering a pattern for mini, skinny sweater dresses, low belted for today's fashion look or hip length to wear with slacks. They have a plait design on the front and back and down the sleeves.

They come in cardigan or pull-over style, with V-neck, turtle neck or neat neckband. The sleeves are raglan styled and the sweater can be belted or plain.

A knitting worsted or double knitting weight wool is called for. Sizes on the pattern are from 12 to 18, to fit bust measurements 32 through to 38 inches.

To order Leaflet No. 7008, or any other leaflet, send 35 cents in coin or money order for each leaflet to May Mac Lean, care of the Victoria Daily Times. Please include a stamped, self-addressed envelope, long if possible. Be sure to state pattern number and allow at least 3 weeks for delivery.

'Rolling the Bones' Helps Children Understand Math

By DUSTON HARVEY

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — One problem in the "Math Lab" at Wilson High is that the classroom dice keep disappearing.

But teachers in the informal math courses at the predominantly black high school would rather make new extra-large dice than face some of their old problems.

The dice are used along with games, phone books, maps, football scores and pool table trajectories in individualized, project-oriented classes for youngsters who don't plan to go to college.

In one class, a dozen teenagers work alone or in pairs at tables and desks scattered haphazardly around the room while one boy's tape recorder thumps out rock music.

One youth sleeps through it all, and a teen-age girl feeds lunch to a small brother and sister brought to school for family day.

Clarence "Zack" Taylor the math department chairman, wanders from student to student, asking if any need help. If the answer is "no," he asks enough questions of his own to make sure they know what they're doing.

Ever Friday is game day. The 400 "Math Lab" students compete with each other and their teachers in a half dozen games donated by the 3M Company or play homemade math games put together by the instructors.

The lab started a year ago, prefacing all general math and pre-algebra courses.

"We had all the traditional problems of traditional programs in ghetto schools: Fights, a complete lack of interest, no control, and kids stomping out of class," Taylor said in a interview.

Get Rid of Books

"Several of us got together and asked, 'What can we do to give these kids some experience in math?' We decided we had to get rid of the school things — books, desks in straight rows, the teacher standing in front of the class.

"So we developed our own materials. Teachers wrote up the projects so we can take students where they are and teach them what we can. There's no drilling, no set curriculum and they can take the course as many times as they want."

The teachers' first goal was changing attitudes and motivating students to study math.

That's why they wrote 3M asking for the games, which are used to interest students in attending class. The $100 worth of games is about the only outside help the experimental effort has had.

Taylor quickly admitted that after two semesters, no great change has been noticed in math test scores.

"But we've changed attitudes and the atmosphere so we can relate with kids and teach some of them," he said.

"There are few fights, less anger, less stomping out of class. Enrollment is up and teachers notice less cutting.

"Whether we're teaching more math or not is another question. But over the long run, as we improve, I'm sure we'll be teaching a lot more math than we were in traditional classes."

Mike Serra, a young, casually-dressed teacher, said one immediate benefit has been the spotting of students who belong in algebra and college prep math.

"I had a girl in here doing a problem where she multiplied a series of numbers by five," he recalled.

"I was watching her write down the answers. She got to five times 125, paused for a second and wrote down 625. I stopped her, and asked her if she was sure.

"She sort of moved her eyes from side to side and said, 'yes.' So I asked her to multiply 625 by five. She did the same thing and wrote down 3,125. Anybody who can do that in their head doesn't belong in general math.

"She's now taking algebra — and we'd never have noticed her if we hadn't been teaching informally."

The dice are made by Serra to measure one-inch square on a side so they won't disappear into pockets. Other teaching tools are designed to "throw students into situations where numbers are relevant."

The Voice of the Housewife Asks 'Why?'

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — It's time the voice of the housewife was heard in the land — again. For the "why don't they?" folder is full again, as women continue to voice their suggestions on how manufacturers can improve products and packaging and so increase their sales.

The man of the house complained the other day his shoes wouldn't stay tied. It turned out the laces are nylon, and as a homemaker had written, the nylon is durable but tends to untie more readily than cotton.

One of my own complaints in the clothing department sounds like women's lib is getting to me. Why do manufacturers put hanging loops on the back of men's coats, but not in women's?

Many of the why don't they suggestions come this way through National Family Opinion, Inc., an Ohio-based consumer market research firm. Here are samplings of queries sent in by some of its part-time homemaker-consultants:

Why don't they?

● Make a more durable vacuum bottle for children's use. As one mother complained, "The glass liner doesn't last long in a first grader's lunch pail."

● Make all cups and glass with flat bottoms, or at least flatten so-called "everyday" ware. The bases of many have depressions in them that fill with water when they are washed in the dishwasher.

● Save the consumer some money by making pyjama tops, only for the men who won't sleep in the bottoms, and vice versa. Fortunately for the former group, anyway, you now can buy nightshirts.

● Make horizontal buttonholes on dresses and blouses for firmer closing.

● Sell spices in smaller containers. There are so many you seldom use and they get stale on the shelf.

● Manufacture bed sheets with top and bottom widths the same. Being able to reverse the sheets should make for longer wear.

● Use less salt in canned vegetables and vegetable juices. It is a simple matter to add salt if wanted at home. But there are low sodium dieters and many regular eaters who don't like the over-salted taste.

● Package bacon so you can see all of it, not just the lean parts.

● Offer canister sets consisting of only two large canisters. Many people use instant coffee and tea and don't need the two small containers.

● Include tea bags or packets of instant tea along with the instant coffee provided for guests in many hotel or motel rooms.

● Make certain that detailed instructions for care and cleaning come with wallpapers, in particular the new vinyl types.

● Offer rubber gloves with an extra right or left hand; the glove more used usually wears out faster.

● Pack a few extra envelopes in greeting card boxes for the inevitable addressing errors.

Home for Retarded Battles Odds

AUSTIN, Que. (CP) — More than 400 children are crammed into the overgrown farmhouse that is the Cecil Butters Memorial Home for retarded children.

Fussing around them, although there is scarcely room to squeeze between the cribs, is a motherly 76-year-old woman named Lily Butters.

She admits the home is filled to more than twice its capacity, but shrugs off the overcrowding with this explanation:

"We used to have a waiting list, but we just stopped counting. When we can't admit them here, there's nowhere else they can go for the same type of care."

Most of her charges are mongoloids, physically deformed, blind or mute. Many can't walk and are not toilet-trained. All are considered retarded beyond the point of educatability. Early death is expected for most of the patients.

The Butters home was established in this quiet, rural community 75 miles east of Montreal in 1945, in memory of their son who was killed in a bomber crash in 1943.

From the start, Lily and her late husband, John, insisted on taking only those severely retarded children who are usually rejected by other institutions.

Word spread quickly and soon the six-room farmhouse overlooking scenic Lake Memphremagog was bulging with children from as far away as Hudson Bay and Virginia. The home was and is non-profit and non-sectarian.

Many of the children are taken from hospital as infants and never seen again by their parents. In many cases, says Mrs. Butters, this is the best policy.

Butters home was expanded in the last 26 years the Butters home was expanded to two additional extensions and a staff of 175, including six registered nurses.

Two doctors from nearby Magog, John Brant and Alan Scott, have made regular trips to the home for several years, but there is never enough money to hire a full time physician.

As might be expected, finances are Lily Butters' biggest headache. The latest blow came during the winter when two gunmen relieved her of a $25,000 payroll as she drove home from the bank.

Mrs. Butters, whose jaw and lips were bruised in the encounter, relates with satisfaction how she managed to rip off one bandits' face mask and slug him several times before they escaped.

"Oh, if I'd have had that gun," Mrs. Butters says. "What a rotten thing for anyone to do. You could tell they knew exactly what they were doing and had it timed precisely."

With less than $200,000 raised during a 1967 campaign for $742,000 Mrs. Butters installed a water pipeline from the lake, a sewage system and a large water reservoir.

The final cost came to about $275,000, well over what was contributed, and every last cent of Mrs. Butters' savings went to finance the projects.

Men Freak Out When Women Pay

DAVIS, Calif. (AP) — "I'll pick you up at eight," the co-ed said to the male student. "Your place."

What was the male reaction?

The men they asked out on dates were usually uncomfortable, says two freshman co-eds at the University of California.

Candy Cooley of San Diego and Linda Dankman of Sacramento assumed the male role in dating for three months in the interest of science.

Linda earned an A in an experimental sociology class for a paper entitled: "A sociological study of the divergency of sexual dimorphism." Translated into layman's terms, that means: "Do you men like to be pursued by young women?"

"We took the male initiative," said Linda "I would ask the guy for a date, pick him up in my car, drive him to the show, pay, put my arm around him during the movie, light his cigarettes, open doors ... the whole business."

Said Candy: "Either they would fight us to open the doors, or they'd laugh nervously and say, 'Okay, you take this one, but we get to open the next one.' They'd refuse to eat at the restaurant because we were paying, say they weren't hungry, beg us to let them drive home and scrunch up in their seats with their arms folded protectively at the movies."

Candy said young men offered to share their dinner with the girls after a period of flirtation but responded, "Wow, no way!" when the girls asked to take them to the movies.

The girls said they double-dated for moral support and never told the men what was going on.

"We came to the conclusion that men cherish their diminant agressive role," said Candy. "They can't tolerate a dominant female.

NEW HOSPITALS 'NO TAX DRAIN'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Four new intermediate care provincial hospitals will not cause a heavy drain on the taxpayer, Health Minister Ralph Loffmark said Wednesday.

The minister said most of the patients in each 150-bed hospital would be people on old age pensions and other pensions or on welfare and those funds would go towards their daily care.

He said there would have to be some government subsidization of the hospitals, but under the Canadian Assistance Plan the provincial and federal governments would split the cost.

Loffmark said arrangements had not been worked out for people on incomes so low they could not pay their way at the intermediate care hospitals.

Each hospital would cost about $7,000 a bed, or about $1 million for each hospital.

Powerful Pesticide Okay for B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — A 300-mile pipeline right-of-way through British Columbia and the Yukon is sprayed annually by the United States with the controversial chemical Tordon, W. R. Hourston, B.C. regional federal fisheries director, said Wednesday.

The pipeline, operated by the U.S. Army, runs from Fairbanks, Alaska, through Canadian territory, to Haines, situated in the northern end of the Alaskan Panhandle.

Hourston said the spraying is done from chartered Canadian helicopters and under supervision of the Canadian federal fisheries department. Tordon has been banned in Vietnam.

He said "some pretty stringent rules" are laid down by federal fisheries to ensure that the Tordon does not get into watercourses. The helicopters cannot spray near lakes and rivers.

Controversy over the chemical erupted in B.C. last summer when the District of Squamish attempted to prohibit the use of 24D, a component of Tordon, along B.C. Hydro right-of-ways in the area.

Tordon has also been banned by the U.S. government for use as a herbicide in Vietnam.

Davey Urges People's Press Council

OTTAWA (CP) — Senator Keith Davey (L—Ontario) proposed Wednesday that a consumers group take steps to set up a national press council if newspaper publishers drag their feet.

Davey, chairman of a special Senate committee on the mass media which recommended establishment of a press council, told the upper chamber that newspaper opinion has been divided about the recommendation.

Referring to current Toronto meetings of Canadian newspaper publishers, the senator said he hopes the Canadian Daily Newspaper Publishers Association will make some progress this week towards a press council.

"If not, then the ball is back in the court of consumers, such as the Consumers Association of Canada, who might very well take the initiative," he said.

Davey wound up debate on his committee's report with a speech of almost three hours that reviewed reaction to the study since it was published Dec. 10.

The three-volume report said newspapers and broadcasting in general are highly profitable enterprises but often did not give value for money.

Among recommendations, the special committee suggested a national press council and possibly regional councils that would air grievances and discuss the role of newspapers in the community. They would be made up of publishers, working journalists and members of the public.

Also proposed was a press ownership review board that would rule on whether proposed mergers increasing concentration of media ownership were in the public interest.

In his Senate speech Wednesday, Davey reiterated that the committee had proposed no government involvement in press councils.

But "so many publishers continue to reject the idea even of the minimal reader involvement in newspapers proposed by the committee, he said.

Quebec has already set up its own provincial press council, he said, but he hoped a national council could be established in addition to regional bodies.

Referring to the proposal for an ownership review board, Davey said that virtually all publishers who appeared at committee hearings in 1969 and 1970 acknowledged that concentration of media ownership is a problem and that a point could be reached where there could be too much concentration.

Davey said present anti-combines legislation has not worked to prevent ownership concentration.

He added that he is not wedded to the necessity of a special review board as long as there is preventive legislation. Perhaps amendments of the combines law would be enough, but it should be done now.

Davey also said he is sure the government will act on another committee recommendation — to withdraw special treatment of Time magazine and Reader's Digest in Canada.

DRIVER APPEALS ONE-CENT FINE

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — Dominic J. Childs III recently received a traffic ticket for going 44 miles an hour in a 30 zone. He was told to pay his fine or appear in court by Wednesday.

Childs appeared in court and demanded a jury trial. For the next three hours, Child's trial took the time of the municipal judge, six jurors, three radar patrolmen and the judge's entice staff.

"I fine you the minimum," the judge said. "One cent."

Childs walked out of the courtroom and into the County Court office, where he filed notice of appeal.

Shrum Acquitted

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dr. Gordon Shrum, 75, chairman of B.C. Hydro and Power Authority, was acquitted Wednesday on a charge of assaulting Mark Warrior, 19, during a demonstration against Justice Minister John Turner at the University of British Columbia March 6.

Judge Harvey Jessop said in Provincial Court there was a conflict in evidence and he chose to believe Shrum's version. He said the crown had not proven its case beyond doubt.

Warrior said the while he and others prevented Turner from speaking by their loud heckling, Shrum told him to shut up, then "hit me." Shrum admitted he told someone to shut up, but denied hitting Warrior.

Milk Output Down

OTTAWA (CP) — About 1.3 billion pounds of milk were produced in March this year, 2.9 per cent below production in March 1970, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported. Total milk production so far this year is 3.4 billion pounds, 4.4 per cent below the first three months last year.

Saanich Trims 4 Mills; Rate to Be Set Tonight

Just over four mills of the projected 7:32 Saanich municipal mill rate increase was cut by the end of the third budget-cutting session Wednesday night and the new mill rate is expected to be set at a concluding meeting tonight.

Heaviest casualty Wednesday night was parks capital and beach access, where a total of $84,500 was cut.

The police department budget, up $114,954 over 1970's expenditure of $824,096, was untouched. Main reason for this increase was the hiring of 12 new men during 1970, the full cost of which is reflected this year.

In three three-hour sessions this week, council has lopped $580,914 from the provisional municipal budget of $10.3 million.

Mayor Hugh Curtis, who is also chairman of the police commission, said he doesn't feel defensive about the police department budget for 1971.

"It is the minimum requirement for effective and efficient operation of the police department this year, the increase not withstanding," he said.

The police commission had originally dealt with a provisional budget of $960,350 and this was subsequently reduced to $939,050, said senior accountant Ron Porter.

REDUCE STAFF

During budget discussions, Ald. Frank Waring expressed concern that a great deal of the cutback will mean letting outside staff go which he described as ironic because of high welfare costs.

Engineer Neville Life said there had been substantial layoffs and after completion of the $128,700 Quadra Street improvement, between Nicholson and Rogers, six more men will be laid off. There were also layoffs in drainage staff, from 30 to a staff of 12. It was not proposed to re-hire a cost clerk to the inside staff, he said, or to take on any summer students.

He added that there is a possibility of further layoffs later in the year.

UNHAPPY

Curtis said the demands on cities exceed their ability to meet needs. He knew how unhappy Life was and so was he.

"But where are the options for a council faced with a tax increase which is unacceptable," he said. "There is no division, on council, on our rather severe action.

"If this was a time of reasonably average stability in the employment market, if there was not high unemployment and lingering recession, we could consider a five mill increase if it involved desirable works.

"The fact is that so many individuals are feeling the squeeze, not just senior citizens but breadwinners. It seems the ability to pay is just not there in 1971."

He added that this is "no reflection on a damned good staff."

Ald. Leslie Passmore said he doesn't see how the mill rate increase can be cut without cutting works.

"The reaction I get is that taxes are too high now," he said.

Ald. Edith Gunning said "you'll usually get that reaction, perhaps more so this year. We have to cut to what is a reasonable level."

She pointed out that some cuts are deferred increases and added: "Frankly, the belt-tightening should have come in increased wages."

Ald. Alan Newberry said there is an increase in assessments, upon which the mill rate is based, and in sewer charges "before we start and people are saying taxes are too high. Even a three mill increase is pretty frightening."

Council agreed that revenues from the municipally-owned Cedar Hill golf course should go into general revenue and that Saanich investigate the use of telex to save on long-distance telephone calls.

Student Exhibition

An art exhibition by students from Greater Victoria schools will be held in the Provincial Museum from May 6-24.

Judging of the entries will take place Wednesday, the day before the exhibition opens. Judges will be Greater Victoria art gallery director Colin Graham, Print Gallery owner Nita Forrest and Times art critic Glenn Howarth.

The art gallery women's committee this year is offering five $10 prizes to junior secondary artists and the same for senior students.

CHABOT TO SEEK PACT

Labor Minister Jim Chabot will make a personal effort to seek a settlement in the seven-month strike at Sandringham Private Hospital.

Chabot said he would try to meet soon with Neil Cook, president of National Nursing Homes Ltd., which manages the Hospital, to seek a new avenue of possible settlement.

"We are in a very difficult position ... We have ways and means of resolving this dispute provided certain criteria are met and that is that the public interest is involved," Chabot said.

"I have quite a bit of correspondence on this dispute but none of it indicates the public interest is involved."

Under the Mediation Commission Act, the government can order binding arbitration in labor disputes involving the public interest.

Alex Markides, area representative for the Canadian Union of Public Employees, said the union is prepared to wait while Chabot makes the effort to reach Cook.

The union expects to hear from Chabot within a week on the matter, Markides said Wednesday following an hour-long meeting with Chabot.

Government Workers Want Pay Equality

A file clerk working for the provincial government earns an average of $343 a month, but if she worked for B.C. Hydro, a provincial crown corporation, she would get $431.

Pay inequities for government workers is the reason behind a planned campaign by the B.C. Government Employees' Union to close the gap between wages paid some of its members and wages paid to workers in comparable positions in municipal and federal governments and in industry.

BCGEU general secretary John Fryer said the campaign will include advertising to gain public support.

The campaign is partly in response to pressure from various groups of government employees including liquor store clerks, jail and highway workers, probation officers, vocational instructors, culinary workers and electricians.

An electrician employed by the government earns 23 per cent less than an electrician in the construction industry, Fryer said.

Government janitors get 14 per cent less than janitors in any hospital. Truck drivers get 11 per cent less than City of Vancouver drivers. Dishwashers get 17 per cent less than hospital dishwashers.

CONNECTION HELP LIKELY

Central Saanich council is to consider helping taxpayers on fixed incomes who find sewer charges a hardship.

Ald. Ted Clayards says the council has for some time been studying a tax stabilization proposal to help people on fixed incomes, particularly when it is time for sewer connection.

Tax stabilization means that tax assessments are frozen when a citizen reaches the age of 65, and would be unaffected by further raises in the mill rate.

* * *

The municipal act does not at the moment permit this arrangement but council is investigating the legalities involved.

Clayards says he feels sure there is a viable proposition.

"There is precedent for tax stabilization in Manitoba and Oregon," he says. "The cost to non-benefitting taxpayers would be no more than a few cents a year and I think we owe our older residents this consideration."

Council will come to grips with the proposed formula after the budget is completed next week.

'Buy Happiness' Sally Ann Theme

More than 1,500 volunteer canvassers will swell the ranks of the Salvation Army for its Red Shield Appeal campaign in May.

This year's campaign starts Friday at 11:30 a.m. with a flag-raising ceremony at Victoria City Hall.

All participants will be dressed in old-fashioned costumes, including Mayor Courtney Haddock, appeal chairman Lyle Wicks, Salvation Army and Victoria Old-Timers representatives.

Saturday, the Salvation Army band, dressed in old-time garb and travelling in an ancient truck, will stage free 30-minute coffee-and-doughnuts breaks at three shopping centres.

They will be at the Mayfair Shopping Centre at 2 p.m., the Town and Country Shopping Centre at 3 p.m., and the Hillside Shopping Centre at 4 p.m.

* * *

Theme for this year's campaign is Yes You Can Buy Happiness. The target has been set at $85,000.

Last year more than $572,000 was spent on needy cases in the Greater Victoria area, help being given to prisoners, alcholics, orphans, juvenile delinquents, unwed mothers, drug addicts, senior citizens and other victims of tragedy.

Contributions may be mailed or delivered to the Salvation Army's headquarters at 769 Pandora.

Narcotic Specialists Teach Police

BANFF (CP) — More than 70 narcotics specialists from Western Canada are attending a two-week conference on drugs which sponsors hope will be an answer to the shortage of trained agents in Canada."

"In the past we've sent men to the FBI school in Washington for training but that method is expensive and less effective than bringing the lecturers here," says Insp. W. A. Stewart of the sponsoring Edmonton police department.

"At this conference, we can assemble top-rate lecturers and expose them to a larger number of enforcement personnel."

The conference, which ends May 7, includes seminars on police policy, narcotics and drug law enforcement, traffic patterns and heroin and cocaine in North America and drug identification.

You Pay No More For The Complete Decorator Suite During The Traders' Sale $299.95
With Extra Easy Terms!

10-PC. GROUP

Yes — You Actually Get a Complete Living Room Grouping!

It's all decorator co-ordinated, and it's yours for less than the regular price of the sofa and chairs alone! How can we do it? Manufacturers of some of our most-wanted styles were prevailed upon to give us special "deals." In return, we made large purchases.

So, we've assembled smartly designed pieces into a room group so very fashionable and comfortable, your friends will be sure you've been a bit extravagant. They'll never guess the cost!

This handsome furniture is also very well constructed. The sofa and chairs are richly covered in smart, practical tweed fabric; cushioning is deeply resilient foam; frames are of heavy hardwoods, durably screwed, glued and corner blocked. The three well-designed tables have a deep walnut finish with matching Formica easy-care tops. To complete the room, there's a pair of decorator-style lamps, decorator toss cushion and floral table centre. The portrait of Traders Vic and Toni is not included.

Although the pieces are not quite like those illustrated, it is a roomful you'll be proud to entertain in, happy to live in . . . and you'll always have the added pleasure of knowing you got a remarkable "buy" at The Traders. Bring the whole family in to see it tonight. We're open 'til 9.

Ford Continues Fight for $1 Million Inheritance

Allan Douglas Ford died in 1967, leaving an estate of $1 million. He was 94.

Negotiations with the City of Victoria have given Ford his father's 19-room house standing on 2½ acres as well as a number of art objects.

Ford commented here: "The next move will be to apply for what is called testator family maintenance.

"Having come so far with this I must go on."

Ford, 48, and his wife live in the Melbourne suburb of Burwood. They are childless.

Ford, who broadcasts on the popular Melbourne Newsbeat program, said he has spent $50,000 contesting the will so far.

He and Melbourne solicitor James Duggan between them have flown 12 times to Canada in the last three years.

WILL KEEP FIGHTING

"It's a bitter pill but I intend to keep fighting," Ford said when the news of his latest losing case reached Melbourne. His mother and father separated in Canada in 1927, when he was five. His mother, an Australian, brought him here to live.

FORD

He next saw his father when he went to Canada in 1965.

His father was then bedridden.

Ford returned to Canada for his father's funeral in 1967.

He then made the initial move to contest the will.

In January, 1969, he began a "trial" case against the will executors in Victoria.

Late in 1969, three judges in Vancouver were unanimous in upsetting the will in Ford's favor.

Ford's lawyer contended the will was made when his father was 86 "having formed delusions that John was not his son." The executors of the will have conceded there is no doubt John Ford was the son of Allan Ford.

In February last year, executors were given leave to appeal by a two to one judgment. In June, motion by Ford to have this quashed was not granted.

Oak Bay, Arbutus Win Mainland Band Trip

Last of the major competitions in this year's Victoria Music Festival took place Wednesday evening.

As a result Arbutus Junior Secondary, and Oak Bay Senior bands will travel to the mainland next week to compete in the finals for the British Columbia championship.

The band and choir province-wide championship competition which is to become an annual event, is sponsored by the B.C. Cultural Aid Fund.

The sponsorship includes all travel expenses for some 2,300 bandsmen and choristers who will converge on Vancouver for the finals, Wednesday to Friday.

This year, winners of the finals will also perform for the Queen, and members of the Royal family at the Pacific Coliseum, Friday night.

Bands and instrumental adjudicator for the Victoria Festival is Dr. Ward K. Cole, head of the department of music, faculty of fine arts at the University of Calgary.

TOUGH DECISION

Previously he was on the faculty of music at the University of Toronto and associate director of the university concert band.

Before adjudicating the championship classes, he commented on the difficulty of making a decision due to the excellent standard of all the band work.

First place with 89 marks in the junior section, was awarded to Arbutus Band conducted by Emil Michaux, for its performance of Welsh Rhapsody by Grundman and Fantasy for Band by Erickson.

Oak Bay Senior gained 87 marks to win their section. With Dave Dunnett conducting they played Gustav Holst's Second Suite for Military Band and Overture in C by Charles S. Catel.

The B.C. Centennial (1971) Competition for instrumental solo other than piano, was divided into open and 16-and-under sections.

Competitors were chosen for these contests by the respective adjudicators on the basis of their excellence in earlier classes.

UNANIMOUS

In the unanimous opinion of Dr. Cole and Dr. Murray Adaskin, top places in the two classes went to gifted young cellist brother and violinist sister Desmond (16-and-under) and Gwen Hoebig (open), the latter, incidentally, being only 13.

While they are from Vancouver they have for the past several months, been commuting to Victoria to study at the Victoria Conservatory of Music — Desmond with James Hunter and Gwen with Sydney Humphreys.

Another student with exceptional musical gifts, Rolf Gilstein, was a chosen competitor in both sections — in 16-and-under as a cellist and in the open as a virtuoso accordionist.

The two winners will also compete in Centennial finals in Vancouver in a few weeks' time.

Three special programs are all that remain of the 1971 festival which has been the biggest, and probably the finest ever.

Schools selected for the program are Sir James Douglas, Grades 5 and 7; View Royal, Grades 5, 6 and 7; Cloverdale, Grades 2, 3, 5 and 6; Uplands, Grade 1; St. Andrew's, Grade 3; Wynne Shaw's Open group and small ballet, Craigflower, Grades 4 and 5, Marigold, Grade 4 and Lampson's square dance group.

There are no sessions scheduled during the day, Friday, but the schools honor performance with highlight choirs and instrumental solos, ensembles and bands will be presented at Central Junior.

Then on Tuesday at McPherson Playhouse comes the major event that rings down the curtain for this year — the Festival Highlights Concert.

On this program the City Medallion winner, pianist Kwok May-Ling, Rose Bowl winner, soprano Nan Long and Congress of Strings winner, violinist John Rigby will be heard. The complete program will appear in the Saturday Times.

Hydro Hit With Strike Threats

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia Hydro has hit negotiation snags with two of its unions representing about 2,200 employees.

The 2,000-member International Brotherhood of Eelctrical Workers has given Hydro until noon Friday to present a contract proposal. The union has voted to strike to support contract negotiations and has told Hydro it will issue the required 72-hour strike vote anytime after Friday if Hydro fails to produce a counter-proposal.

It is seeking 29½ per cent increase over two years. The contract is to include a job security clause banning non-union contractors.

Meanwhile, about 200 Pacific Stage Lines bus drivers rejected a Hydro contract offer Wednesday of about 15 per cent over 27 months.

The drivers, who handle buses to and from Victoria on B.C. ferries and between Lower Mainland communities, are paid $4.06 an hour.

Earlier this year, a one-month strike by about 1,800 Vancouver and Victoria area transit drivers ended with an 18.7 per cent wage increase over 27 months.

Indians Paid Price —Dan George

The award-winning star of the movie Little Big Man drew a standing ovation Wednesday from delegates and observers at the second national conference on Indian Culture.

He said he looked on his own achievements as an example he hoped other Indians could follow.

He said a deep chasm separates white and Indian students and the Indian can hope to cross that chasm only after he has won the respect of the white man.

NEED COURSES

There is a great deal to be done, he said, to help the Indian through a process of integration without assimilation.

He said Indian students require courses that are of interest to them just as a white student receives courses that are of interest to him.

"The most important thing that can be done," he said, "is to respect each individual for what he is—the son of our Lord in Heaven and your brother."

Earlier, in an interview, Chief George said "we must fit into the modeen world but we must also keep our own culture."

He expressed the feeling that the Indian people can have the best of both worlds if they are willing to try.

He blamed slow development of the Indian people and their culture on the Indian Affairs Department.

"We are like children who have been too long under the wing of the Indian Affairs Department," he said.

"I think that when we handle our own affairs we will progress."

ALTAR GAINS ALTITUDE

The marriage ceremony uniting the couple took place in a helicopter high above the airport here.

The groom, Ronald L. Rimson, and the minister, Rev. Gale Boocks, used parachutes to get back down to earth. The bride, Elizabeth D'Jerf of Los Angeles, rode the helicopter down.

Miss Centennial Pageant Set

Final judging in the Central Saanich "Miss Centennial" pageant, will be May 21 at Brentwood Community Hall when a variety show is planned by pageant coordinator Anna Allen.

The time hasn't been set.

The 10 contestants will also take part in an "Evolution of Fashion" show on May 10.

Nobody's Perfect

CALGARY (CP) — The Calgary police commission said Ednesday that it has made its share of mistakes, but members believed they were "carrying out a difficult and thankless public duty conscientiously."

Inflation Period Ahead Warn Economic Advisers

OTTAWA (UPI) — Canada is headed for another bout of inflation as the economy begins to recover from the past year's slow growth and high unemployment, two of the government's top economic advisers warned Wednesday.

A third adviser, Arthur Smith, chairman of the Economic Council of Canada, said it was more important to spur economic growth and move towards full employment than to try to outdo other nations in combatting inflation.

The governor of the Bank of Canada, Louis Rasminsky, warned about a new inflation threat in an address to the Vancouver Canadian Club. John Young, chairman of the Prices and Incomes Commission, made a similar warning in a speech to the British Columbia Association of Professional Economists.

"In the past year, the consumer price index rose by about 2 per cent, a very low figure by international standards, but this gives an unduly favorable impression of the underlying trends in the economy," Rasminsky said.

* * *

"As long as wage and salary increases remain far in excess of long-term productivity gains we run a real risk of deteriorating price performance."

The bank governor called for a renewed effort to curb price and wage increases. If this fails, he said, "there is bound to be increasing support for formal controls to curb the present freedom to determine prices and incomes."

Young, the government's chief strategist in the fight against inflation, asserted that history has shown inflation escalates whenever it is allowed to continue unchecked for more than a short period of time.

Even a massive effort, Smith said, would not bring unemployment down to below 4 per cent until 1974.

"Average wage and salary increases are still very high, but costs, including labor costs, may now be in the process of moderating," the council chairman said. "An acceleration of productivity gains would contribute to more moderate increases in wage and salary costs in 1971.

* * *

"But both price and cost increases are proving to be a very widespread and troublesome problem throughout much of the world, and a number of factors could make it more difficult to hold average rates of increases in Canada in the 1970s to the average rates of the 1960s except at substantial costs in terms of higher unemployment and larger economic slack."

NEW SCHOLARSHIP FUND has been established at the University of Victoria to honor retiring vice-president Robert Wallace, shown here with his wife at a reception held in their honor Wednesday night. Faculty and university staff turned out in a tribute to mathematics professor who joined the faculty at Victoria College in 1933. During his 38 years Wallace served as acting college principal and acting university president, was the university's first dean in charge of campus administration and first vice-president. He was presented with an inscribed silver tray. R. T. Wallace Scholarship Fund has already reached $9,600 after an on-campus appeal produced an enthusiastic response. Fund interest will provide an annual award for a Uvic student.

Quebec Liberal Meet To Debate Policies

By DONAT VALOIS

OTTAWA (CP) — The Quebec wing of the Progressive Conservative party will be asked to approve the principal demands of the Quebec Liberal government at the party's provincial convention in May. By doing so it will be rejecting, in certain cases, the official policy of the federal party.

Fernand Alie, leader of the Quebec wing, has asked in a letter to Yvon Sirois that resolutions pertaining to Premier Robert Bourassa's demands in the field of social security, manpower and housing be included on the convention's agenda.

"We must, I feel, avoid burying the real problems which our party must study under a jumble of useless procedures," Mr. Alie said.

Mr. Alie suggested the following fundamental resolution be studied:

On social security: "Attention should be given to the Quebec government's just demands to bring social security and the related taxation powers back under provincial control."

On manpower: "Because of the educational implications of provincial jurisdiction and the need for a better regional planning, Quebec should be given back control over manpower and related powers of taxation."

On housing: "To get out of the administrative imbroglio involving three levels of government meet, Quebec should be given control over housing and related taxation powers."

Mr. Alie also asked for study of resolutions pertaining to constitutional revision, reorganization of the party and changing the party's name.

Party reorganization would provide parity in number of English- and French- speaking persons in all party structures and organizations.

ASKS FOR TRUST

In another letter to Mr. Sirois, secretary of the provincial wing, Mr. Alie asks that the party's provincial council clearly specify that it still has confidence in him.

Mr. Alie has been asked by the council to make it clear, when speaking on controversial issues not part of established party policy, that he is expressing his own ideas and not those of the Quebec wing.

In an open letter to Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield, published in a Montreal newspaper before the council meeting April 20, Mr. Alie said the party's Quebec wing might not survive the next federal election if it does not present policies more acceptable to the Quebec electorate.

In Montreal, Mr. Stanfield declined to discuss his recent differences with Mr. Alie, but said he has no definite plans to appoint a Quebec lieutenant to lead provincial forces in the coming federal election.

Mr. Stanfield said in an interview "leadership in this province could come from a number of deputies."

Mr. Stanfield said he is opposed to Mr. Alie's concept and favors his own "flexible federalism" philosophy.

Hospital Deadlock Now Solved?

An intricate new plan which would see St. Joseph's Hospital owned by the provincial government but leased to and operated by a local society may get expansion there under way at last.

Details were outlined to members of the Capital region's hospital board Wednesday by chairman Jim Cumming. They involved a transfer of ownership of the present hospital from the founding Sisters of St. Ann to the Southern Vancouver Island Hospital Society which in turn will turn title over to the provincial government.

At the same time the regional hospital board would also turn title to 4.74 acres it hopes to buy from the sisters alongside the hospital over to the province.

The society would then operate the expanded hospital under a lease arrangement.

The question of title has been one of the issues between the regional group and the hospital society which has delayed development at St. Joseph's for about a year and a half, bringing repeated protests from local doctors and others because of the acute shortage of hospital facilities in Greater Victoria.

Cumming said all parties involved have now indicated by letters of intent agreement to such an arrangement, opening the way for the regional hospital board to negotiate with the sisters for the land needed for expansion.

He noted that the first letter of intent from the society had not been satisfactory to the regional board but a second one, received Tuesday, had.

Assuming the property negotiations proceed smoothly, all parties involved in the new deal would complete the agreed steps at some future meeting simultaneously "so no one is compelled to trust anyone."

The continued delay of the hospital's expansion led the regional board earlier this year to decide to build 150 beds for extended care patients elsewhere.

Cumming said three sites are currently under consideration but the regional board's executive committee has still to make a recommendation. The plan is to build a 225-bed extended care hospital, possibly in the western or northwestern section of Greater Victoria, consolidating beds which had been planned for both St. Joseph's and St. Mary's Priory at Colwood.

Instruction Costs $475 Per Student

The Greater Victoria school board spent $475 per student in instruction costs for 1970.

A financial statement, released Wednesday, shows that the board spent $14.7 million, or 69 per cent of its budget, on instruction. This includes teachers salaries.

The statement gives a financial breakdown of the $21.1 million spent.

Administration and overhead totalled $874,447, or 4 per cent of the budget, or $28.20 per student.

Operation of the school plant, which includes janitors' salaries, fuel and utilities, totalled $1.8 million, or 8.5 per cent of the budget, or $58.18 per student.

Maintenance of the school plant, which includes repairs and maintenance to buildings, ground and equipment, totalled just over $1 million, or five per cent of the budget, or $35.27 per student.

Conveyance of pupils and medical and dental services represented .31 and .84 per cent of the budget respectively.

Debt service (debenture redemptions and interest, bank interest and charges) totalled $2.3 million, or 11 per cent of the budget, or $75.27 per student.

Just over 50 per cent of the operating budget was raised through municipal taxation, 46 per cent came from the provincial government, and another 2.89 per cent came from non-resident fees and miscellaneous.

Hummel Wanted Things 'Correct'

Contractor Siegfried Marquardt testified Wednesday in the tax evasion trial of lawyer David Hummel that Hummel, a lawyer and former business partner, had never given any indication he would try to cheat the revenue department.

Marquardt was replying to cross-examination by defence lawyer John Spencer of Vancouver during the sixth day of the trial. Hummel is charged with evading taxes on more than $127,000 and with four counts of making false statements on income tax returns.

Marquardt said tax problems were never discussed to any large extent by the partnership because "we never made that much money."

"To use Mr. Hummel's phrase, he was always insistent that things must not only be correct, they had to look correct too."

Transactions conducted by the partnership around the time involved in the tax charges included buying out another partner, lawyer Michael Warren. Money raised for the purchase came from the sale of a 20 per cent share in ownership of a group venture, the Red Lion Motor Inn.

Marquardt said he had discussed with chartered accountant R. W. Denson the question of whether proceeds from the sale of Red Lion shares were taxable income or non-taxable capital gain.

"He (Denson) didn't give me a clear answer," Marquardt said, "but I took his advice to mean that it was not taxable. I understood that there was a 90 per cent chance the money was not taxable and 10 per cent chance that it was."

He said he had already been given the same advice by Hummel, but wanted "another opinion" from Denson.

Marquardt said the companies operated by himself, Hummel and the late William Osland had come to rely on Denson's advice in tax matters. On his own tax return, Marquardt said, he had recorded the Red Lion proceeds as capital gain.

Region Hires PR Man As Secretary

The Capital Regional District Wednesday appointed a full-time secretary to the board who is also the information officer.

He is Jim Hume, former Victoria Daily Times City Hall reporter, who was hired as part-time information officer for the regional hospital board last May.

As a part-time employee, his salary was $666.66 per month or $7,999.92 a year. The full-time job pays $12,000 a year.

Wednesday's decision, made behind closed doors, was unanimous, board chairman and Saanich Mayor Hugh Curtis said later.

Last May's decision was made in open session and 10 directors holding 23 votes voted yes while seven directors holding 16 votes said no.

Curtis said there was "no reason at all" for Wednesday's decision to be behind closed doors, but pointed out it was a personnel matter and the part-time engagement last May was the initial hiring.

The full-time job was advertised and half a dozen applicants were interviewed.

Before the Judge

A 17-year-old youth was sentenced to nine months definite and 12 months indeterminate Wednesday for three counts of breaking, entering and theft, three counts of theft over $50 and another of breaking and entering with intent.

Judge William Ostler told David McCaskill, 44 Menzies, that he realized the offences were committed for drug purchases, a pattern he said was becoming "so rampant among young people."

The offences included theft of two cars, breaking and entering the same car-wash twice and obtaining cash over $50 each time and breaking into the same home on Mount Joy twice.

The accused left the Mount Joy residence without taking anything on one occasion after he was observed by a neighbor. On the other occasion he stole $60 cash.

McCaskill also broke into an upholstery shop in the city, stole some cash and several ignition keys to cars.

All the offences occurred between mid-February and early April.

Robert E. Southern, 33, of 1184 Esquimalt, was fined $200 when he pleaded guilty to driving while under suspension.

Court was told that he was given a 24-hour roadside suspension late April 27 and was found driving again early April 28.

★ ★ ★

Two officers went with the woman to a hotel room where they discussed money before one of the officers left returning shortly with several other policemen to make the arrest.

Rudolph P. Ohm, 62, of Mill Bay Road, was given a suspended sentence and placed on a year's probation for dangerous use of a firearm and possession of a restrictive weapon.

He earlier pleaded guilty to firing a pistol into the roadway in Saanich last December during an argument with the occupants of a vehicle he felt was blocking the road.

Ohm was also prohibited by Ostler from carrying a weapon for 18 months and his pistol was confiscated.

★ ★ ★

Robin De Kelver, 17, of 4126 Birtles, was sentenced to five months in jail for theft over $50.

He earlier admitted breaking into a construction shack in Saanich March 17 and stealing a $500 radio-telephone.

Ostler expressed dismay that the youth was back in court so soon after probation was given last November for another theft conviction.

Possession Nets Jail

A 32-year-old Saanich man was jailed for three years Wednesday by Judge William Ostler for possession of heroin.

James O. White, 902 Arundel, had pleaded guilty Tuesday.

An RCMP officer testified at the time that White had eight capsules of heroin in a balloon on the floor of his car when he was stopped on Lyall.

Prosecutor Norman Prelypchan read the accused's record that dated to 1957 which included four prison terms for narcotic offences.

Island Municipalities to Consider Combined Data Processing Centre

The Association of Vancouver Island Municipalities convention next week will discuss a centralized data processing centre.

The Capital Regional District board agreed to refer to the AVIM meeting a series of recommendations made in a report by the Vancouver Island Municipal Officers' Association.

Regional district executive director Dennis Young said studies have made clear there are "very significant gains" to be made by adopting data processing techniques on a co-operative basis.

So far, there has been "relatively limited political involvement" and the stage has been reached in the technical merits of studies to bring the subject before councils and regional districts, he said.

The municipal officers association report recommended:

● Approval in principle of a centralized municipally-controlled data processing centre.

● Capital Regional District assume the function of development and operation of such a centre on behalf of its member municipalities and to provide a similar service to the rest of the island on a contract basis.

● Establishment of a management advisory committee to assist in development of operating priorities and policies for such a centre.

● To finance initial cost of relocating staff and equipment presently under the jurisdiction of Victoria city in a more suitable long-term location, together with the cost of preliminary systems analysis, legislation be enacted providing for a one-time levy by all regional districts on Vancouver Island of not more than 1-20th of a mill.

● To meet needs of municipalities requiring immediate access to data processing, Victoria city be asked to provide for such an interim need on a fee-for-service basis.

In other business, the regional board:

● Agreed to revamp the building bylaw, and gave initial readings to an amending bylaw, to bring it up to 1970 National Building Code standards, add regulations for various standards for mobile homes and introduce commonly-used building permit fee charges.

● Agreed to hold a referendum in Metchosin this December on participation, with Langford and Colwood, in financing an ice arena. Langford and Colwood residents approved this earlier, but Metchosin residents failed by 12 votes to give it the necessary 60 per cent approval.

Italy Charging Alleged Fascists

ROME (Reuter) — Twenty more persons have been charged with seeking to revive the banned Fascist party of the late dictator Benito Mussolini, police said.

This brings to 32 the number of persons facing proceedings on these charges.

Police said the latest step followed the arrest of Clemente Graziani, 46, who is accused of founding the "New Order" movement with the "principles, symbols and methods of the dissolved Fascist party."

8 CARDS OF THANKS

The gratitude in our hearts can never be fully expressed, but we want our friends, relatives and neighbors to know how much their kind words and expressions of sympathy have meant to us during our recent time of sorrow in the sad loss of our mother and sister, Mrs. Edith Alma Rose. Special thanks to Dr. R. S. Conn and the nurses and staff of 1A, St. Joseph's Hospital.
Dave Ross and Mrs. J. J. Kennedy.

9 IN MEMORIAM

MacMILLAN — In loving memory of "Boomer" Clifford Melvin MacMillan who passed away April 29, 1950.
Sunset and evening star
And one clear call for me!
And may there be no moaning of the bar,
When I put out to sea.
Twilight and evening bell,
After that the dark!
And may there be no sadness of farewell
When I embark.
Loved and sadly missed by his wife Edith and family, Judy, Ron and children, Shauneen and Keith, and Sharleen.

★ ★ ★

ALIAS SMITH AND JONES. 7:30 p.m., Channel 4. The mavericks (Pete Duel and Ben Murphy in the title roles) think they're safely tucked away in an obscure town. But they're discovered and efforts are made to run them out of town. Susan Strasberg is guest star.

★ ★ ★

FLIP WILSON SHOW. 7:30 p.m., Channel 5. (Rerun.) This was a good lineup for the early part of the season that quickly established Flip's show as one of the season's best. Flip does a duet with Roger Miller — "King of the Road," of course — and the Temptations sing "Ball of Confusion" and "Let It Be." Lily Tomlin, "Laugh-In's" prune-faced Ernestine, forsakes the telephone for the computer tonight, and Flip is wildly funny as the Reverend Leroy. Redd Foxx also takes a turn with a monologue.

★ ★ ★

JIM NABORS SHOW. 8 p.m., Channel 7. (Rerun.) To give you an idea of the seriousness of this show, Barbara McNair plays Cinderella in a sketch and her two ugly stepsisters are Frank Sutton and Ronnie Schell. Prince Charming (Nabors) turns out to be a travelling shoe salesman. Barbara also sings "Everything Is Beautiful."

★ ★ ★

IRONSIDE. 8:30 p.m., Channel 5. (Rerun.) The killing of a witness in a government trial sets off an investigation of an anti-war group. The anti-war people are unco-operative, but anxious to absolve themselves and erase the suspicion that threatens to puncture their cause. Michael Greer, Martin Sheen and Pamela McMyler are guest performers.

★ ★ ★

THURSDAY NIGHT MOVIES. 9 p.m., Channel 7 "Judith" Sophia Loren stars as a woman whose Nazi husband renounced her and sent her off to a concentration camp, where their child died. She is abducted to Israel where freedom fighters are hoping to slip into Beirut and kidnap her husband, now working undercover for an Arabian movement. Sophia is needed to identify the ex-Nazi. Peter Finch is the leader of the Israelis (they were Palestinians then) and Jack Hawkins is a stern British officer.

★ ★ ★

DEAN MARTIN SHOW. 8:30 p.m., Channel 8; 10, Channel 5. (Rerun.) A great night for the heart flutters with Engelbert Humperdinck as Dino's guest tonight. The English singer will sing "My Wife the Dancer." Other guests are Patricia Crowley, who sings and dances to "Rockin' Ghost," and comic Jackie Vernon. Dino's solos are "Walkin' My Baby Back Home" and "I Cried for You," a couple of songs he learned many years ago.

TONIGHT'S MOVIES

5:30 Channel 12: Hell's Island (1955 Adventure) John Payne, Mary Murphy. The whereabouts of a stolen ruby sends John Payne on a wild goose chase with murders and plot twists all along the way.

7:30 Channel 12: Summer Holiday (British; 1962 Musical) Cliff Richard, Lauri Peters. A lighthearted Musical jaunt through Europe with a group of teen-agers.

9:00 Channel 7: Judith (1966 drama) Sophia Loren, Peter Finch. Tale about an Austrian Jew who joins the Israeli underground to track down her ex-husband, who betrayed her to the Nazis.

9:00 Channel 13: Men of San Quentin (1942 Drama) J. Anothony Hughes, Eleanor Stewart. Familiar story that gains from actual filming at the famous prison.

11:30 Channel 7: Man of a Thousand Faces (1957 Biography) James Cagney, Jane Greer. The story of Lon Chaney who rose to fame as one of the silent screen's great actors.

11:50 Channel 2: The Window (1949 Suspense) Barbara Hale, Bobby Driscoll. Child witnesses a murder, but no one will believe him. Terrifically tense, suspenseful melodrama.

YOUR HEALTH: Dr. Walter Alvarez

I was happy to report here recently that the great chemist, Dr. C. H. Li, of the University of California, succeeded in solving the extremely difficult problem of synthesizing (producing in a laboratory) the growth hormone — a very complicated chemical produced in human beings by a tiny gland at the base of the brain. As I understand it, the hormone still has to be strengthened, and then it will have to be made in commercial quantity, but when it becomes generally available, that will be wonderful news for children who are not growing well.

* * *

As the editor of the journal, "Family Health," said recently, the growth hormone is the most fascinating of the 10 hormones secreted by the extremely important anterior pituitary gland, which influences a number of other glands of internal secretion (meaning that they pour their products directly into the blood), which produce very important hormones. The pituitary hormones have much to do with sex and the development of the fetus in the mother's womb.

The pituitary gland has much to do with the functioning of the adrenal glands which produce very powerful hormones, one of which is cortisone. Some experts feel that the molecule of the growth hormone plays a key role in weight control and in the body's ability to fight disease. It also governs milk secretion in women and sexual activity in both men and women. It promotes faster healing of fractured bones, and it lowers the levels of blood cholesterol, which many doctors feel can be very helpful to people who have to fear heart disease.

The study of growth hormone may eventually lead to the synthesis of an anti-growth hormone which could curb growth, and perhaps even the run-away growth of cancer cells; but that is all in the future. One reason why Dr. Li's synthesis of the hormone is so important is that the pituitary growth hormone obtained from animals such as cattle or horses does not work on boys and girls. Chemists have been studying growth hormone obtained mainly from human cadavers, but the expense of obtaining the glands from cadavers is so great that enough hormone cannot be obtained for the treatment of youngsters. Scientists are working hard so that before long, they will be able to make the synthetic growth hormone available to the youngsters who very much need it.

WINDSOR — A horse led Princess Anne to water Wednesday and almost made her drink. The 21-year-old princess, Britain's latest star horsewoman, riding her horse Purple Star in the Windsor trials, landed smack in the middle of a pond after the 13th jump and was soaked to the royal skin. Purple Star was supposed to merely skirt the edge of the deep pond after the jump. Instead the horse dashed straight into the water. Princess Anne managed to recover in waist-high water and ride out. Press photographers, realizing it was their lucky day, swarmed to the edge of the pond. "I suppose you're pleased with yourselves," said a tetchy princess as she emerged from the water.

WASHINGTON — The arrest of a 19-year-old woman, who the government says has "personal knowledge" of the March 1 bombing of the U.S. Capitol building, is the first visible break in a two-month FBI manhunt for those responsible. Arrested and held under $100,000 bond to ensure her appearance before a Seattle, Wash., grand jury investigating the bombing was Leslie Bacon, daughter of an Atherton, Calif., lumberman and a member of an anti-war group sponsoring demonstrations here.

BUFFALO — The wife of a Buffalo fireman found a man's body in the back seat of her car Wednesday as she was leaving home for a shopping trip. Police said Mrs. John J. Haettich found the body, lying face-down in the car. A green sweater was pulled partially over the dead man's head. The man was not immediately identified, but police said he apparently was a Canadian citizen. Mrs. Haettich said she and her husband last used the car for a trip to Fort Erie, Ont., Tuesday night.

HOLLYWOOD — In the week following the Academy Awards, Patton combined with M-A-S-H, played 424 theatres for a total gross of $3.5 million, the largest total for a week since the best picture of the year was released Feb. 18, 1970. Frank McCarthy, who spent almost two decades of his life trying to get Patton filmed, is elated, even though he won't collect a dime of the added millions the film is making. "I have no regrets that I don't have a share of the proceeds," says the 58-year-old producer.

PIERRE — Gov. Richard Kneip has proclaimed Monday state barbers' holiday and asked South Dakota citizens to pay special honor to their local barbers. "In these times of long hair it is fitting that we pause to pay special tribute to those men whose profession is being threatened by the lengthening locks," Kneip said.

SAN FRANCISCO — A whaling ship's captain observed John Fairfax and Sylvia Cook in their 35-foot boat Wednesday 35 miles west of San Francisco and on course in their attempt to row to Australia. Captain Leo Lady of the Donna Mae said, "they waved at us and didn't appear in any trouble."

SAN FRANCISCO — Angela Davis' attorneys tried again Wednesday to have the judge presiding over her murder and kidnap case removed — this time by the California Supreme Court. They appealed a "cavalier and arbitrary" ruling by a specially appointed justice who decided Judge Alan R. Lindsay was not biased against Miss Davis and her co-defendant, Ruchell Magee. Lindsay scheduled another hearing today on pretrial motions and the efforts of Magee's two court-appointed lawyers to withdraw from the case.

Education Program For Psychotherapists

A unique organization has been formed in Victoria to give counsellors and psychotherapists greater opportunities to share their knowledge and assess credentials.

At a membership meeting this week, bylaws of the Society for Counselling and Psychotherapy were approved and an education program announced.

A set of courses and lectures will be arranged through May and June and, hopefully, resume in September.

Using the lecture room at the Eric Martin Institute, a course on encounter group training will be held Tuesday and Wednesday. Sessions dealing with behavior modification will also be held at the EMI each Tuesday night.

On Thursdays, counsellors and psychotherapists will hold "sharing sessions" in which they will tell about the work they are doing and how it is being done.

Organizers of the program say a steering committee will be formed of representatives from all professional and lay groups. The chairmanship will rotate to prevent the domination by any special interest.

Between 300 and 400 people have shown interest in the society. A lecture series held earlier this spring attracted so many people that many had to sit in the aisles of the EMI's theatre.

A society spokesman said it is the first time to his knowledge that such an organization has been formed in a community like Victoria.

"It's a unique situation. Elsewhere, people have tried it but for one reason or another it has not worked," he said.

Nfld. Budget Shows Record Spending

By ED WALTERS

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Government plans for a major public works program in this election year were reaffirmed Wednesday when Premier Joseph Smallwood brought down a budget forecasting record spending of $507,639,500 with no change in taxes.

Mr. Smallwood said a $153,747,300 capital-account expenditure was "the biggest investment ever made in the quickening of the province's growth."

Capital and current account revenue was estimated at $409,461,900 with federal grants, shared-cost programs and other payments from Ottawa providing $191,054,000.

WAGES $290 MILLION

Wages—the government's single biggest expense—were estimated to cost $290 million in the 1971-72 fiscal year.

The estimates showed $98,241,500 capital account deficit and a surplus of $63,900 on current account.

Total expenditure in last year's budget was forecast at $395,252,700 while revenues were estimated at $339,009,500.

Despite the size of the proposed capital expenditure, Mr. Smallwood told reporters it was "not an election budget" but a "normal growth budget."

The government's five-year term expires Dec. 31 and an election is expected in June or September.

Canadian Route Favored

VANCOUVER (CP) — The president of the Independent Petroleum Producers Association says the United States appears to be committed to go ahead with the Alaska oil pipeline from Prudhoe Bay to Valdez, but major distributors favor a Canadian route.

A. H. Ross told the Pacific Northwest Trade Association conference Wednesday he is equally sure that additional reserves of oil will be found in Alaska and these will eventually be moved by pipeline through Canada.

"The alternative of hauling by pipeline to Valdez, liquifying and shipping to the west coast results in a higher delivered cost and a security hazard," said Mr. Ross.

"A 48-inch gas line would cost between $1.5 and $2.5 billion and would present both an opportunity and a challenge to the Canadian people and the financial community."

He said Canada's far north contains at least four times the oil and gas already discovered in this country.

"The discovery of a giant field in Alaska has brought Canada's north to the here and now."

CAPITAL SCENE

DUNCAN — A Red Cross blood donation clinic will be held at the Duncan United Church May 19 and 20.

The clinic will be open between 1:30 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. and from 6:30 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. daily.

Continue Advertising —Bennett

Premier Bennett declared today that he intends to continue placing advertisements in newspapers at public expense to "keep the people informed."

Bennett said he wants to thank opposition leader Dave Barrett for drawing attention to an advertisement in Wednesday's newspapers in which the provincial finance department compared B.C. income tax rates with those in other western provinces.

"Oh, you're going to see more of this type of advertising — we're going to keep the people informed in British Columbia" said Bennett.

Ottawa Band Playing Here

The band and choir of Fisher Park High School, Ottawa, will put on a public concert at 8 p.m. Saturday in the auditorium of Oak Bay Junior Secondary.

The Ottawa school is returning the visit of the Oak Bay Senior Secondary band during a recent tour.

A Loud Time Is Promised

The fuse-blasting wattage of at least a dozen rock and roll amplifiers will ring out across the Club Tango's dance floor Friday night when Cool-Aid and the Victoria Youth Council throw a benefit concert.

Times are 8 p.m. to 1 a.m., and the bands will be As Sheriff, Frendlyn Page, Buckeye, Sandoz and the Slow Goonbash Blooz Ensemble.

Bird Toll May Reach 1,000: Game Branch

The Washington state department of game said today over 200 birds have died from the oil spill at Anacortes Monday and the count may go as high as 1,000.

At the same time, the U.S. Coast Guard in Seattle reported that a lengthy aerial survey this morning shows only traces remain of the 230,000 gallons of light diesel oil accidentally dumped into Anacortes harbor.

Meanwhile the Coast Guard has charged two men employed by United Transportation Co. with negligence in Monday's accident.

Ted Groves of Tacoma and Patrick Moore of Kirkland, Wash., could lose their certificates to operate barges if the charges are sustained.

The spilled oil was being loaded overnight aboard a barge from the Texaco refinery at Anacortes and apparently escaped through an open valve in the barge.

While Texaco has disclaimed responsibility, it is helping in the cleanup. At the company's Seattle office Tuesday intruders dumped a quantity of dirty crankcase oil on the floor and fled.

The state game department said fishing and diving birds have been the main victims, including grebes, mergansers, scoters, scaup and harlequins.

Ornithologists were concerned particularly about migrating Black Brant geese but the department said only one or two of these have been found dead.

Oil kills the birds by neutralizing the natural waterproofing in their plumage. They generally die of exposure but some are poisoned when they ingest the oil while trying to preen their feathers.

Kristi Ward of the Seattle Wild Bird Clinic estimated 300 oiled birds had been picked up by volunteers but only 50 have survived so far.

A six-man task force flew in from Washington, D.C., Tuesday to study what the Washington Department of Ecology is calling "the most significant spill in the history of the state."

Meanwhile the Coast Guard is dealing with another oil spill problem on the Washington coast south of Seattle which has fouled parts of the coast over a 17-mile stretch.

Source of the oil is not known but because it is somewhat decomposed, it is thought it may have been discharged some time ago from a passing ship and possibly washed ashore after lying on the sea bottom.

Front loading tractors were used to scrape the gummy material from beaches near Ocean Park Tuesday evening.

Cool-Aid Show Aired Tonight

The sharp division in the local population about Cool-Aid is brought out in a 90-minute TV debate which is being rebroadcast tonight on Channel 10 beginning at 8:30 p.m.

Many controversial aspects of Cool-Aid activities, including plans for a new hostel, are discussed during the program by panel members Ald. Robert Baird, Charles Barber, speaking for Cool-Aid, and George Peden. Moderator is Bob Aylward, a producer for Cable 10 Forum.

Motorcyclist Bled to Death

John Marshall Fox, 23-year-old motorcyclist who died Sunday in a car-motorcycle crash at Cook and Pandora, bled to death as a result of extensive internal injuries, a coroner's jury was told Wednesday night.

Coroner Edmond Jorre de St. Jorre adjourned the inquest until Friday after hearing medical evidence from St. Joseph's Hospital pathologist Dr. Garth Walther.

'Table-Top' Clematis Display

By HILDA BEASTALL

Clematis plants of many kinds are great favorites in Victoria gardens. Not only do we see them growing up posts and into old trees, but we find them on low wire fences and scrambling over rocks.

Hilda

Thirty-six-inch wide chicken wire stretched for a length to suit the project — say a flat mass of flowers beside a terrace — will provide a farily permanent structure.

A narrow wooden lath frame would suffice, but tends to collapse in a few years. Strong bamboo stakes bound to a supporting frame with nylon ties is more durable.

The system of growing and training a clematis on a horizontal plane is simple once a beginning is made.

Remembering that climbers thrive if the root area and lower stems are shaded, we put the one or two plants selected into well prepared soil under the flat topped structure. Working from the north edge will give most soil shade as the plants grow, and watering needs will also be more easily discovered.

Varieties often chosen are large flowered types, but why not try a small flowered one on a lesser area to begin. The bell, or drooping types are abviously not for this project.

During the growing season, new growth will be rapid in this nearly ideal situation. The shoots will come through the frame to the light, and must be dealt with before they harden. Twine them gently and carefully in and out around the wire or around the bamboo canes.

Clematis climbs by leaf tendrils. Once these take a grip, there is no loosening without breaking the brittle stems. For a while your weaving will be a daily job.

As summer progresses, days get sunnier, and shade beneath the spreading clematis vine becomes denser — all according to plan.

Your reward is in having clematis blooms opening flatly on your horizontal frame for a table-top display. This is why it is suggested for a patio or terrace side feature, where you will have them at eye-level.

Why not try this on a sunny apartment balcony? Plant into a 12-inch tub beneath a 26 by 24 inch wire frame attached firmly to railings as a preventive to take-off in wind.

KARPIN ON BRIDGE

By FRED KARPIN

As had been reiterated in this column, possibly the greatest "play" gadget developed in the twentieth century is the "suit preference" signal. This signal is a device used in defensive play whereby a defender can indicate a positive desire to have his partner lead one suit rather than another. Here is an example of this play in action. Both sides vulnerable. North deals.

NORTH
♠ K 5 4 2
♡ K 3
♣ A Q 4

WEST
♠ 9
♡ 5
◇ 10 7 4 2

EAST
♠ A 7 6
♡ A Q J 10 9 8
◇ A 9 6 5

SOUTH
♠ Q J 10 8 3
◇ K
♣ J 9 3

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	4 ♡	4 ♠	Pass
Pass	Dbl.	Pass	Pass
Pass

Opening lead: Five of ♡.

The king of hearts was played from dummy as the opening lead, and East won the trick with his ace as South followed suit with the four-spot. East returned the eight of hearts, upon which South followed with the deuce. West now took a lengthy time-out to examine the situation.

It was readily apparent to West that East possessed the queen of hearts, for if South had that card he would have played it instead of allowing East's eight to win the second trick. Why, West asked himself, was East leading the eight-spot, instead of the queen?

Upon reflection, West realized that East had not only the heart queen, but also the jack, ten, and nine. If he didn't have the three latter cards, surely he would not have run the risk of leading the eight which South might have won with the nine, ten, or jack (from East's position, West might have started with the doubleton 5-2 of hearts, instead of the singleton five).

After due deliberation, West came to the conclusion that East was leading the heart eight rather than the queen as a suit-preference signal: that he was interested in the lower-ranking of the two obvious suits, that is, clubs as opposed to diamonds (the suit being led and the trump suit being excluded).

Since West was looking at the club king, and dummy had the ace and queen, West reasoned that East was void of clubs. So he ruffed his partner's winning eight of hearts and returned the deuce of clubs.

Although declarer played a low club from dummy, it didn't help much, for East ruffed the trick. In time, East also made the ace of diamonds and the ace of spades, to defeat South two tricks, for a score of 500 points. This score gave them a well-deserved "top-on-the-board."

Prosperity Brings Jail

SASKATOON (CP) — When prosperity strikes, the number of prisoners in the Regina jail increases, a welfare official said Tuesday.

The number of prisoners has increased to 408, compared with a previous high of 378 and a low of 210 last summer, indicating that better times have come, at least for those outside the walls, said C. A. Westcott, associate deputy minister of welfare.

"For some unkown reason, when the number of inmates increases, it's a sure sign that prosperity is just around the corner," he told a service club luncheon.

SOLUTION FRIDAY

BOOST REJECTED

EDMONTON (CP) — City Council has rejected a recommendation of its commission board that transit fares be increased to 35 cents from 25 cents.

The board recommended adult fares be increased to four tickets from five for $1 or to 46 cents for a single fare from 25 cents. The recommendation also suggested monthly passes be increased to $12 from $10.

Council was told that without the fare increase, the city transit system faces an estimated $1.7-million deficit this year.

Council was told that without the fare increase, the city transit system faces an estimated $1.7-million deficit this year.

If the increase had been approved, the deficit would have been reduced by an estimated $580,000.

NIXON ACCEPTS ANTI-WAR TEST

WASHINGTON (Reuter) — President Nixon holds a televised news conference tonight apparently aimed at meeting the challenge of anti-war demonstrators and their attempts to bring the U.S. government to a halt.

Although much of the questioning undoubtedly will take in the Sino-American thaw and the Middle East, the session beginning at 6 p.m. PDT is likely to focus on the president's feelings about militant opponents of the war who are trying to disrupt the capital.

The news conference was arranged suddenly two days ago, signalling a change in Nixon's original strategy of totally ignoring the demonstrators.

The president, who secluded himself in his Maryland mountain-top retreat last weekend during one of the largest anti-war rallies ever staged in Washington, had planned a trip which would have kept him in California next week, when the militants intend to block bridges and main commuter routes.

QUEEN MAY BE FORCED TO LIGHTEN TOUR LOAD

The Queen's 4,500-mile tour of B.C. could be lightened if her lingering cold and cough persist, a spokesman for Canada House said in London this morning.

The spokesman did not specify what changes might be made if the 45-year-old monarch's health forces cutbacks in her tour commitments.

Queen Elizabeth flew to her country estate at Sandringham, about 100 miles northeast of London in Norfolk, Tuesday. Doctors had advised a change of air and cancelling her engagements in hopes of shaking the heavy cold that has plagued her for the past month.

The spokesman said the Queen, however, would travel to Canada whether the cold is gone or not.

"We hope she will be 100 per cent fit, but she intends to go in any case," he said.

Kierans Resigns Over Economy

Challenges Policies

OTTAWA (UPI) — Communications Minister Eric Kierans resigned from the cabinet today after a dispute over economic policy, Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau announced.

Trudeau made the surprise announcement in the House of Commons following the regular Thursday morning cabinet meeting.

Jean-Pierre Cote, postmaster general, was named to take over Kierans' portfolio on a temporary basis until a successor is chosen.

In a letter to Trudeau, submitted to Parliament by the prime minister, Kierans said that the main objective of government should be "the attainment of full employment."

★ ★ ★

"To challenge openly long-established policies and practices would be embarrassing to my colleagues and to you, and unfair, if I were to remain in the cabinet. Therefore, I ask you to accept my resignation as minister of communications, effective immediately," Kierans said.

Recently at the National Press Club ball in Ottawa the communications minister openly joked about his reduced position in the cabinet and made a number of disparaging remarks about the way the prime minister directs his government.

His resignation was immediately accepted by Trudeau.

★ ★ ★

"I appreciate very much our lengthy discussion yesterday in which I expressed my concern about the economic problems, particularly employment facing Canada in the seventies.

"Challenges which did not exist 10 years ago now present themselves and demand a total re-examination of all elements of our economic policy."

"The rise of the international corporation for example is leading some economists and businessmen to talk in terms of gross world production as a better

CAMOSUN MERGER

Camosun College and Victoria Vocational School will be amalgamated on a three-year trial basis, Education Minister Donald Brothers announced today.

The regional college will be one of five such B.C. colleges to be melded with vocational schools in the province.

Brothers said the financial share of school districts involved will not be increased as a result of the move. Vocational school costs are carried by the province while regional colleges are a shared responsibility.

NEW ASIAN BALANCE

Thais Look to Hanoi

By MARILYN BERGER

LONDON (WP) — In an effort to establish a new balance in Asia as the United States lowers its profile, Thailand has stepped up efforts to develop contacts with Hanoi and Peking.

Bangkok's diplomatic probes include hints of tangible gain for them both — hydro-electric power for North Vietnam, for example, and a hard look after the Vietnam war has ended at U.S. bases in Thailand that might be interesting to China.

These attempts to create new patterns in the shifting Asian scene were disclosed Wednesday by Thailand's foreign minister, Thanat Khoman, who is here to attend the annual meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, in an interview.

Although Thanat said he had been trying for years to develop what he called a "supplementary policy of regionalism" to complement western ties, the rationale behind current Thai diplomacy clearly has a more recent origin.

"We recognize a malaise, a psychological fatigue (in the U.S.) about being overextended in many parts of the world," Thanat said. "I think this is a feeling on the part of many Americans — the press, academic circles, the mass media, certain political circles ... we do not know how that wave of malaise will exert an influence on the government."

Thanat said, in reply to a question, that he did not believe the Nixon doctrine meant that Thailand would be abandoned.

"We believe that President Nixon and the United States government feel it is necessary for the United States, as a world power, to maintain its presence not only in Asia but all over."

But in describing the "psychological fatigue" in the United States, Thanat recalled his years in Europe prior to the Second World War. "Countries receiving treaty guarantees from others, countries like Czechoslovakia and Austria, failed to get it (help)," he said.

Ever since he took office, Thanat said, he has pursued a dual policy of involving close relations with countires outside the area as well as regional acitvities. The emphasis, however, has now begun to shift toward greater attention to Thailand's neighbors.

"Now," he said, "the idea is to convince other regimes to participate — Hanoi, Pek-

N. Viets Offer Pull-Out Talks

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnam offered today to open immediate negotiations with the United States on a date for an unconditional withdrawal of all American forces from South Vietnam.

The proposal, made by Hanoi negotiator Xuan Thuy at the 111th weekly session of the Vietnam peace talks, was the first offer to "negotiate" a withdrawal date. Previously, North Vietnam and the Viet Cong guerrillas of South Vietnam have invariably demanded that the United States unilaterally set a date for its total withdrawal before negotiations can begin.

At the same time, Viet Cong "foreign minister," Mrs. Nguyen Thuy Binh, put forward what appeared to be a trial-balloon offer of an unconditional ceasefire with American forces.

"At the very moment when the Nixon administration refuses to put an end to the war," she said, "the South Vietnamese population and its armed forces are prepared to cease firing on American soldiers who do not undertake any hostile action against them."

U.S. SCEPTICAL

At the end of the closed session, a correspondent asked Thuy whether Mrs. Binh's offer applied to North Vietnamese forces.

Thuy replied that North Vietnamese forces are responsible for defending North Vietnam, but added: "Mrs. Minh's proposal concerns the

Anti-Terrorist Act Won't Be Extended

OTTAWA (UPI) — Justice Minister John Turner announced today that the government would not extend last fall's anti-terrorist legislation beyond its expiration Friday night and would refer the question of future legislation to a joint Senate-Commons committee.

"The government has decided not to seek the extension of the Public Order (Temporary Measures) Act.

"I have instructed the president of the Privy Council to appoint a special joint committee of the Senate and the House of Commons to study the nature of the kind of legislation required to deal with lawlessness ... in order to maintain peace and public order."

Pipeline Decision Seen by September

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton said today he expects to reach a final decision on construction of the Alaska oil pipeline by mid-September.

But Morton warned oil companies trying to pressure him into granting a permit for the pipeline that the project may be bogged down in the courts.

"Whatever we come up with is going to go right into the courts," he said.

A permit for construction of the 780-mile hot oil pipeline across public lands is being sought by the Alyeska Pipeline Co., which was formed by oil companies to build the pipeline.

The secretary, testifying before the senate interior committee, said a key problem in reaching a decision on a permit was an environmental impact report required by the national environmental policy act.

Morton said the interior department had not studied an alternative proposal for a pipeline through Canada. However, he said, he had urged the oil industry "to sit down with Canadian officials" to discuss the problem.

Preliminary studies, he said, showed a trans-Canadian pipeline would present some "very rugged problems" comparable to those of the North Slope-Valdez route through the heart of Alaska.

Holland 'Moves Left,' Conservatives Lose

By ANATOLE SHUB

With 98.3 per cent of the vote counted, the four government parties appeared to have lost nine of their former 83 seats in the 150-seat national assembly. The coalition is composed of the Catholic Party, two Protestant parties and the Conservative Liberals. Losses were most severe among the religious parties.

LABOR GAINS

The opposition Labor Party and two smaller allied parties gained eight seats, for a total of 52. Labor, with some 26 per cent of the total vote, emerged as the Netherlands strongest single party for the first time since 1956.

Eight seats were won by a new party called Democratic Socialism 70, which split off from the Labor Party last year. The new party is strongly committed to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization while Labor's current leaders have urged such steps as recognition of Communist East Germany.

ECM ISSUE

All the major and most of the minor parties strongly favor British entry into the Common Market. Among the minor parties, the Communists appear to have gained one seat, for a total of six, winning 15 per cent of the vote in the city of Amsterdam.

McGeer Calls Hike Irrational

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia Liberal leader Pat McGeer Wednesday said Prime Minister Trudeau's proposed method of raising salaries of members of Parliament and senators by lump sum increases every few years was "irrational and competely cynical."

Commenting on the proposed boost for MPs to $26,000 from $18,000—including an $8,000 tax-free expense allowance, Dr. McGeer said he accepted the need for pay increases, but they should be regulated by a formula system with provision for regular review and limited increases based on such factors as the

Cambodia Changes Premiers

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Cambodian Prime Minister Lon Nol resigned today and the chief of state, Cheng Heng, named deputy premier Sisowath Sirik Matak to succeed him.

Lon Nol, who suffered a stroke last February, had been unable to resume his full duties since returning earlier this month from medical treatment in Hawaii.

RETAINS POST

In making the announcement of the resignation and Sirik Matak's appointment, Cheng Heng said Lon Nol would be commander-in-chief of Cambodian armed forces. The move retained Lon Nol's stabilizing influence in this nation where Communist forces have been increasingly active.

It was possible, some sources said, that the final departure of Lon Nol from the prime ministership would throw the country into political turmoil.

Kent Enrolment, Down Sharply

KENT, Ohio, (UPI) — Almost one year after four students were killed by National Guardsmen at Kent State University, the university has had a 40 per cent decline in applications and admissions.

Joe Durbin, public relations director for KSU, said the school had admitted 2,937 students for next fall, as of April 27. At this time last year, the school had admitted 5,336.

Another official said the university has had a 41 per cent decline in admissions.

3 Charged In Holdup

VANCOUVER (CP) — Three former Quebec men were charged Wednesday night with the $327,550 armed robbery at the Bank of Montreal branch in Vancouver General Hospital.

Norman Kenneth MacDonald, 31, and Kenneth John Harber, 27, both of Haney, Robert Yvon Belec, 34, of Burnaby, will appear in provincial court today charged with committing the biggest bank heist in Vancouver's history.

Police are still searching for $326,050 in bills.

Police Take Drugged Man From Chinese

PARIS (AP) — French police held a drugged Chinese under guard today, waiting to hear his story, after taking him away from officials of the Chinese embassy who were trying to put him on a plane for Shanghai.

Chinese diplomats, who fought with airport police Wednesday in a vain attempt to get the man back, accused the French of kidnapping him and said they would pursue the matter through diplomatic channels.

The drugged man, Chung Shi-jung, was under guard in the maximum security ward of a hospital near the Paris police headquarters.

"When he's back to normal, he'll be free to decide if he wants to stay in France, to return home or to go to any other place of his choice," an officer said.

The incident posed a delicate problem for the French government, which had good relations with Peking long before this month's ping-pong thaw.

Labor Strife Doubles Lost Days

VANCOUVER (CP) — The number of work days lost in British Columbia due to strikes and lockouts during the first three months of this year are almost twice as high as last year's totals for the same period, preliminary federal government statistics released Wednesday indicated.

B.C. lost 118,160 work days in January, February and March this year, compared with 63,770 for the same three months last year — one of the worst years for labor strife in the province's history.

The province's labor dispute wastage this year represents 19 per cent of Canada's total. B.C. has just over 10 per cent of the national work force of about 8.3 million workers.

The worst months for strikes and lockouts last year were April, May, June and July. More than 85 per cent of the work stoppage occurred during this period.

Contract expiry dates this year indicate the worst period should be over in the next month unless negotiations are unsuccessful.

If negotiations fail and arbitration is used in the public interest, the 151,000-member B.C. Federation of Labor has threatened to take mass action.

They're not extendin' th' Public Order Act — an' thet restores some public order.

Gaglardi Boosts Welfare Rate To Rest Homes

Rehabilitation Minister Phil Gaglardi today announced an increase in the rate paid to rest home operators for care of welfare guests from $150 a month to a maximum of $174.

The move came just a few hours after the B.C. Rest Home Association at a Victoria meeting decided on a policy of evicting welfare guests in two weeks because of the government's failure to increase the rate.

John Hanrahan, vice-president of the association, said today the government announcement would have to be submitted to the membership but he regards the increase as "chickenfeed." Early indications are the operators are "quite unhappy."

He said the rest home operators require from $8 to $10 a day to care for welfare cases and discharged mental patients.

He also attacked the government for its handling of the matter, saying its policy of dealing with the operators on a "pressure" basis must be causing distress to old persons in the homes who wonder "what is going to happen to them next week, next month, next year."

Hanrahan said he is sorry that Gaglardi didn't make the announcement earlier before Wednesday night's meeting.

Gaglardi's announcement came at a hastily-called press conference following today's cabinet meeting which he said gave approval to the new rate.

The rate is the one recommended by an inter-departmental committee which studied the costs of 10 representative rest homes following pressure for an increase last year.

The government increased the rate on an interim basis last fall from $135 a month to $150 a month.

'Chickenfeed' Reaction

Earlier today Gaglardi said he was "sure" that the rest home operators wouldn't go through with their threat of evicting welfare guests.

He said they are "good citizens" and "you don't do business that way."

He also revealed that the cabinet had given approval some time ago to a reduction in the percentage of welfare guests that rest homes must take from 33 to 15.

But he said later that the government neither intends to force those homes which have less than 15 per cent to reach that level nor necessarily to allow those that exceed it to evict guests or come down to the level.

Hanrahan said the 15 per cent figure, which hasn't been make known to his association, would have little effect in any case because it would still impose burdens too heavy for operators to carry if rates are inadequate.

Health Minister Ralph Loffmark said today he feels the "problem" of the operators will dissipate when the government opens its newly-announced institutions for care of elderly welfare and low-income persons.

Hanrahan said he doesn't like the idea of segregating the poor into large institutions. There should be smaller homes in which the income groups are mixed but an adequate rate is paid by or for all persons, he said.

The new 15 per cent welfare case level is government policy, Gaglardi said, but a cabinet order which last year set the level at one-third of beds hasn't been rescinded, he added.

Hanrahan said the government can't force a private industry to take any percentage of welfare recipients and said he regretted that his own rest home couldn't afford to take any at the government rate.

Queen to Skip Dangerous Pass

The royal yacht Britannia will bypass the heavily-used Active Pass when she brings the royal visitors from Vancouver to Victoria Monday.

Avoiding the area where the B.C. ferry Queen of Victoria and the Russian freighter Sergey Yesenin collided Aug. 2, 1970, the yacht's course will take her through Boundary Pass, between Saturna and Waldron Island, and up Haro Strait.

She is expected to be in the vicinity of the Ogden Point breakwater shortly after 6 p.m. and will be docking in the Inner Harbor at 7 p.m.

★ ★ ★

Aboard the Britannia with the Queen, Prince Philip and Princess Anne will be Governor-General and Mrs. Roland Michener, Prime Minister and Mrs. Pierre Trudeau, Premier and Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett.

The Britannia leaves Esquimalt Friday at 9 a.m. en route to Vancouver.

Two Canadian armed forces Voyageur helicopters will be flown from Edmonton this weekend to take part in the royal tour of B.C.

'Checkpoint Doctor' All the Way

Competitors in the 4,800-mile B.C. Centennial car rally from Ottawa to Victoria will be doing their bit for science as well as competing for a share of the $25,000 in prizes, trophies and prize money.

Jim Bowie of Vancouver, co-ordinator and B.C. director for car rallies of the Canadian Automobile Sports Club, said today teams of doctors will be be examining the competitors along the route.

"The federal department that researches causes of automobile accidents have arranged to have doctors all along the way, testing for auto fatigue.

●

"This will be a pretty strenuous rally. Each car has two drivers who spell each other. Uusually, they will be driving for 24 hours then having a 12-hour rest."

Although the entries will be limited to 125, organizers feel that a good 30 per cent will fall by the wayside.

●

Tom Burgess and Garry Wikjord of Vancouver, who are helping Bowie, said the route will be no picnic. It will use a high percentage of back roads, some of them in pretty treacherous condition.

Burgess warns: "The cars will have to be pretty reliable. There are some very tough roads that will be hard on suspensions, tires, brakes and major components."

There will be both individual and team entries and Wikjord says that spectators will probably see backup crews of team entries changing whole engine units along the way.

More than 1,000 volunteers will man the 100-odd checkpoints, some of them driving as much as 400 miles to do their stint.

Although the bulk of the competitors will be Canadians, enquiries have come in from South Africa and Australia and entries are expected from all parts of Europe.

The last stretch of the rally will be from Nanaimo to Beacon Hill Park.

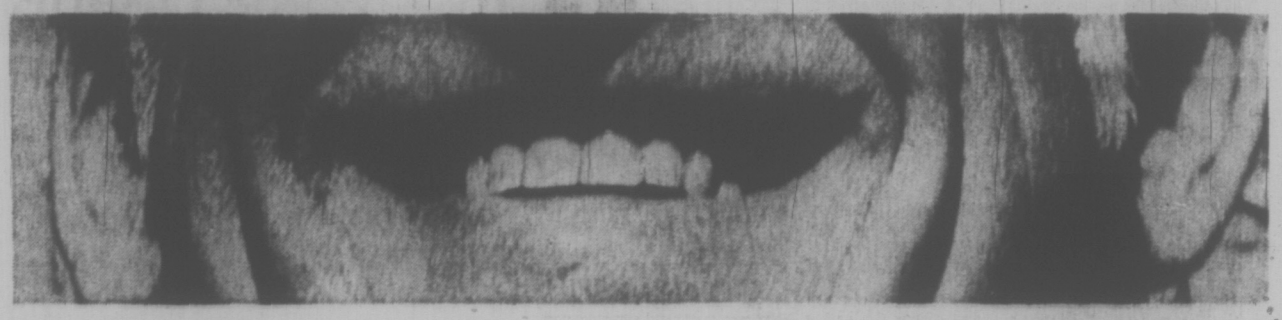
$5,000 Damage In Saanich Blaze

Saanich firemen battled a $5,000 house fire for three hours Wednesday night at 308 Obed.

A fire department spokesman said two trucks responded to the call at 9:35 p.m. and found the house of Neil Driedger in flames.

They confined the blaze to the rear of the house where a bedroom, closet and the roof received $4,000 damage. Another $1,000 damage was done to contents of the house.

Fire officials said the cause of the fire was still unknown this morning.



GUESS WHO'S producing this happy grin. Here's a hint: it's someone who knows a lot about smiles. That means it has to be Jerry Gosley, after Greater Victoria school trustees decided to rent Oak Bay Junior High auditorium for his Smile Show this summer. After a history of 18 years the revue was in danger of ending this year for lack of a suitable site to perform.

MEDIATOR KEEPS SIDES TALKING

Union and city hall negotiators remained closeted at none today in an effort to avoid a strike by 270 outside civic workers.

Local 50 of the Canadian Union of Public Employees turned down a two-year 15 per cent wage hike offer by the city last week. A 72-hour countdown to a strike will begin if provincially-appointed mediator Clark Gilmour reports to the B.C. Mediation Commission that he is unable to bring the two sides together.

Gilmour called the meeting of the two sides today despite the fact talks broke down last week after council adamantly rejected the idea of an improved offer and union members showed no signs of budging on their threat to strike.

The workers are city employees involved in maintenance, streets, parks and public works. The city's negotiating team, lawyer Ed Pearlman, city manager Bill Hooson and personnel director Terry Fitzpatrick, met earlier this morning before entering negotiation rooms along with union negotiators and Gilmour at 10 a.m.

It was not now known what part of the contract offer may provide room for further negotiation.

Building Equipment Damages Beach

Ted Hart, municipal administrator, said ghe beach is coated with mud.

"The construction of the sea wall was under contract," he said. "We are investigating the matter. We are anxious to protect our few remaining small beaches from being damaged."

Hart said a building permit was issued by the municipality to G. S. Reeson for the construction of a home, plus a sea wall to prevent erosion.

He said the matter of mud on the beach is being taken up with federal and provincial authorities.

No Hole in One This Time

Saanich council played a couple of holes Wednesday night — and ended up at the same place they started.

It was all over an Item 5679-2, improvements to Cedar Hill golf course.

The provisional budget set aside $10,000 for this expense.

First up was a motion to cut it to $5,000. The motion failed.

Then they tried $10,000 — it too failed.

Enter the compromise — $7,500. It also failed.

Back to square one — a motion to cut the $10,000 to $5,000 passed.

"We certainly went around the course," said Ald. Frank Waring.

ESQUIMALT SURVEY SHOWS

Parents Favor Corporal Punishment

A survey of 101 Esquimalt parents shows they are strongly in favor of retaining corporal punishment and dress regulations in schools.

Parents who answered a questionnaire sent out by Macaulay Elementary principal Hector Sutherland were 93 per cent in favor of compulsory education.

They also thought the most serious problems in education are a lack of discipline and large classes.

About 380 of the questionnaires were distributed to parents in March, and 101 were returned.

Asked about discipline, 73 per cent felt it was not strict enough, 21 were satisfied and three per cent thought it was too strict.

The parents were almost unanimous in agreeing with the statement that the pupil-teacher ratio should not exceed 35-1, and a few amended it to read 30-1 or 25-1.

About 24 per cent expressed agreement with the statement that school is a "waste of time," but 74 per cent disagreed.

Fifty-seven per cent could recall criticizing schools for some reason or another, but only 12 per cent said they had heard good things.

Opinion was divided on the question of teachers' right to strike: 52 per cent against strikes, 38 per cent for, and 10 per cent had no opinion.

Eighty-three per cent said there should be dress and grooming regulations, and 85 per cent favored retaining corporal punishment.

There was a strong demand for courses in sex education (88), drug education (92) and French (75). Only 22 per cent supported religious instruction.

EARLIER THIS WEEK, I expressed a hope held by many Victorians that the late Queenie of Beacon Hill park will be replaced by a horse worthy to fill her oversize hoofprints. I'm also aware that some thought has been given to a farm-type zoo at Beacon Hill.

Today I can announce that if Victoria through her good parksmen decides to set up a childrens' farm, two interested citizens are willing to supply the livestock.

To wit: one big black mare of working breed; one pony; each spring, several ewes with their lambs, also a cow and her calf.

The offer comes from John Olson, co-owner with his brother, Keith, of the Strathcona hotel and that familiar though sometimes disputed tourist attraction—the horse-drawn Tally-Ho service.

But not to look a proffered gift horse in the teeth, here's the story.

"If they want a replacement for Queenie," John Olson told me, "we'll be glad to contribute a marvellous old mare. Her name is Babe. She's about 22 years old, a magnificent beast, and she spent 12 years on the Tally-Ho."

Last year, Olson went on, Babe retired from active service. So did veteran Tally-Ho man Roy Lidstone, now 80, but still the outfit's barn boss. He and Babe are old friends, and Lidstone was concerned about what the future might hold for her.

"I'll tell you what we did," said Olson. "We got two bottles of champagne, then we tied Babe to a center post of the barn, and the crew gathered round. We held a retirement ceremony for that mare, and at the end, we toasted her in champagne.

"Then I promised Roy Lidstone that Babe would spend the rest of her life at pasture. That's where she is now, out at the 5,000-acre ranch we lease from the Department of National Defence on Rocky Point."

We talked about wise old Babe a while longer. How well she conducted herself in traffic. How she would halt at a stop sign without command.

He thought for a moment, then said, "They ought to have a pony, too. We'll give them a pony. Children like lambs. Every spring, we'll bring in some ewes and their lambs."

By this time, we could both see the children's farm pretty clearly. A happy place: kids would love it.

"And a cow," Olson said, filling out the list, "with her calf."

So there it is, an offer with no strings attached, for Victoria to consider in this Centennial year.

For myself, I like the sound of it!

A well-matured lady of this town writes to reveal that she was called upon a few days ago by a young man who introduced himself as a university student. He explained that he was taking a "public relations course" which required him to find people who would lend an ear while he spoke on any topic for 10 minutes.

If you've heard this familiar pitch, you know what's coming. The discourse somehow swung around to magazines. Our subject can now look forward to $16 of Maclean's, which really shouldn't countenance such oblique tactics by its representatives.

She signed with her eyes open. As she explains it, she didn't mind helping the boy make a buck in a year when jobs are scarce. But she feels that others less able to pay stand to be hurt by this dubious practice.

She cites the case of an old man who was persuaded to part with double the amount, which he can't by any means afford.

This sort of hanky-panky blooms regularly as the flowers of spring.

. . . ROYAL VISIT

An influenza virus persisting in London in recent weeks and the Queen's insistence on staying outdoors in cold and rainy weather to watch Princess Anne ride could have impeded her recovery, doctors said.

The Queen will not receive a full check-up until she returns to Windsor Castle Friday, doctors said.

The 10-day royal tour of British Columbia will go ahead as scheduled, deputy provincial secretary Laurie Wallace said today.

"We were informed by Buckingham Palace that the Queen was resting up and that the tour would go ahead as planned," Wallace said.

He said tour officials were told there was no reason to be concerned over the news that the Queen flew to her country estate at Sandringham.

Today the Queen looked over her stable of horses at Sandringham, and generally spent a quiet day in the sun.

Lon Nol and Oirik Matak acted together to depose former chief of state Prince Norodom Sihanouk on March 18, 1970, and set the country on the course of becoming a republic.

From then until he suffered a stroke that paralyzed his left side last Feb. 8, he served as a king of political lynch-pin for Cambodia, a rallying point around whom patriots could coalesce, and an able adjudicator of the inevitable factional squabbles that cropped up in the government.

Sirik Matak is widely regarded here as an able administrator and an essentially honest man who has a substantial following in the army and government, but who does not possess the commanding stature of Lon Nol.

ing, Pyongyang . . . if they agree to coexist we will achieve a certain measure of success."

Thanat said that through third countries Thailand had let China know it was interested in developing contacts. "We want to discuss ways and means to live peacefully together," he said.

He now only awaited a sign of interest from Peking. There had been no discussion as yet on the kind of relationships that could be formed, he said, but he indicated that opportunities for trade existed.

As to the continuation of American use of air bases in Thailand, Thanat said the current arrangement was valid only for the duration of the war in Vietnam under a bilateral agreement unconnected with SEATO.

NOT FOR DEFENCE

Bangkok has always said that U.S. forces would not be required for the defence of Thailand, and Thanat indicated that after Vietnam the entire issue of an American presence would have to be re-examined.

With Hanoi, Thanat said, discussions had been held under the auspices of the International Red Cross concerning Vietnamese nationals living in Thailand. The Thais want to repatriate the more than 40,000 persons now living in border areas.

Thanat said that a lower echelon North Vietnamese representative had recently returned to Thailand and that he was awaiting some reply. The existence of this channel for discussion has been used to broach other matters.

"On our side," Thanat said, "we've told them we have no ill intentions against them . . . that we are willing and prepared not only to look upon them as a sovereign entity but to see them parties in regional activities, especially in the Mekong project."

Thanat said that Thailand was ready to have North Vietnam share in the sizable output of hydroelectric power emanating from the Mekong River development.

So far, Thanat said, Hanoi has not responded but he said he had the "feeling they are about ready to communicate with us."

"One can detect the assumption that Canada is to be assigned the role of supplier of resources presumably because we have them and also because we do not have a sufficient domestic market to justify their conversion into finished or semi-finished products here at home.

"Economic policy is put together from a variety of elements but the overriding objectives of all nations in the seventies must be the attainment of full employment however defined as the best guarantee of political, social and economic stability.

"To this end, all elements of policy, monetary, fiscal, commercial, energy and resources, agricultural, regional development, must be inter-connected to ensure that they do not work at cross purposes and at the expense of overall objectives," he said.

Kierans went on that Canada is fortunate in its resource base and can insist on exports with a higher labor content than is currently used.

"Tax concessions," he said, "that force the pace of our raw material export or favor the over-employment of capital which we have to import at the expense of labor which is in surplus, would not be consistent with long-run Canadian growth and employment objectives."

Treasure Hunt Draw

The winning ticket holders will be eligible to dig for treasure at the Town and Country Shopping Centre Saturday at 11:30 a.m.

Tickets bought for Saturday's dig are good for future 'digs' and the Queen's Chest and are available at the 800 Wing of the R.C.A.F. Association.

Full Economic Recovery This Year 'Unlikely'

Any hopes for full economic recovery this year are unlikely to be fulfilled, says Conrad F. Harrington, chairman and chief executive officer of the Royal Trust Co., whose top echelon met in Victoria for the first time today.

Harrington, of Montreal, said in an interview before the company's executive committee meeting in the Provincial Museum, that nothing significant can happen until Canada's taxation policy is made clear.

Uncertainty about white paper tax reforms is evident not only in the Canadian business environment, but abroad, where much investment capital originates, he noted.

At the same time, Harrington expressed concern that with recovery come the hazards of inflationary trends, from which the wage spiral was singled out.

ILL-TIMED

The proposed salary increase for members of Parliament — about 40 per cent — whether or not it is deserved, is ill-timed for public acceptance, Harrington said.

"How can they possibly justify this when they (Prices and Incomes Commission) are urging no more than six per cent wage increases?" he asked. If the MP raises go through, it will be "extremely difficult to control the inflationary wage spiral."

Royal Trust, said president and chief operating officer Kenneth A. White, had managed to bring its average wage increase down from 13 per cent to eight per cent in a matter of 10 months, and reviews a sector of wage structure monthly.

'PLAY-ACTING'

White said that with government measures now effective in applying stimulation and with corporate capital spending arranged, it is up to consumer demand and confidence to restore bouyancy to the economy.

"The basis is there, they have set the scene. It is up to someone else to begin the play-acting."

He noted there have been large consumer-oriented advertising expenditures, which fortify the Royal Trust outlook. Harrington added there is plentiful mortgage money available.

The chairman Wednesday attended a meeting of the Trust Companies Association before coming to the west coast. He said it seemed there was agreement on the importance of settling tax policy.

Civil servants have been called in to be familiarized with new legislation, but the investor and general public still do not know what to expect, Harrington said.

ACT TOGETHER

The longer the matter is left unsettled, the harder it will be to put the investment industry in perspective and to keep it attractive, he said.

White suggested there was some government arrogance involved, and wondered how government can be so confident in itself to fly in the face of business. Harrington felt that Quebec and Ontario acting together can do much to influence government on the degree of reform introduced.

"There is a terrible hiatus between government and business, and we've got to get around this," Harrington said. He noted steps being taken in Quebec to bring the two closer by Premier Bourassa's appointment of business leaders to some government responsibilities, and his own role along with other top executives on the Quebec Council for Industry.

It is wondered by some executives whether the present federal government has any goals, he said.

counsellor attached to the Chinese embassy in Algiers. It was reported he recently made contact with the French embassy there, telling officials he would try to defect as he passed through Paris en route to China.

Chung was semi-conscious and assisted by several Chinese when he arrived at Orly Airport Wednesday to take a Pakistani airliner to Shanghai.

The airport police stepped in and called a doctor who said Chung apparently had been drugged and was not in condition to travel. There were needle marks on his arms and he was wearing half a dozen pullovers, indicating he had been injected with tranquillizers which normally lower the body temperature.

When the police refused to turn Chung back to his companions, they tried to push into the office where Chung was held. Scuffles broke out on three occasions.

The case had some similarity to one in The Hague in 1966, when Chinese officials kidnapped an engineer named Hsu Tzu-tsai from hospital and took him to the embassy compound. He died there, and the incident strained relations between the Chinese and the Dutch.

liberation armed forces of South Vietnam (the Viet Cong) and the American forces. The proposal demonstrates the Vietnamese people's humanitarian feelings and sincere desire for peace."

U.S. chief negotiator David K. E. Bruce, asked to comment on Mrs. Binh's statement told correspondents: "She did not truly propose a ceasefire or anything else that was new."

Bruce and South Vietnamese delegate Pham Dang Lam called on North Vietnam to name a neutral country or international organization to act as "protecting power" for prisoners held by both sides. Lam also asked Thuy to name a neutral country to which Saigon could transfer 1,200 prisoners held for more than four years for "temporary internment."

Long Beach Shelters Banned

The cabinet has passed an order banning temporary or permanent shelters on the crown foreshore in the Long Beach area.

The order covers beaches to the north and south of the Pacific Rim National Park in the Ucluelet and Tofino areas.

The move was expected following earlier use of the same powers to ban squatters on a beach at Hornby Island.

At the same time provincial park supervisors have been given the power to evict people from parks for 48 hours for causing disturbances.

Minister Appointed

EDMONTON (CP) — Ray Speaker, 35, was appointed Wednesday by Premier Harry Strom as minister of a combined department of heath and social development.

ROAD WORK LOPPED OFF

Oak Bay Trims Estimates

More than two mills were slashed from the estimates when Oak Bay council held its second budget-paring session Wednesday.

The tax increase, at the close of Tuesday's session, stood at 2.56 mills compared with 4.99 mills when estimates were first considered Monday.

The final rate will be set Tuesday after bids have been opened for the construction of the municipality's branch library and senior citizens' centre.

INFLUENCED

The first big item to be lopped off the estimates, reducing the increase by just over one mill, was $54,000 earmarked for work on Gordon Head Road.

This decision was influenced by Saanich council's move not to do its share of the roadwork this year.

Another two large items taken from the budget were $15,000 for landscaping and blacktopping of Oak Bay Marina's parking lot and $20,000 for storage and activity room at Carnarvon Park.

Also deleted was $9,250 for mercury lighting on Central Avenue.

Council approved $3,400 for publicity but noted that Oak Bay itself is a tourist attraction and money spent on Beach Drive and at the marina is legitimate tourist expenditure.

Ald. Douglas Watts said he agreed with Victoria council's stand that it should not pay the lion's share while the prime beneficiaries gave less to the Victoria Visitors' Bureau.

"The prime beneficiaries of the tourist dollar," he said, "should be prepared to chip in more than they do."

CHAMBER GRANT

Mayor Frances Elford said tourism had become a "self-generating business" and that it's impossible to keep tourists away.

Council also voted a grant of $350 to the Chamber of Commerce. Watts said the chamber provided a service to all the municipalities in replying to inquiries about the area.

Mayor Elford said that further adjustment to the budget may have to be made after the bids for the library and centre are opened at 4 p.m. Friday.

She said that no shelving had been included in the specifications.

Ald. Norman Pimlott suggested the Library Development Commission might be approached for financial help. The LDC had contributed $5,000 to both the Esquimalt and Town and Country Libraries.

In spite of the many crowded council meetings in recent months, council decided to delete $1,620 from the budget, earmarked for a public address system for the council chamber.

In the interest of economy they decided they would rather learn to speak louder.

Ford Continues Fight for $1 Million Inheritance

Allan Douglas Ford died in 1967, leaving an estate of $1 million. He was 94.

Negotiations with the City of Victoria have given Ford his father's 19-room house standing on 2½ acres as well as a number of art objects.

Ford commented here: "The next move will be to apply for what is called testator family maintenance.

"Having come so far with this I must go on."

Ford, 48, and his wife live in the Melbourne suburb of Burwood. They are childless.

Ford, who broadcasts on the popular Melbourne Newsbeat program, said he has spent $50,000 contesting the will so far.

He and Melbourne solicitor James Duggan between them have flown 12 times to Canada in the last three years.

WILL KEEP FIGHTING

"It's a bitter pill but I intend to keep fighting," Ford said when the news of his latest losing case reached Melbourne. His mother and father separated in Canada in 1927, when he was five. His mother, an Australian, brought him here to live.

He next saw his father when he went to Canada in 1965.

His father was then bedridden.

Ford returned to Canada for his father's funeral in 1967.

He then made the initial move to contest the will.

In January, 1969, he began a "trial" case against the will executors in Victoria.

Late in 1969, three judges in Vancouver were unanimous in upsetting the will in Ford's favor.

Ford's lawyer contended the will was made when his father was 86 "having formed delusions that John was not his son." The executors of the will have conceded there is no doubt John Ford was the son of Allan Ford.

In February last year, executors were given leave to appeal by a two to one judgment. In June, motion by Ford to have this quashed was not granted.

Hummel Wanted Things 'Correct'

Contractor Siegfried Marquardt testified Wednesday in the tax evasion trial of lawyer David Hummel that Hummel, a lawyer and former business partner, had never given any indication he would try to cheat the revenue department.

Marquardt was replying to cross-examination by defence lawyer John Spencer of Vancouver during the sixth day of the trial. Hummel is charged with evading taxes on more than $127,000 and with four counts of making false statements on income tax returns.

Marquardt said tax problems were never discussed to any large extent by the partnership because "we never made that much money."

"To use Mr. Hummel's phrase, he was always insistent that things must not only be correct, they had to look correct too."

Transactions conducted by the partnership around the time involved in the tax charges included buying out another partner, lawyer Michael Warren. Money raised for the purchase came from the sale of a 20 per cent share in ownership of a group venture, the Red Lion Motor Inn.

Marquardt said he had discussed with chartered accountant R. W. Denson the question of whether proceeds from the sale of Red Lion shares were taxable income or non-taxable capital gain.

"He (Denson) didn't give me a clear answer," Marquardt said, "but I took his advice to mean that it was not taxable. I understood that there was a 90 per cent chance the money was not taxable and 10 per cent chance that it was."

He said he had already been given the same advice by Hummel, but wanted "another opinion" from Denson.

Marquardt said the companies operated by himself, Hummel and the late William Osland had come to rely on Denson's advice in tax matters. On his own tax return, Marquardt said, he had recorded the Red Lion proceeds as capital gain.

Region Hires PR Man As Secretary

The Capital Regional District Wednesday appointed a full-time secretary to the board who is also the information officer.

He is Jim Hume, former Victoria Daily Times City Hall reporter, who was hired as part-time information officer for the regional hospital board last May.

As a part-time employee, his salary was $666.66 per month or $7,999.92 a year. The full-time job pays $12,000 a year.

Wednesday's decision, made behind closed doors, was unanimous, board chairman and Saanich Mayor Hugh Curtis said later.

Last May's decision was made in open session and 10 directors holding 23 votes voted yes while seven directors holding 16 votes said no.

Curtis said there was "no reason at all" for Wednesday's decision to be behind closed doors, but pointed out it was a personnel matter and the part-time engagement last May was the initial hiring.

The full-time job was advertised and half a dozen applicants were interviewed.

Before the Judge

A 17-year-old youth was sentenced to nine months definite and 12 months indeterminate Wednesday for three counts of breaking, entering and theft, three counts of theft over $50 and another of breaking and entering with intent.

Judge William Ostler told David McCaskill, 44 Menzies, that he realized the offences were committed for drug purchases, a pattern he said was becoming "so rampant among young people."

The offences included theft of two cars, breaking and entering the same car-wash twice and obtaining cash over $50 each time and breaking into the same home on Mount Joy twice.

The accused left the Mount Joy residence without taking anything on one occasion after he was observed by a neighbor. On the other occasion he stole $60 cash.

McCaskill also broke into an upholstery shop in the city, stole some cash and several ignition keys to cars.

All the offences occurred between mid-February and early April.

* * *

Robert E. Southern, 33, of 1184 Esquimalt, was fined $200 when he pleaded guilty to driving while under suspension.

Court was told that he was given a 24-hour roadside suspension late April 27 and was found driving again early April 28.

* * *

She was arrested by police officers who arranged a rendezvous with her in the cocktail lounge of a local hotel.

Two officers went with the woman to a hotel room where they discussed money before one of the officers left returning shortly with several other policemen to make the arrest.

* * *

Rudolph P. Ohm, 62, of Mill Bay Road, was given a suspended sentence and placed on a year's probation for dangerous use of a firearm and possession of a restrictive weapon.

He earlier pleaded guilty to firing a pistol into the roadway in Saanich last December during an argument with the occupants of a vehicle he felt was blocking the road.

Ohm was also prohibited by Ostler from carrying a weapon for 18 months and his pistol was confiscated.

* * *

Robin De Kelver, 17, of 4126 Birtles, was sentenced to five months in jail for theft over $50.

He earlier admitted breaking into a construction shack in Saanich March 17 and stealing a $500 radio-telephone.

Ostler expressed dismay that the youth was back in court so soon after probation was given last November for another theft conviction.

Possession Nets Jail

A 32-year-old Saanich man was jailed for three years Wednesday by Judge William Ostler for possession of heroin.

An RCMP officer testified at the time that White had eight capsules of heroin in a balloon on the floor of his car when he was stopped on Lyall.

Prosecutor Norman Prelypchan read the accused's record that dated to 1957 which included four prison terms for narcotic offences.

Island Municipalities to Consider Combined Data Processing Centre

The Association of Vancouver Island Municipalities convention next week will discuss a centralized data processing centre.

The Capital Regional District board agreed to refer to the AVIM meeting a series of recommendations made in a report by the Vancouver Island Municipal Officers' Association.

Regional district executive director Dennis Young said studies have made clear there are "very significant gains" to be made by adopting data processing techniques on a co-operative basis.

So far, there has been "relatively limited political involvement" and the stage has been reached in the technical merits of studies to bring the subject before councils and regional districts, he said.

The municipal officers association report recommended:

- Approval in principle of a centralized municipally-controlled data processing centre.
- Capital Regional District assume the function of development and operation of such a centre on behalf of its member municipalities and to provide a similar service to the rest of the island on a contract basis.
- Establishment of a management advisory committee to assist in development of operating priorities and policies for such a centre.
- To finance initial cost of relocating staff and equipment presently under the jurisdiction of Victoria city in a more suitable long-term location, together with the cost of preliminary systems analysis, legislation be enacted providing for a one-time levy by all regional districts on Vancouver Island of not more than 1-20th of a mill.
- To meet needs of municipalities requiring immediate access to data processing, Victoria city be asked to provide for such an interim need on a fee-for-service basis.

In other business, the regional board:

- Agreed to revamp the building bylaw, and gave initial readings to an amending bylaw, to bring it up to 1970 National Building Code standards, add regulations for various standards for mobile homes and introduce commonly-used building permit fee charges.
- Agreed to hold a referendum in Metchosin this December on participation, with Langford and Colwood, in financing an ice arena. Langford and Colwood residents approved this earlier, but Metchosin residents failed by 12 votes to give it the necessary 60 per cent approval.

Italy Charging Alleged Fascists

ROME (Reuter) — Twenty more persons have been charged with seeking to revive the banned Fascist party of the late dictator Benito Mussolini, police said.

This brings to 32 the number of persons facing proceedings on these charges.

Police said the latest step followed the arrest of Clemente Graziani, 46, who is accused of founding the "New Order" movement with the "principles, symbols and methods of the dissolved Fascist party."

Indian Education Attacked

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP)—The European educational system that has been imposed on Canada's Indians came under bitter attack Wednesday at the second annual national conference on Indian culture.

Bert McKay, principal of the Nass Valley Reserve schaol, told a panel discussion "Indian education is a complete failure" as it relates to his people in the valley, about 90 miles north of Prince Rupert, B.C.

Mr. McKay said many teachers in the Indian educational system are not aware of Indian culture and that without some knowledge of this culture, it is impossible to design a curriculum of interest to Indians.

Barrie Nicholas, representing TRIBE, a group working on native education problems in the Maritimes, said his group is doing a critique on text books offered Indians in the school system and trying to improve on them.

FIT CULTURE

Kent Goodwin, a representative of the Indian affairs department education branch, said the department is involved in a number of studies and pilot projects in Indian education and has prepared special courses for teachers who will work in Indian schools.

He said books written by and for Indians now are being included in the curriculum at a number of Indian schools, and his department is interested in finding more books of this type.

"It is clear," he said, "that the darkest days for the education of Indian children are over."

Cab Firm Fined

CALGARY (CP) — Bell Cabs Ltd. and its principal shareholder were fined a total of $12,000 Wednesday for income tax evasion and filing false returns in 1966 and 1968.

Court was told the firm's earnings in those years were $20,360 and $33,127, respectively, but the returns claimed losses of $1,031 and $171.

Mrs. E. E. Richardson, principal shareholder and managing director of the taxi firm, pleaded guilty.

Education Program For Psychotherapists

A unique organization has been formed in Victoria to give counsellors and psychotherapists greater opportunities to share their knowledge and assess credentials.

At a membership meeting this week, bylaws of the Society for Counselling and Psychotherapy were approved and an education program announced.

A set of courses and lectures will be arranged through May and June and, hopefully, resume in September.

Using the lecture room at the Eric Martin Institute, a course on encounter group training will be held Tuesday and Wednesday. Sessions dealing with behavior modification will also be held at the EMI each Tuesday night.

On Thursdays, counsellors and psychotherapists will hold "sharing sessions" in which they will tell about the work they are doing and how it is being done.

Organizers of the program say a steering committee will be formed of representatives from all professional and lay groups. The chairmanship will rotate to prevent the domination by any special interest.

Between 300 and 400 people have shown interest in the society. A lecture series held earlier this spring attracted so many people that many had to sit in the aisles of the EMI's theatre.

A society spokesman said it is the first time to his knowledge that such an organization has been formed in a community like Victoria. Elsewhere, people have tried it but for one reason or another it has not worked," he said.

Nfld. Budget Shows Record Spending

By ED WALTERS

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Government plans for a major public works program in this election year were reaffirmed Wednesday when Premier Joseph Smallwood brought down a budget forecasting record spending of $507,639,500 with no change in taxes.

Mr. Smallwood said a $153,747,300 capital-account expenditure was "the biggest investment ever made in the quickening of the province's growth."

Capital and current account revenue was estimated at $409,461,900 with federal grants, shared-cost programs and other payments from Ottawa providing $191,064,000.

WAGES $390 MILLION

Wages—the government's single biggest expense—were estimated to cost $290 million in the 1971-72 fiscal year.

The estimates showed $98,241,500 capital account deficit and a surplus of $63,900 on current account.

Total expenditure in last year's budget was forecast at $395,252,700 while revenues were estimated at $339,009,500.

Despite the size of the proposed capital expenditure, Mr. Smallwood told reporters it was "not an election budget" but a "normal growth budget."

Canadian Route Favored

VANCOUVER (CP) — The president of the Independent Petroleum Producers Association says the United States appears to be committed to go ahead with the Alaska oil pipeline from Prudhoe Bay to Valdez, but major distributors favor a Canadian route.

A. H. Ross told the Pacific Northwest Trade Association conference Wednesday he is equally sure that additional reserves of oil will be found in Alaska and these will eventually be moved by pipeline through Canada.

"The alternative of hauling by pipeline to Valdez, liquifying and shipping to the west coast results in a higher delivered cost and a security hazard," said Mr. Ross.

"A 48-inch gas line would cost between $1.5 and $2.5 billion and would present both an opportunity and a challenge to the Canadian people and the financial community."

He said Canada's far north contains at least four times the oil and gas already discovered in this country.

CAPITAL SCENE

Colonel William Little, a member of the Christian Science board of lectureship, will give a lecture called "Be Yourself" Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Church Auditorium, 1205 Pandora.

The Victoria Cultural Association of India and Canada will hold a meeting at 2 p.m. on Saturday at 2595 Cranmore to discuss the program for 1971 plans for a Centennial stall. All members are asked to attend and new members are welcome.

Blood Clinic May 19, 20

DUNCAN — A Red Cross blood donation clinic will be held at the Duncan United Church May 19 and 20.

The clinic will be open between 1:30 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. and from 6:30 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. daily.

Continue Advertising —Bennett

Premier Bennett declared today that he intends to continue placing advertisements in newspapers at public expense to "keep the people informed."

Bennett said he wants to thank opposition leader Dave Barrett for drawing attention to an advertisement in Wednesday's newspapers in which the provincial finance department compared B.C. income tax rates with those in other western provinces.

"Oh, you're going to see more of this type of advertising — we're going to keep the people informed in British Columbia" said Bennett.

Ottawa Band Playing Here

The band and choir of Fisher Park High School, Ottawa, will put on a public concert at 8 p.m. Saturday in the auditorium of Oak By Junior Secondary.

The Ottawa school is returning the visit of the Oak Bay Senior Secondary band during a recent tour.

A Loud Time Is Promised

The fuse-blasting wattage of at least a dozen rock and roll amplifiers will ring out across the Club Tango's dance floor Friday night when Cool-Aid and the Victoria Youth Council throw a benefit concert.

Times are 8 p.m. to 1 a.m., and the bands will be As Sheriff, Frendlyn Page, Buckeye, Sandoz and the Slow Goonbash Blooz Ensemble.

Bird Toll May Reach 1,000: Game Branch

The Washington state department of game said today over 200 birds have died from the oil spill at Anacortes Monday and the count may go as high as 1,000.

At the same time, the U.S. Coast Guard in Seattle reported that a lengthy aerial survey this morning shows only traces remain of the 230,000 gallons of light diesel oil accidentally dumped into Anacortes harbor.

Meanwhile the Coast Guard has charged two men employed by United Transportation Co. with negligence in Monday's accident.

Ted Groves of Tacoma and Patrick Moore of Kirkland, Wash., could lose their certificates to operate barges if the charges are sustained.

The spilled oil was being loaded overnight aboard a barge from the Texaco refinery at Anacortes and apparently escaped through an open valve in the barge.

While Texaco has disclaimed responsibility, it is helping in the cleanup. At the company's Seattle office Tuesday intruders dumped a quantity of dirty crankcase oil on the floor and fled.

The state game department said fishing and diving birds have been the main victims, including grebes, mergansers, scoters, scaup and harlequins.

Ornithologists were concerned particularly about migrating Black Brant geese but the department said only one or two of these have been found dead.

Oil kills the birds by neutralizing the natural waterproofing in their plumage. They generally die of exposure but some are poisoned when they ingest the oil while trying to preen their feathers.

Kristi Ward of the Seattle Wild Bird Clinic estimated 300 oiled birds had been picked up by volunteers but only 50 have survived so far.

A six-man task force flew in from Washington, D.C., Tuesday to study what the Washington Department of Ecology is calling "the most significant spill in the history of the state."

Meanwhile the Coast Guard is dealing with another oil spill problem on the Washington coast south of Seattle which has fouled parts of the coast over a 17-mile stretch.

Source of the oil is not known but because it is somewhat decomposed, it is thought it may have been discharged some time ago from a passing ship and possibly washed ashore after lying on the sea bottom.

Front loading tractors were used to scrape the gummy material from beaches near Ocean Park Tuesday evening.

Cool-Aid Show Aired Tonight

The sharp division in the local population about Cool-Aid is brought out in a 90-minute TV debate which is being rebroadcast tonight on Channel 10 beginning at 9:30 p.m.

Many controversial aspects of Cool-Aid activities, including plans for a new hostel, are discussed during the program by panel members Ald. Robert Baird, Charles Barber, speaking for Cool-Aid, and George Peden. Moderator is Bob Aylward, a producer for Cable 10 Forum.

Motorcyclist Bled to Death

John Marshall Fox, 23-year-old motorcyclist who died Sunday in a car-motorcycle crash at Cook and Pandora, bled to death as a result of extensive internal injuries, a coroner's jury was told Wednesday night.

Coroner Edmond Jorre de St. Jorre adjourned the inquest until Friday after hearing medical evidence from St. Joseph's Hospital pathologist Dr. Garth Walther.

'Table-Top' Clematis Display

By HILDA BEASTALL

Clematis plants of many kinds are great favorites in Victoria gardens. Not only do we see them growing up posts and into old trees, but we find them on low wire fences and scrambling over rocks.

Hilda

Thirty-six-inch wide chicken wire stretched for a length to suit the project — say a flat mass of flowers beside a terrace — will provide a farily permanent structure.

A narrow wooden lath frame would suffice, but tends to collapse in a few years. Strong bamboo stakes bound to a supporting frame with nylon ties is more durable.

The system of growing and training a clematis on a horizontal plane is simple once a beginning is made.

Remembering that climbers thrive if the root area and lower stems are shaded, we put the one or two plants selected into well prepared soil under the flat topped structure. Working from the north edge will give most soil shade as the plants grow, and watering needs will also be more easily discovered.

Varieties often chosen are large flowered types, but why not try a small flowered one on a lesser area to begin. The bell, or drooping types are abviously not for this project.

During the growing season, new growth will be rapid in this nearly ideal situation. The shoots will come through the frame to the light, and must be dealt with before they harden. Twine them gently and carefully in and out around the wire or around the bamboo canes.

Clematis climbs by leaf tendrils. Once these take a grip, there is no loosening without breaking the brittle stems. For a while your weaving will be a daily job.

As summer progresses, days get sunnier, and shade beneath the spreading clematis vine becomes denser — all according to plan.

Your reward is in having clematis blooms opening flatly on your horizontal frame for a table-top display. This is why it is suggested for a patio or terrace side feature, where you will have them at eye-level.

Why not try this on a sunny apartment balcony? Plant into a 12-inch tub beneath a 26 by 24 inch wire frame attached firmly to railings as a preventive to take-off in wind.

KARPIN ON BRIDGE

By FRED KARPIN

As had been reiterated in this column, possibly the greatest "play" gadget developed in the twentieth century is the "suit preference" signal. This signal is a device used in defensive play whereby a defender can indicate a positive desire to have his partner lead one suit rather than another. Here is an example of this play in action. Both sides vulnerable. North deals.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	4 ♡	4 ♠	Pass
Pass	Dbl.	Pass	Pass
Pass

Opening lead: Five of ♡.

The king of hearts was played from dummy on the opening lead, and East won the trick with his ace as South followed suit with the four-spot. East returned the eight of hearts, upon which South followed with the deuce. West now took a lengthy time-out to examine the situation.

It was readily apparent to West that East possessed the queen of hearts, for if South had that card he would have played it instead of allowing East's eight to win the second trick. Why, West asked himself, was East leading the eight-spot, instead of the queen?

Upon reflection, West realized that East had not only the heart queen, but also the jack, ten, and nine. If he didn't have the three latter cards, surely he would not have run the risk of leading the eight which South might have won with the nine, ten, or jack (from East's position, West might have started with the doubleton 5-2 of hearts, instead of the singleton five).

After due deliberation, West came to the conclusion that East was leading the heart eight rather than the queen as a suit-preference signal: that he was interested in the lower-ranking of the two obvious suits, that is, clubs as opposed to diamonds (the suit being led and the trump suit being excluded).

Since West was looking at the club king, and dummy had the ace and queen, West reasoned that East was void of clubs. So he ruffed his partner's winning eight of hearts and returned the deuce of clubs.

Although declarer played a low club from dummy, it didn't help much, for East ruffed the trick. In time, East also made the ace of diamonds and the ace of spades, to defeat South two tricks, for a score of 500 points. This score gave them a well-deserved "top-on-the-board."

Prosperity Brings Jail

SASKATOON (CP) — When prosperity strikes, the number of prisoners in the Regina jail increases, a welfare official said Tuesday.

The number of prisoners has increased to 408, compared with a previous high of 378 and a low of 210 last summer, indicating that better times have come, at least for those outside the walls, said C. A. Westcott, associate deputy minister of welfare.

"For some unkown reason, when the number of inmates increases, it's a sure sign that prosperity is just around the corner," he told a service club luncheon.

SOLUTION FRIDAY

BOOST REJECTED

EDMONTON (CP) — City Council has rejected a recommendation of its commission board that transit fares be increased to 35 cents from 25 cents.

The board recommended adult fares be increased to four tickets from five for $1 or to 46 cents for a single fare from 25 cents. The recommendation also suggested monthly passes be increased to $12 from $10.

Council was told that without the fare increase, the city transit system faces an estimated $1.7-million deficit this year.

If the increase had been approved, the deficit would have been reduced by an estimated $580,000.

NIXON ACCEPTS ANTI-WAR TEST

WASHINGTON (Reuter) — President Nixon holds a televised news conference tonight apparently aimed at meeting the challenge of anti-war demonstrators and their attempts to bring the U.S. government to a halt.

Although much of the questioning undoubtedly will take in the Sino-American thaw and the Middle East, the session beginning at 6 p.m. PDT is likely to focus on the president's feelings about militant opponents of the war who are trying to disrupt the capital.

The news conference was arranged suddenly two days ago, signalling a change in Nixon's original strategy of totally ignoring the demonstrators.

The president, who secluded himself in his Maryland mountain-top retreat last weekend during one of the largest anti-war rallies ever staged in Washington, had planned a trip which would have kept him in California next week, when the militants intend to block bridges and main commuter routes.

NEW ASIAN BALANCE

Thais Look to Hanoi

By MARILYN BERGER

LONDON (WP) — In an effort to establish a new balance in Asia as the United States lowers its profile, Thailand has stepped up efforts to develop contacts with Hanoi and Peking.

Bangkok's diplomatic probes include hints of tangible gain for them both — hydro-electric power for North Vietnam, for example, and a hard look after the Vietnam war has ended at U.S. bases in Thailand that might be interesting to China.

These attempts to create new patterns in the shifting Asian scene were disclosed Wednesday by Thailand's foreign minister, Thanat Khoman, who is here to attend the annual meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, in an interview.

Although Thanat said he had been trying for years to develop what he called a "supplementary policy of regionalism" to complement western ties, the rationale behind current Thai diplomacy clearly has a more recent origin.

"We recognize a malaise, a psychological fatigue (in the U.S.) about being overextended in many parts of the world," Thanat said. "I think this is a feeling on the part of many Americans — the press, academic circles, the mass media, certain political circles . . . we do not know how that wave of malaise will exert an influence on the government."

Thanat said, in reply to a question, that he did not believe the Nixon doctrine meant that Thailand would be abandoned.

"We believe that President Nixon and the United States government feel it is necessary for the United States, as a world power, to maintain its presence not only in Asia but all over."

But in describing the "psychological fatigue" in the United States, Thanat recalled his years in Europe prior to the Second World War. "Countries receiving treaty guarantees from others, countries like Czechoslovakia and Austria, failed to get it (help)," he said.

Ever since he took office, Thanat said, he has pursued a dual policy of involving close relations with countires outside the area as well as regional acitvities. The emphasis, however, has now begun to shift toward greater attention to Thailand's neighbors.

"Now," he said, "the idea is to convince other regimes to participate — Hanoi, Pek-

N. Viets Offer Pull-Out Talks

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnam offered today to open immediate negotiations with the United States on a date for an unconditional withdrawal of all American forces from South Vietnam.

The proposal, made by Hanoi negotiator Xuan Thuy at the 111th weekly session of the Vietnam peace talks, was the first offer to "negotiate" a withdrawal date. Previously, North Vietnam and the Viet Cong guerrillas of South Vietnam have invariably demanded that the United States unilaterally set a date for its total withdrawal before negotiations can begin.

At the same time, Viet Cong "foreign minister," Mrs. Nguyen Thuy Binh, put forward what appeared to be a trial-balloon offer of an unconditional ceasefire with American forces.

"At the very moment when the Nixon administration refuses to put an end to the war," she said, "the South Vietnamese population and its armed forces are prepared to cease firing on American soldiers who do not undertake any hostile action against them."

U.S. SCEPTICAL

At the end of the closed session, a correspondent asked Thuy whether Mrs. Binh's offer applied to North Vietnamese forces.

Thuy replied that North Vietnamese forces are responsible for defending North Vietnam, but added: "Mrs. Minh's proposal concerns the

Cambodia Changes Premiers

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Cambodian Prime Minister Lon Nol resigned today and the chief of state, Cheng Heng, named deputy premier Sisowath Sirik Matak to succeed him.

Lon Nol, who suffered a stroke last February, had been unable to resume his full duties since returning earlier this month from medical treatment in Hawaii.

RETAINS POST

In making the announcement of the resignation and Sirik Matak's appointment, Cheng Heng said Lon Nol would be commander-in-chief of Cambodian armed forces. The move retained Lon Nol's stabilizing influence in this nation where Communist forces have been increasingly active.

It was possible, some sources said, that the final departure of Lon Nol from the prime ministership would throw the country into political turmoil.

Kent Enrolment Down Sharply

KENT, Ohio, (UPI) — Almost one year after four students were killed by National Guardsmen at Kent State University, the university has had a 40 per cent decline in applications and admissions.

Joe Durbin, public relations director for KSU, said the school had admitted 2,957 students for next fall, as of April 27. At this time last year, the school had admitted 5,336.

Another official said the university has had a 41 per cent decline in admissions.

QUEEN MAY BE FORCED TO LIGHTEN TOUR LOAD

The Queen's 4,500-mile tour of B.C. could be lightened if her lingering cold and cough persist, a spokesman for Canada House said in London this morning.

The spokesman did not specify what changes might be made if the 45-year-old monarch's health forces cutbacks in her tour commitments.

Queen Elizabeth flew to her country estate at Sandringham, about 100 miles northeast of London in Norfolk, Tuesday. Doctors had advised a change of air and cancelling her engagements in hopes of shaking the heavy cold that has plagued her for the past month.

The spokesman said the Queen, however, would travel to Canada whether the cold is gone or not.

"We hope she will be 100 per cent fit, but she intends to go in any case," he said.

Anti-Terrorist Act Won't Be Extended

OTTAWA (UPI) — Justice Minister John Turner announced today that the government would not extend last fall's anti-terrorist legislation beyond its expiration Friday night and would refer the question of future legislation to a joint Senate-Commons committee.

"The government has decided not to seek the extension of the Public Order (Temporary Measures) Act.

"I have instructed the president of the Privy Council to appoint a special joint committee of the Senate and the House of Commons to study the nature of the kind of legislation required to deal with lawlessness . . . in order to maintain peace and public order."

Pipeline Decision Seen by September

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton said today he expects to reach a final decision on construction of the Alaska oil pipeline by mid-September.

But Morton warned oil companies trying to pressure him into granting a permit for the pipeline that the project may be bogged down in the courts.

"Whatever we come up with is going to go right into the courts," he said.

A permit for construction of the 780-mile hot oil pipeline across public lands is being sought by the Alyeska Pipeline Co., which was formed by oil companies to build the pipeline.

The secretary, testifying before the senate interior committee, said a key problem in reaching a decision on a permit was an environmental impact report required by the national environmental policy act.

Morton said the interior department had not studied an alternative proposal for a pipeline through Canada. However, he said, he had urged the oil industry "to sit down with Canadian officials" to discuss the problem.

Preliminary studies, he said, showed a trans-Canadian pipeline would present some "very rugged problems" comparable to those of the North Slope-Valdez route through the heart of Alaska.

3 Charged In Holdup

VANCOUVER (CP) — Three former Quebec men were charged Wednesday night with the $327,550 armed robbery at the Bank of Montreal branch in Vancouver General Hospital.

Norman Kenneth MacDonald, 31, and Kenneth John Harber, 27, both of Hancy, and Robert Yvon Belec, 34, of Burnaby, will appear in provincial court today charged with committing the biggest bank heist in Vancouver's history.

Police are still searching for $326,950 in bills.

Kierans Resigns Over Economy

Challenges Policies

OTTAWA (UPI) — Communications Minister Eric Kierans resigned from the cabinet today after a dispute over economic policy, Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau announced.

Trudeau made the surprise announcement in the House of Commons following the regular Thursday morning cabinet meeting.

Jean-Pierre Cote, postmaster general, was named to take over Kierans' portfolio on a temporary basis until a successor is chosen.

In a letter to Trudeau, submitted to Parliament by the prime minister, Kierans said that the main objective of government should be "the attainment of full employment."

★ ★ ★

"To challenge openly long-established policies and practices would be embarrassing to my colleagues and to you, and unfair, if I were to remain in the cabinet. Therefore, I ask you to accept my resignation as minister of communications, effective immediately," Kierans said.

Recently at the National Press Club bail in Ottawa the communications minister openly joked about his reduced position in the cabinet and made a number of disparaging remarks about the way the prime minister directs his government.

His resignation was immediately accepted by Trudeau.

"I appreciate very much our lengthy discussion yesterday in which I expressed my concern about the economic problems, particularly employment facing Canada in the seventies.

"Challenges which did not exist 10 years ago now present themselves and demand a total re-examination of all elements of our economic policy."

"The rise of the international corporation for example is leading some economists and businessmen to talk in terms of gross world production as a better

CAMOSUN MERGER

Camosun College and Victoria Vocational School will be amalgamated on a three-year trial basis, Education Minister Donald Brothers announced today.

The regional college will be one of five such B.C. colleges to be melded with vocational schools in the province.

Brothers said the financial share of school districts involved will not be increased as a result of the move. Vocational school costs are carried by the province while regional colleges are a shared responsibility.

Holland 'Moves Left,' Conservatives Lose

By ANATOLE SHUB

With 98.3 per cent of the vote counted, the four government parties appeared to have lost nine of their former 83 seats in the 150-seat national assembly. The coalition is composed of the Catholic Party, two Protestant parties and the Conservative Liberals. Losses were more severe among the religious parties.

LABOR GAINS

The opposition Labor Party and two smaller allied parties gained eight seats, for a total of 52. Labor, with some 26 per cent of the total vote, emerged as the Netherlands strongest single party for the first time since 1956.

Eight seats were won by a new party called Democratic Socialism 70, which split off from the Labor Party last year. The new party is strongly committed to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization while Labor's current leaders have urged such steps as recognition of Communist East Germany.

ECM ISSUE

All the major and most of the minor parties strongly favor British entry into the Common Market. Among the minor parties, the Communists appear to have gained one seat, for a total of six, winning 15 per cent of the vote in the city of Amsterdam.

Labor Strife Doubles Lost Days

VANCOUVER (CP) — The number of work days lost in British Columbia due to strikes and lockouts during the first three months of this year are almost twice as high as last year's totals for the same period, preliminary federal government statistics released Wednesday indicated.

B.C. lost 118,160 work days in January, February and March this year, compared with 63,770 for the same three months last year — one of the worst years for labor strife in the province's history.

The province's labor dispute wastage this year represents 19 per cent of Canada's total. B.C. has just over 10 per cent of the national work force of about 8.3 million workers.

The worst months for strikes and lockouts last year were April, May, June and July. More than 85 per cent of the work stoppage occurred during this period.

Contract expiry dates this year indicate the worst period should be over in the next month unless negotiations are unsuccessful.

If negotiations fail and arbitration is used in the public interest, the 151,000-member B.C. Federation of Labor has threatened to take mass action.

Police Take Drugged Man From Chinese

PARIS (AP) — French police held a drugged Chinese under guard today, waiting to hear his story, after taking him away from officials of the Chinese embassy who were trying to put him on a plane for Shanghai.

Chinese diplomats, who fought with airport police Wednesday in a vain attempt to get the man back, accused the French of kidnapping him and said they would pursue the matter through diplomatic channels.

The drugged man, Chung Shi-jung, was under guard in the maximum security ward of a hospital near the Paris police headquarters.

"When he's back to normal, he'll be free to decide if he wants to stay in France, to return home or to go to any other place of his choice," an officer said.

The incident posed a delicate problem for the French government, which had good relations with Peking long before this month's ping-pong thaw.
